| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A13. | N/A – The law does not require enhanced due diligence in any circumstances.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons (‘PEPs’)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A14. | N/A – Firms are required to identify and verify identity of all clients, representatives and beneficial owners. Where there is a PEP relationship, firms are required to record that relationship as a PEP relationship, but the law does not require specific additional due diligence on top of that.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A15. | The main measures include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) enactment of Circular No. 3,583, which sets forth that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. financial institutions shall not initiate any relationship with clients, or proceed with existing relationships, if it is not possible to fully identify such clients; and</li> <li>b. anti-money laundering procedures are also applicable to agencies and subsidiaries of Brazilian financial institutions located abroad.</li> </ul> </li> <li>b) enactment of Circular No. 3,584, establishing that the institutions authorised to operate in the Brazilian foreign exchange market with financial institutions located abroad must verify if the other party is physically present in the country where it was organised and licensed or is the object of effective supervision; and</li> <li>c) enactment of Letter 17 Circular No. 3,542 ("Letter Circular No. 3,542"), which increases the list of examples of transactions and situations which may characterise evidence of occurrence of money laundering, intending to improve the communication between financial institutions and the COAF.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                   |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?       |
| A16. | No. Although they are not prohibited, they are closely monitored. |

|             |                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships? |
| A17. | None stated in local regulations or guidance.                                                                      |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                  |
| A18. | Conselho de Controle de Atividades Financeiras ("COAF"): www.coaf.fazenda.gov.br |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                          |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 - 1,129,421 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 - USD2,346,076.3m (Source: data.worldbank.org ) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD2.1m of GDP. |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A20. | Yes. All of the following must be reported: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) actual or proposed issuance or recharge of one or more store value cards totaling BRL100,000 (approx. USD24,890) in a given calendar month;</li> <li>b) actual or proposed cash transactions exceeding BRL100,000 (approx. USD24,890);</li> <li>c) suspected transactions above BRL10,000 (approx. USD2,490) (i.e. those involving suspicious parties or values, or without economic reasons, etc.);</li> <li>d) transactions apparently intended to sidestep identification mechanisms or controls; and</li> <li>e) actions suspected of financing terrorist activity.</li> </ul> |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A21. | Yes, for activities below BRL5,000 (approx. USD1,240).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A22. | Yes. The law provides for the following sanction/fines for non-compliance (including non-compliance with reporting requirements): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) warning;</li> <li>b) fine (up to BRL20m (approx. USD5m); and/or</li> <li>c) suspension/ban (private individuals and legal entities).</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A24. | Yes, in some cases the COAF requests the Bank does not terminate the account or relationship with the client so that the COAF can best investigate the transactions of a particular customer. In this case all monitoring between the COAF and the Bank is documented.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A25. | The bank secrecy law prevents a client's activities from being monitored or reported outside the country.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

| AML Audits  |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A26. | No. However, there is a legal requirement (Resolution CFC 1445/13) which requires external auditors to communicate to COAF if they suspect issues at their clients. The main objective of the Resolution is to protect the activities of external auditors.                                               |
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>            |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A29. | There is not yet a specific statutory regulation governing data transfers in Brazil, nor is there yet a specific data protection authority. Nevertheless, several laws, as well as the Brazilian Constitution provide Brazilians with some rights with regard to data collection. There are also laws governing protection in specific areas (e.g. bank secrecy, medical ethics, consumer protection, credit, and telecommunications). Article 5 of the Brazilian Constitution provides that the "privacy, private life, honor and image of persons are inviolable, and the right to compensation for property or moral damages is ensured." Article 5 also grants habeas data. It guarantees the right of privacy and ensures consumers have the right to know what data are held about them and they have the right to correct that data. However, these rights of knowledge and correction under the Constitution currently exist only with respect to records or databases of government agencies or agencies of a public character. The Consumer Protection Law of 1990 regulates consumer databases held by banks, credit agencies, and other companies. "Consumer" is defined broadly under the Law as "any individual or body corporate who acquires or uses any product or service as an end user." The law requires that any consumer data stored in a database should be truthful, objective, and easily understood, and prohibits containing the same piece of the storage of any negative information about a consumer for more than five years. If the consumer did not request that his or her information be stored, the collector must notify the consumer in writing of the inclusion of his or her name in a database. Additionally, consumers are given the right to correct information about themselves. Article 43 of the Consumer Protection Law grants consumers free access of any of their own information stored in a database. It also gives consumers the right to request the prompt correction of an inaccuracy in his information and requires that the requested correction must be made within five days. The Constitution and the Civil Code apply to all individuals and legal entities. The Consumer Protection Code applies to relationships between consumers and service/product providers, including those performed on the internet.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A30. | The Credit Information Law ("CIL") of 2011 imposes several requirements on the creation and access to databases related to credit information. The law forbids the processing of data that is unnecessary in deciding whether to grant credit. This prohibition specifically applies to sensitive data such as political, religious, sexual, and health information. Data subjects have the right to access, rectify, and erase data and be informed of the database manager's identity and the identity of third parties that will have access to the data. Lastly, the law imposes data quality obligations on the data processors. The CIL regulates "the creation and the access to databases related to credit information of citizens and companies". We highlight that this legal instrument enacts principles and rules related to data quality as objectivity, clearness, truthfulness and comprehensibility of data. It forbids the processing of excessive information (data not necessary to credit granting or other banking services) and sensitive information (understood as related to social and ethnic origins, health, genetics, sexuality, and political, religious and philosophical convictions) (Article 3°). It covers the purpose principle and rights to the data subjects, so the right to access, the right of rectification and erasure of data, the right to know the criteria used by the banks in order to evaluate the credit's risk, the right to be informed previously about the existence of the data storage, the data base manager's identity and about the identity of the third parties that will have access to data, finally the right to be informed about the purpose of the processing and to have a second analysis of a decision based on automatic means (Articles 5° and 7°). Database managers are obliged to inform citizens about all the stored or obtained personal information as well as about the sources through which this information was obtained, to provide information about third parties that have access to personal data and to provide information about citizens' rights (Article 6°). Last point, CIL also imposes data quality obligations to processors (Article 8°). Medical data may be protected by patient-doctor confidentiality, as well as by individual privacy and personal rights set out in the Constitution. Employment law regulates the use of information collected in background checks (concerning criminal convictions, political beliefs, sexual preferences, and so on). The use of this information may be illegal if used for discriminatory purposes. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A31. | There are no restrictions on the international transfer of data, provided the subject consented to the initial gathering and processing. It is advisable, when consent is obtained, for the data subject to be informed that data could eventually be transferred.                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A32. | Yes. Any personal data submitted by or obtained from a data subject may be regulated under the general provisions of the Constitution, Civil Code and Consumer Protection Code (see A29), including: name, personal address, identification number, income, bank account, credit card number and any personal communication exchanged without any intent to go public (such as personal e-mails, internet logs and messaging). |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Canada

Key contact: Marie-Chantal Dréau / Sarah MacGregor
 Email: marie-chantal.dreau@ca.pwc.com /
sarah.e.macgregor@ca.pwc.com
 Tel: +1 514 205-5407 / +1 416 814-5763

Postal address: 1250 René Lévesque West Suite 2800,
 Montréal, Québec, H3B 2G4, Canada /
 18 York Street, Suite 2600, Toronto, Ontario, M5J 0B2,
 Canada

Last updated:
 January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A1. | Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) and Terrorist Financing Act ("PCMLTFA") was passed in 2000, and amended in 2001, 2006, 2008, 2010, 2013 and 2014.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A3. | In 2000, the Financial Transactions Reports Analysis Centre of Canada ("FINTRAC") was established under the PCMLTFA to serve as Canada's financial intelligence unit. FINTRAC is responsible for ensuring compliance with AML/AFT requirements by all Reporting Entities, including financial entities (banks, trust companies, credit unions, etc.), life insurance companies, securities dealers (including asset managers/investment advisers), casinos, money services businesses, dealers in precious metals and stones, real estate agents and certain developers, accountants and notaries public based in the province of British Columbia (http://www.fintrac.gc.ca/). The Office of the Superintendent of Financial Institutions ("OSFI"), established in 1987, is the federal agency responsible for the supervision and regulation of all federally incorporated or registered banks, life insurance companies, property and casualty insurance companies, and federally regulated private pension plans (http://www.osfi-bsif.gc.ca/). The Canadian Securities Administrators ("CSA") is an umbrella organisation comprised of 13 provincial and territorial securities regulatory authorities. The CSA serves as a forum for coordinating and harmonising the regulation of Canadian capital markets. Securities regulators also delegate certain aspects of securities regulation to self-regulatory organisations including the Investment Industry Regulatory Organisation of Canada ("IIROC") (http://www.iiroc.ca/Pages/default.aspx). FINTRAC and OSFI report to the federal Minister of Finance. FINTRAC has in place Memoranda of Understandings ("MOUs") with both OSFI and IIROC, but does not delegate its supervisory role through MOUs to other regulators. Information obtained by other regulators through their own supervisory activities, including examinations, is provided to FINTRAC under the MOU and is taken into consideration by FINTRAC during its risk assessment process. In addition to the audits and examinations performed by the regulators under their own supervisory framework, the results of which, with respect to AML/CFT relevant issues are provided to FINTRAC, FINTRAC conducts examinations in each sector, whether or not it is covered by an MOU. In fact, FINTRAC has conducted examinations in every sector covered by the PCMLTFA with the exception of financial institutions supervised by OSFI. In 2013, OSFI and FINTRAC implemented a concurrent examination methodology where OSFI will focus on risk management processes and controls needed to ensure compliance and FINTRAC will focus on the quality, volume and timing of reports submitted by federally incorporated or registered financial institutions. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A4. | FINTRAC has published plain language interpretations and guidelines as well as interpretation notices: http://www.fintrac.gc.ca/publications/pub-eng.asp and http://www.fintrac.gc.ca/publications/guide/guide-eng.asp OSFI Guideline B-8: Deterring and Detecting Money Laundering was issued in December 2008: http://www.osfi-bsif.gc.ca/Eng/Docs/b8.pdf IIROC issued Anti-Money Laundering Compliance Guidance in October 2010: http://www.iroc.ca/documents/2010/6279890d-ecd8-4244-a8e3-8f8a23e80e4a_en.pdf              |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A5. | No, however pursuant to the adoption of a Risk Based Approach to ML/TF governance, customers considered to be a higher ML/TF risk are required to be identified.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A6. | Yes. Entities are required to assess and document the risk related to money laundering and terrorist activity financing in their business. This assessment must be tailored and should consider factors such as customers and business relationships, products, delivery channels and geographic areas where business is conducted, as well as other relevant factors. This assessment is in addition to the client identification, record keeping and reporting requirements.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A7. | FATF released its third evaluation of Canada in February 2008: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/media/fatf/documents/reports/mer/MER%20Canada%20full.pdf The fourth evaluation of Canada is in process with on-site visits occurring in October and November 2015: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/#Canada In 2014, FATF recognised that Canada had made significant progress in addressing deficiencies identified in the 2008 report and removed Canada from the regular follow-up process: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/media/fatf/documents/reports/mer/FUR-Canada-2014.pdf |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Customer Due Diligence

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8.  | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A8.  | Customer identification is not required for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) electronic Funds Transfer ("EFT") transactions less than CAD1,000 (approx. USD710);</li> <li>b) foreign currency exchange transactions less than CAD3,000 (approx. USD2,130);</li> <li>c) issuance/redemption of traveller's cheques, money orders or other similar negotiable instruments less than CAD3,000 (approx. USD2,130); and</li> <li>d) cash transactions less than CAD10,000 (approx. USD7,100) (other than when multiple (two or more) transactions occur over a 24 hour time period aggregate to more than CAD10,000 (approx. USD7,100) and are believed to be conducted by or on behalf of the same individual or entity).</li> </ul> Customer identification is not required when the transaction exceeds the thresholds noted above provided a signed signature card for an account exists with the institution. In 2014, amendments were introduced to require ongoing monitoring once a business relationship has been established. Non-account-based business relationships are established when the entity conducts two or more transactions in which the identity of an individual must be ascertained or the organization's existence must be confirmed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A9.  | Individuals: Reporting Entities must obtain, verify and maintain the following records of an individual's identity: customer name, date of birth, address, the nature of the customer's principal business or occupation and intended use of the account. Regulations state that the identity of a person should be ascertained by referring to a birth certificate, driver's licence, passport, permanent resident card or any similar record. You can refer to a provincial/territorial health insurance card, but only if it is not prohibited by provincial/territorial legislation. The original document (not a copy) must be reviewed. Legal entities: Reporting Entities must confirm the existence, name and address of any legal entity for which it opens a business account by obtaining such legal documentation as Articles of Incorporation, Articles of Association, Partnership Agreement or other similar record. The record used to confirm the corporation's existence can be in paper or electronic format. If the record is an electronic version, entities must keep a record of the corporation's registration number, the type and source of the record. Furthermore, depending on legal entity type, additional documentation may be required. For example, in the case of a corporation, the name of the corporation's directors, the name, address and principal occupation of all individuals who directly or indirectly own or control 25% or more of the shares of the corporation and information on the ownership, control and structure of the corporation must also be obtained. The identity of up to 3 individuals authorised to transact on behalf of the legal entity must also be verified as well as the evidence of the individuals' authorisation to transact on behalf of the legal entity such as articles of incorporation or the bylaws. |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A10. | Copies of identification documents are not permitted. In order for a document to be acceptable for identification purposes, it must be valid (i.e. not expired), have a unique identifier number and be issued by a provincial, territorial or federal government. Customer identification through attestation is also permitted, in which case confirmation must be obtained to demonstrate that the customer's ID has been certified to be true and correct by a commissioner of oaths or a guarantor. The attestation method requires that the document is a legible photocopy and contains the name, profession, address and signature of the commissioner of oaths or the guarantor, and the type and number of the identifying document. This method can only be used in conjunction with other prescribed methods of customer identification, including referring to an independent and reliable identification product, cleared cheque or deposit account. It is acceptable for a reporting entity to rely on the customer identification records of an affiliate or co-member when the customer is not physically present, provided that affiliate or co-member viewed the original identification documents. In this case, the reporting entity must verify the individual's name, address and date of birth against the information maintained by the affiliate.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A11. | When a firm has to identify an entity, it must obtain, take reasonable measures to confirm and keep records of the information relating to the entity's beneficial ownership. For a corporation, this includes the name and address of all individuals who directly or indirectly own or control 25% or more of the shares of the corporation. In cases where there is no individual who owns or controls 25% or more of an entity, a record must be kept of the measures taken and the information obtained in order to reach that conclusion. If the information cannot be obtained or its accuracy confirmed, reasonable measures must be taken to ascertain the identity of the most senior managing officer of the entity and treat the entity as high-risk and subject to more frequent monitoring. A record must be maintained explaining why beneficial ownership could not be determined as well as the information pertaining to the most senior managing officer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A12. | s.62 of the PCMLTF Regulations provides certain exemptions allowing for reduced/simplified due diligence. These include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) public bodies;</li> <li>b) corporations (and any consolidated subsidiaries) with minimum net assets of CAD75 million (approx. USD54m) on its last audited balance sheet and whose shares are traded on a Canadian stock exchange or a stock exchange that is designated under subsection 262(1) of the Income Tax Act and operates in a country that is a member of the Financial Action Task Force;</li> <li>c) regulated entities such as pension funds, financial entities, securities dealers, investment funds and life insurance companies; and</li> <li>d) the purchase of registered annuity policies or retirement income funds.</li> </ul> Simplified due diligence is also permitted with respect to certain products/services, including credit card accounts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A13. | A firm's compliance program must include the development and application of policies and procedures to assess the risk of a money laundering offence or a terrorist activity financing offence. Special measures should be taken in high risk situations for identifying customers and monitoring transactions. When a risk assessment determines that the risk is high for money laundering or terrorist financing, policies and procedures to keep customer identification information up to date must be developed and more frequent monitoring must be performed. For a financial entity, a securities dealer, a life insurance company, broker or agent, or a money services business, this also applies to keeping beneficial ownership information up to date. All Reporting Entities must develop and apply policies and procedures to keep information on business relationships up to date. This information should be reviewed at a minimum at least every two years. OSFI Guidance states that federally registered or incorporated firms that conduct business in offshore jurisdictions or that have customers that operate in those jurisdictions, need to be especially vigilant. Certain customers may merit additional due diligence, and examples given include businesses that handle large amounts of cash or those that hold important public positions. |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A14. | When dealing with PEPs, the following additional due diligence measures must be taken: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) enhanced account monitoring;</li> <li>b) senior management approval to maintain the account or senior management review of transaction within 14 days of account activation or EFT transaction; and</li> <li>c) reasonable measures to obtain source of funds.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A15. | The following due diligence requirements are required for correspondent banking relationships: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) obtaining personal information about the foreign entity and its activities;</li> <li>b) ensuring that the foreign entity is not a shell bank;</li> <li>c) obtaining the approval of senior management; and</li> <li>d) setting out in writing the firm's obligations and those of the foreign entity in respect of the correspondent banking services.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A17. | Recent amendments have introduced a broader and more flexible set of identification requirements related to non-face-to-face transactions. The requirements set out the following two options for identification of individuals not physically present: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Confirmation from an affiliated entity that they have ascertained the identity by referring to an original identification document and verify the name, address and date of birth received; or</li> <li>b) Combination of two of the following methods: referring to an independent identification product or, with the individual's permission, referring to a credit file; obtaining an attestation concerning an identification document for the individual from a Commissioner of Oaths or a guarantor; confirming that a cheque drawn on a deposit account with a financial entity (other than one that is exempt from identification requirements) has cleared; and confirming that the individual has a deposit account with a financial entity (other than one that is exempt from identification requirements).</li> </ul> |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                |
| A18. | Suspicious transaction reports ("STRs") are filed with FINTRAC: http://www.fintrac.gc.ca/intro-eng.asp |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A19. | Volume of Suspicious Transaction Reports (STRs): 2013 - 14 – 81,735 STRs (Source: FINTRAC http://www.fintrac-canafe.gc.ca/publications/ar/2014/1-eng.asp#s4) Comparative GDP data is not available for this specific period. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A20. | Yes. Under the PCMLTFA, all reporting entities are required to report to FINTRAC transactions for which they have reasonable grounds to suspect that the transactions are related to money laundering or terrorist financing (this includes attempted suspicious transactions). In addition, all reporting entities must report the following transactions to FINTRAC, unless stated otherwise: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) large cash transactions – receipt of an amount of CAD10,000 (approx. USD7,100) or more in the course of a single transaction, or multiple transactions over a 24 hour time period by or on behalf of the same individual or entity;</li> <li>b) electronic funds transfers – international ingoing and outgoing EFTs valued at CAD10,000 (approx. USD7,100) or more in the course of a single transaction, or multiple transactions in a 24 hour time period by or on behalf of the same individual or entity. This requirement applies to financial entities, MSBs (Money Service Business) and casinos;</li> <li>c) terrorist property – a report must be submitted to FINTRAC if a reporting entity has property in its control or possession that is owned or controlled by or on behalf of a terrorist, a terrorist group, or listed person. Nil reports must also be filed by certain reporting entities on a monthly basis with their principal regulators such as OSFI or IIROC. The monthly reporting requirement is separate and distinct from the requirements to immediately disclose detailed information to law enforcement agencies such as the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and the Canadian Security Intelligence Service; and</li> <li>d) casino disbursements – a casino must file a report when it makes a disbursement valued at CAD10,000 (approx. USD7,100) or more in the course of a single transaction, or over the course of multiple transactions in a 24 hour time period by or on behalf of the same individual or entity.</li> </ul>                                                                                         |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A21. | No. All suspicious transactions and attempted suspicious transactions need to be reported. However, s.50 of the Regulations allows for exceptions to reporting Large Cash Transactions (>CAD10,000 (approx. >USD7,100)) for businesses in industries identified in certain sectors of the North American Industry Classification System if a number of conditions have been satisfied.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A22. | Yes. There are criminal or administrative penalties associated with non-compliance with reporting requirements, including tipping off. Both criminal and administrative monetary penalties ("AMPs") cannot be issued against the same instance of non-compliance. AMPs violations are classified by the PCMLTF Regulations as "Minor", "Serious" or "Very Serious" and multiple violations can result in a total amount that exceeds the individual violation limits. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) minor violation: from CAD1 (approx. USD0.71) to CAD1,000 (approx. USD710) per violation;</li> <li>b) serious violation: from CAD1 (approx. USD0.71) to CAD100,000 (approx. USD70,990) per violation; and</li> <li>c) very Serious violation: from CAD1 (approx. USD0.71) to CAD100,000 (approx. USD70,990) per violation for an individual; and from CAD1 (approx. USD0.72) to CAD500,000 (approx. USD354,940) per violation for an entity.</li> </ul> FINTRAC may disclose cases of non-compliance to law enforcement when there is extensive non-compliance or little expectation of immediate or future compliance. Criminal penalties may include the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) failure to report suspicious transactions: up to CAD2 million (approx. USD1.4m) and/or 5 years imprisonment;</li> <li>b) failure to report a large cash transaction or an electronic funds transfer: up to CAD500,000 (approx. USD354,940) for the first offence, CAD1 million (approx. USD709,870) for subsequent offences;</li> <li>c) failure to meet record keeping requirements: up to CAD500,000 (approx. USD354,940) and/or 5 years imprisonment;</li> <li>d) failure to provide assistance or provide information during compliance examination: up to CAD500,000 (approx. USD354,940) and/or 5 years imprisonment; and</li> <li>e) disclosing the fact that a suspicious transaction report was made, or disclosing the contents of such a report, with the intent to prejudice a criminal investigation: up to 2 years imprisonment.</li> </ul> |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious? |
| A24. | No.                                                                                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                   |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?           |
| A25. | The regulations do not specify whether transaction monitoring can be performed outside of Canada. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls?                  |
| A26. | No however, federally registered or incorporated financial institutions are required to test all key AML/ATF program components at least every two years. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections? |
| A29. | a) yes;b) does not apply – only personally identifiable information is covered under Canada's Privacy laws; andc) not explicitly defined, however examples are provided in the Schedule 1 PIPEDA, Section 4.3.4 (Canada's Privacy Law). Sensitivity of information is considered, in some cases, to be dependent on the situation.       |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                     |
| A30. | Prohibited unless the customer allows the transfer of this information based on the premise of informed consent.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A31. | None that we are aware of.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                  |
| A32. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Cayman Islands

Key contact: Charles Bolland
Email: charles.bolland@ky.pwc.com
Tel: +1 345 914 8610

Postal address: P.O. Box 258, 18 Forum Lane,
Camana Bay, George Town, Grand Cayman
Cayman Islands KY1-1104

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A1. | 1996. However the Proceeds of Crime Law, enacted into legislation in Sept 2008, repealed the previous Anti Money Laundering Law (the Proceeds of Criminal Conduct) in order to bring harmonisation with all other laws that could encompass money laundering. Additionally, and as a result of the introduction of the Proceeds of Crime Law, the Money Laundering Regulations (2015 revision) and the Guidance Notes ("Guidance Notes") on the Prevention & Detection of Money Laundering in the Cayman Islands (Aug 2015 revision) were also amended. |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A3. | The regulator for AML controls is the Cayman Islands Monetary Authority ("CIMA"): http://www.cimoney.com.ky                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A4. | Yes, CIMA has issued the Guidance Notes which can be found at: http://www.cimoney.com.ky/AML_CFT/aml_cft.aspx?id=144                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A5. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A6. | Yes, a risk based approach is facilitated both by way of certain exemptions for particular products, and an explanation within the Guidance Notes that a risk based, rather than a 'tick box' approach, should be adopted.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                              |
| A7. | The country was subject to an IMF inspection in 2009, the results of the inspection can be found at: http://www.cimoney.com.ky/ext_coop_assess/eca.aspx?id=180 |

Customer Due Diligence

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8.  | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A8.  | Yes, customer due diligence is not required for one-off transactions of less than KYD15,000 (approx. USD20,000).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A9.  | Individuals: certified photo identification (usually passport); verification of residential address (driving licence or utility bill etc.); source of funds and understanding of source of wealth.Corporates: must identify the company, its directors and beneficial owners of 10% or more of the company's holdings. Company items such as Memorandum and Articles of Association, Certificate of Incorporation, register of members, directors and officers, authorised signatory lists, financial statements etc. are required on acceptance of new business. Further, due diligence on at least two directors and due diligence on beneficial owners of greater than 10% as described for individuals or 'natural persons' as above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A10. | Documents must be originals, notarised or certified copies. Examples of suitable certifiers are lawyers, accountants, notary publics or civil servants.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A11. | All beneficial owners of 10% or greater of a company's holdings must be identified/verified. Beneficial owners below 10% should be identified if the entity appears structured to avoid this requirement. Note that certain entities are exempt, such as those listed on a recognised stock exchange.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A12. | Reduced/simplified due diligence requirements exist for the following scenarios. Key exemptions include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) non paying accounts, effectively covering mutual fund investments if the funds can only be returned to the beneficial owner from which they came;</li> <li>b) regulated financial institutions in certain jurisdictions listed in Schedule III of the Regulations; (Note: Appendix H to the Guidance Notes was amended in Aug 2015 to add the Gibraltar Stock Exchange, Dubai Financial Market and the NASDAQ Dubai to the list of Approved Markets and Exchanges. Further Section 3.104 (d) of the Notes was amended to simplify the process of adding stock exchanges to Appendix H. As a result of this, documentary evidence of identity will not be required if the client is a company or fund listed/quoted on these exchanges).</li> <li>c) potentially any circumstance in which a full eligible introducers form is used (and the party relying on the eligible introducer form remains liable for any failure of the person making the introduction to obtain and record satisfactory evidence of the identity of the third party);</li> <li>d) listed institutions on certain specified exchanges and their subsidiaries (evidence must be provided for use of exemption); and</li> <li>e) certain other bodies, for example governmental bodies and pension funds for professional associations.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A13. | Local guidance includes information on enhanced due diligence for PEPs, high risk countries or other higher risk businesses, such as not for profit associations (including charities).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A14. | Local guidance requires senior management approval, reasonable measures to establish source of wealth and funds and enhanced ongoing monitoring.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A15. | No enhanced due diligence measures required for regulated correspondent banking relationships (see also response to A16 below).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A16. | The Money Laundering Regulations (2015) Revision state that no person conducting relevant financial business should form a business relationship or carry out a one-off transaction, with any institution that has no physical presence in the territory in which it is incorporated or in which it is carrying on such business and is unaffiliated with a regulated financial group that is subject to consolidated supervision. Further clarification on correspondent banking relationships with shell banks is provided in the Money Laundering Guidance Notes ( http://www.cimoney.com.ky/AML_CFT/aml_cft.aspx?id=144 ). |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A17. | In response to a recommendation from the CFATF ("Caribbean Financial Action Task Force") during their 2007 evaluation of the Cayman Islands' money laundering regime, the Guidance Notes on Money Laundering have been amended to indicate that financial institutions should have policies and procedures in place to address any specific risks associated with non-face-to-face business relationships or transactions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                   |
| A18. | The Money Laundering Regulations require that Suspicious Activity Reports are made to the Financial Reporting Authority (the "FRA"): http://www.fra.gov.ky |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 558 SARs (Source: Cayman Islands Financial Reporting Authority). Comparative GDP data is not available for this specific period.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A20. | Other than SARs, payment service providers are required to report to the FRA if they restrict or terminate business relationships with its payee service providers due to the payee service provider regularly supplying insufficient information on the payee.                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A21. | See response to A8.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A22. | Yes, per section 139 of the Proceeds of Crime Law, a person is guilty of an offence if they know or suspect that a report is about to, or has been made and discloses to any other person information which is likely to prejudice an investigation punishable under the law by a maximum prison term of five years, an unlimited fine or both.                                                                      |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A23. | While the use of automated mechanisms to monitor suspicious transactions is suggested by the Guidance Notes as best practice, it is recognised that this may not be cost effective for all companies. As such there is no legal or regulatory requirement to use automated suspicious transaction monitoring technology.                                                                                             |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A24. | There is no requirement to obtain authorisation from the FRA to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious unless criminal proceedings have commenced and the matter becomes subject to the Attorney General’s direction and a resulting freeze order. In that case, direction would be required from the Attorney General prior to proceeding with the transaction.                |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A25. | There is no explicit direction in local legislation on monitoring transactions outside the jurisdiction. However the Guidance Notes do recognise parent/subsidiary relations and also customer transactions for their own account and makes allowance for minimised KYC procedures when such transactions occur in countries with equivalent legislation as the Cayman Islands (also known as Schedule 3 countries). |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A26. | There is no legal requirement for the bank's external auditor or any other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls. However, per Section 13 (1) (e) (iii) of the Banks and Trust Companies Law (2013 Revision) if an auditor, in the course of carrying out an audit on the accounts of a licensee, obtains or suspects that the licensee is carrying on or attempting to carry on business without compliance with the Money Laundering Regulations (2013 Revision), the auditor shall give the Authority written notice of his information or suspicion and in the case of suspicion, his reason for that suspicion. |
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A29. | Yes, data protection specifically is covered by the Electronic Transactions Law 2000 and more broadly by the Confidential Relationships (Preservation) Law ("CRPL") (2009 Revision) which is covered in more detail in A32 below: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the definition of personal data per the Electronic Transactions Law is defined as data which relate to a person who can be identified from those data; or from those data and other information which is in the possession of, or is likely to come into the possession of, the data controller. Thus the definition covers all data related to a person which infers coverage of KYC material;</li> <li>b) the above Law does not specifically address corporate data, however Section 26 (1) b states that information which relates to the private affairs of any individual or to any particular business shall be deemed to be confidential information for the purpose of the CRPL; and</li> <li>c) no separate definition of sensitive data exists.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A30. | Yes, the CRPL was originally enacted in 1976 to protect business dealings and impose strict penalties on those disclosing confidential information unlawfully. The CRPL defines confidential information as including information concerning any property which the recipient thereof is not, other than in the normal course of business, authorised by the principal to divulge. Property includes every present, contingent and future interest or claim direct or indirect, legal or equitable, positive or negative, in any money, money's worth, real estate etc. and all documents and things evidencing or relating thereto. Therefore, pursuant to the CRPL, divulging any confidential information otherwise than as expressly permitted by the Law is a criminal offence.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A31. | There are several cases in the Cayman Islands on the application of CRPL, namely: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Gippet v Cayman National Bank 2006 CILR Note 32;</li> <li>b) Ansbacher (Cayman) Limited (Grand Court) 2001 CILR 214; and</li> <li>c) Corporacion Nacional Del Cobre de Chile (In re Codelco) 1999 CILR 42.</li> </ul> Further, the Cayman Islands has entered into various Tax Information Exchange Agreements ("TIEAs") or Bilateral Agreements and Arrangements with 36 governments, therefore it is possible that in instances where there are no TIEAs in place between a country and the Cayman Islands, this may impact transfer of information. In addition, Cayman has entered into a multilateral agreement, along with representatives from more than 50 jurisdictions, and implemented the Common Reporting Standards by introducing legislation and regulations effective 16 Oct 2015. The first reporting to the regulator by industry under the regulations is due 31 May 31 2017. |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A32. | Yes, the CRPL as stated above codifies the common law duty of confidentiality owed by a bank to its customers and extends it to other professional relationships. Further, certain information in relation to companies under the Companies Law is confidential in the Cayman Islands. Exempted companies are required by Section 44 of the Companies Law to maintain a register of members at the registered office of the company, but this is not open to public inspection.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Chile

Key contacts: Carmen Gloria del Valle / Pedro Trevisan
Email: Carmen.gloria.del.valle@cl.pwc.com /
pedro.trevisan@cl.pwc.com
Tel: +56 2 29400182 / +56 2 29400574

Postal address: Av. Andrés Bello 2711
Piso 1, Las Condes,
Santiago, Chile

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A1. | In 1995, money laundering was incorporated as a crime in the Chilean Penal System by law N°19.366.In December 2003, law N°19.913 was promulgated. This law created a specific Financial Analysis Unit "Unidad de Análisis Financiero" to prevent and stop money laundering.In December 2009, law N° 20.393 was published. This law established the penal responsibility of legal entities relating to the crimes of money laundering, financing of terrorism and bribery.In February 2015, law N° 20.818 was promulgated and published. This law established guidelines for public entities about Article 3 Law N°. 19.913.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.)? Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A3. | In Chile, the Financial Analysis Unit (Unidad de Análisis Financiero, ("UAF")) coordinates the national AML/CFT System.a) the banking sector is regulated by the "Superintendencia de Bancos e Instituciones Financieras", ("SBIF") ( http://www.sbif.cl/sbifweb/servlet/Portada?indice=0.0 );b) the main AML regulator for financial institutions (including the banking sector) is called "Unidad de Análisis Financiero" ("UAF") ( http://www.uaf.cl/english/whatwedo.aspx ). The insurance sector and brokers are also regulated by "Superintendencia de Valores y Seguros" ("SVS") ( http://www.svs.cl/portal/principal/605/w3-channel.html );c) the main AML regulator for the non-financial sector is also "Unidad de Análisis Financiero" ("UAF") ( http://www.uaf.cl/english/whatwedo.aspx );d) the casinos sector is regulated by the "Superintendencia de Casinos y juegos", ("SCJ") ( http://www.scj.gob.cl/en/ ); ande) the pensions and social security by the "Superintendencia de Pensiones y Seguridad Social", ("SP") ( http://www.safp.cl/portal/institucional/578/w3-propertyvalue-5925.html ). |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A4. | Yes, there are several instructions given by the regulators that are mandatory for institutions.a) "Manual para la prevención del blanqueo de capitales" - published by the "Asociación de Bancos e Instituciones Financieras de Chile A.G." ( http://www.abif.cl/about-the-association-of-banks/ );b) "Recomendaciones para la identificación y procedimientos relacionados con Personas Expuestas Políticamente ("PEP")." ( http://www.uaf.cl/legislacion/norm_sector.aspx );c) "Circular conjunta N° 50 de Unidad de Análisis Financiero y N° 57 de Superintendencia de Casinos de Juegos" ( http://www.uaf.cl/legislacion/norm_sector.aspx ). This link gives several guidelines for various industries.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                    |
| A5. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A6. | Yes, enhanced due diligence, know your customer, know your employee, know your supplier, are all systems that must be configured as a tool of risk management to prevent money laundering and the financing of terrorism.                                        |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                        |
| A7. | N/A (The last mutual evaluation was performed in 2010 ( http://www.gafilat.org/UserFiles/documentos/en/evaluaciones_mutuas/Chile_3ra_Ronda_2010.pdf ). |

Customer Due Diligence

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8.  | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A8.  | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A9.  | UAF regulations establish that financial institutions and certain non-financial institutions must implement an AML System based on the KYC concept. This system must allow the understanding of the client's activities, relevant characteristics of operations and its reasonability. The following information and documentation is required to identify clients: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) individual / entity name;</li> <li>b) Rol Único Tributario ("RUT") number (the National Identification Number for individuals and legal entities, similar to Social Security Numbers for individuals or Employer ID Numbers for entities);</li> <li>c) individual profession or degree / entity economic activities;</li> <li>d) invoice number;</li> <li>e) address in Chile or in country of origin / residency; and</li> <li>f) email and / or phone number.</li> </ul> |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A10. | According to SBIF regulations, banking institutions should apply appropriate procedures to verify that the information provided by clients is valid and accurate. If the information is not reliable or the client does not provide information for proper identification, the bank must evaluate the termination of the commercial relationship and send a suspicious operation report to UAF.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A11. | UAF Regulations specifically require the reviewing of clients, prospective clients and UBOs to identify if any party is a PEP. Local regulation does not explicitly establish an ownership threshold to define UBOs.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A12. | There is no reduced/simplified due diligence recognised in local regulations. Local regulations establish minimum KYC requirements for Enhance Due Diligence ("EDD").                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A13. | Special due diligence and KYC procedures must be applied to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) PEPs (escalation to management for approval);</li> <li>b) electronic transfers (information about the transferor must be kept);</li> <li>c) individuals and members listed in "Comité de Sanciones ONU" (UN sanctions about N° 1.267 of 1999, N° 1.333 of 2000 and N°1.390 of 2002 resolutions) (continuous monitoring - information obtained must be reported to UAF);</li> <li>d) non-cooperative countries/jurisdictions/territories and tax havens (transactions with these countries/jurisdictions/territories must be reviewed and reported to UAF); and</li> <li>e) customer who exercises one of activities described in Article 3 Law N°19.913.</li> </ul> |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A14. | Financial institutions and certain non-financial institutions must implement special due diligence procedures for PEPs: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) establish risk management systems to determine if a prospective client, a client or a final beneficiary is a PEP or not;</li> <li>b) require and obtain senior management approval to establish a relationship with a PEP;</li> <li>c) take reasonable measures to determine the source of wealth and funds of clients and final beneficiaries identified as PEPs and the reasonability of the operations; and</li> <li>d) implement measures and procedures of continuous due diligence regarding the relationship with the PEP.</li> </ul>                                                             |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A15. | According to RAN Chapter 1-14, the following additional KYC measures must be performed when establishing a correspondent banking relationship: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) gather sufficient information to fully understand the correspondent bank's business and verify its reputation and control quality;</li> <li>b) assess the policies and procedures performed by the correspondent bank to detect suspicious activities;</li> <li>c) document the responsibilities of each institution; and</li> <li>d) obtain management approval to establish a new correspondent banking relationship.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A16. | According to RAN Chapter 1-14, banks must abstain from starting relationships or performing operations with shell banks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships? |
| A17. | There is no specific mention in local AML regulations about this subject.                                          |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                           |
| A18. | Financial Analysis Unit "Unidad de Análisis Financiero" ( http://www.uaf.cl/entidades/como.aspx ). |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                           |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2015 – 2,356 SARs (Source: http://www.uaf.cl/estadisticas/ )Comparative GDP data is not available for this specific period. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | Cash transactions over USD10,000 must be reported.                                                                                                                                                            |

|             |                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported? |
| A21. | There are no thresholds for suspicious activity reports.                                 |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                       |
| A22. | Yes. The failure to comply with the reporting requirements is considered an infraction to Law 19.913. Any entities and individuals involved may be sanctioned. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                       |
| A23. | Yes. According to RAN Chapter 1-14, banks must have appropriate technological tools that allow them to develop warning systems, in order to identify and detect unusual transactions. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A24. | According to local regulation, every suspicious operation must be reported as fast as possible and in an unobstructed manner to the UAF. Reports must be filed in an electronic format. Financial institutions and certain non-financial institutions must establish internal procedures to report suspicious operations opportunistically and under reserve. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                       |
| A25. | No. According to RAN Chapter 1-14, if the bank has branches or subsidiaries abroad, the Board must ensure that the laws and regulations of the host country adequately meet the requirements of this chapter. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A26. | No, there is no legal requirement for an external auditor to provide an opinion or report on the bank’s AML systems and controls.Information about suspicious activity reports and controls is not audited. During the financial statement audit, the external auditor is informed about the suspicious activity reports to evaluate if there is any impact on the audit process. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of “personal data” cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of “sensitive data”? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A29. | Yes, Law No. 19.628 regarding Privacy Protection (“Protección de la vida privada”) regulates the treatment and use of personal data. Among other matters, this legislation prevents the disclosure of certain financial information. Note that Law N° 19.628 defines “personal data treatment” as any operation or group of operations or technical procedures – whether automatic or not - that allows personal data to be collected, stored, recorded, organised, prepared, selected, extracted, compared, connected, separated, communicated, assigned, transferred, transmitted or cancelled, or utilised in any other form: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes, as “personal data” is defined by Law N° 19.628 as any data related to an identified or identifiable individual;</li> <li>b) it does not. Law N° 19628 applies only to data relating to individuals. However, professional secrecy regulations and contractual obligations mean such data must be kept as confidential information. Therefore, its disclosure or transfer can only be authorised by the entity that owns the data; and</li> <li>c) “Sensitive data” is defined by Law N° 19.628 as any personal data relating to physical or moral characteristics of individuals, or to facts or circumstances of their private life or intimacy. Note that according to Law N° 19.628, any kind of personal data treatment shall be expressly authorised by the data subject (individual), in writing, and prior to the data treatment. The data subject shall be informed about the purposes of its data treatment, and is entitled to revoke such authorisation, among other rights. As a general rule, “sensitive data” cannot be treated in any form, except: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. when it is expressly authorised by law;</li> <li>b. when the “sensitive data” is required for granting health benefits to the data subject; and</li> <li>c. when the data subject expressly authorises the “sensitive data” treatment as described immediately above.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A30. | Any transfer of personal data shall be authorised by the data subject as described in A29 c) above. Regarding credit reports, no data subject authorisation is required when the information comes from, or is collected by, public sources, as long as the data corresponds to economic, financial, banking and commercial information contained in lists referred to a category of individuals that only indicates certain information (individual’s group, occupation, professional or technical degrees, birth date, address), or is needed for commercial communications requiring a direct answer or the direct sale of goods and services. On the other hand, article 17 of Law 19.628 allows the communication of economic, financial, banking and commercial liabilities when these are not duly paid, and are expressed in certain commercial instruments (e.g. unpaid checks, notes, banking loans, mortgages, etc.). In general, this kind of report cannot include: liabilities that have been renegotiated, are subject to negotiation or are subject to pending terms or conditions; utilities debts; debts incurred during unemployment periods; and, liabilities that became enforceable 5 years previously. Regarding criminal records, this information can be understood as “sensitive data”, and its treatment is only allowed as described in A29 c). Although, if this data is treated by a government or public organisation (public services, public authorities, etc.) within its legal faculties, no data subject authorisation is needed for data treatment purposes. In relation to criminal records, administrative penalties or disciplinary faults, this information cannot be communicated after the statute of limitation period for pursuing those sanctions has elapsed, except in cases where such information is requested by the courts of justice or other competent authorities and such information is kept under secrecy. Regarding medical data, this information can be understood as “sensitive data”, and its treatment is only allowed as described in A29 c). As mentioned in A29 c) b., the treatment of this kind of personal data is allowed when it is required for granting health benefits to the data subject, with no data subject authorisation. |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A31. | Article 19 N° 4 of the Chilean Constitution set forth the constitutional right of respect and protection of private life and honour of an individual and their family. If this constitutional right is breached or threatened to be breached by anyone, the data subject can exercise protective actions or remedy (recurso de protección) before the high court of each judicial territory (Appeal Court, Corte de Apelación).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | Yes. Title XVI of "Ley General de Bancos" establishes the bank secrecy law. According to this law, deposits and investments are subject to bank secrecy. Other operations are under reserve.                                                    |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Colombia

Key contact: Mónica Jiménez / Ana Milena Villareal
Email: monica.jimenez@co.pwc.com /
ana.milena.villareal@co.pwc.com
Tel: +571 6340555

Postal address: Calle 100 No 11-A-35;
9th. Floor; Bogotá;
Cundinamarca; Colombia

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A1. | 1996. Financial institutions had to comply with the Integral System for the Prevention of Asset Laundering ("SIPLA") regulation by reporting financial transactions over defined limits. In 2008, the Superintendent of Finance of Colombia issued External Circular No. 022 2007, regarding the implementation of the System for Preventing Asset Laundering and Terrorism Financing ("SARLAFT") with a risk based approach. The 2009 regulation incorporates some new reporting standards that must be adhered to when reporting to the Regulator. Currently Circular Basica Juridica 029 de 2014 in its Título IV Capitulo IV regulates ("SARLAFT"). In 2014, the Superintendent of Corporations of Colombia issued External Circular No. 100-00005, regarding the implementation of the System for Preventing Assets Laundering and Terrorism Financing and was changed for the External Circular No. 100-00003 in Jun 2015. |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A2. | The main features of the regulation included implementing adequate KYC procedures, monitoring transactions, investigating unusual transactions and reporting any suspicious transactions to the relevant authorities. The latest circular had no major changes compared to the previous one.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A3. | SARLAFT requirements are issued by the regulators, the Superintendence of Finance of Colombia and Superintendence of Societies of Colombia. Entities have to report to the Financial Information and Analysis Unit ("UIAF") of Colombia. a) (https://www.superfinanciera.gov.co) in section Normativa/NormativaGeneral/CircularBasicaJuridica(C.E029/14)/ParteI/TituloIV/CapituloIV; b) (https://www.superfinanciera.gov.co) in section Normativa/NormativaGeneral/CircularBasicaJuridica(C.E029/14)/ParteI/TituloIV/CapituloIV; and c) (http://www.supersociedades.gov.co) in section Normatividad/circulares-externas/CircularExterna100-00005 Junio del 2014.                                                                                                 |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A4. | The regulation provides specific details of how the SARLAFT should be considered by financial institutions. Although the segmentation methodologies and activities related to risk management and transactional monitoring should be designed by each individual entity. For entities of the real sector there is a guide created by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime ("UNODC"), the British Embassy and the chamber of commerce of Bogotá "El Modelo de Gestion del Riesgo de LA/FT en el sector real". (https://www.superfinanciera.gov.co) in section Normativa/NormativaGeneral/CircularBasicaJuridica(C.E029/14)/Partel/TituloIV/CapituloIV/Anexos.(https://www.superfinanciera.gov.co) in section Normativa/Índice de Reportes/Guías para el reporte de información. |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A5. | Yes, new regulation establishes the parameters for KYC procedures which incorporate the requirement to update a customer's information.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A6. | Yes, new regulation has a risk based approach regarding AML.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A7. | No. Colombia is a member of the Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering in South America ("GAFISUD").                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A8. | Yes, there are various thresholds depending on the type of transaction, including no customer due diligence for the transfer of electronic funds or foreign currency exchange transactions less than USD5,000, and if a signed signature card for an account with the institution also exists for such transactions over USD5,000. No due diligence is required for cash transactions of less than USD5,000 (other than when two or more transactions totalling more than USD5,000 are believed to be linked).                                                                                                                                        |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A9. | Individuals: The regulator has defined the basic form each customer should complete. The requirements surrounding independent verification or authentication vary according to each customer. Individuals should provide identification, tax payment copy or yearly income certificate and other relevant financial information. Legal entities: The regulator has defined the basic form that legal entities should complete. Legal entities should provide Chamber of Commerce registration, details of partners with shares greater than 5%, an antitax payments certificate and other relevant financial information. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A10. | There is no need for copies to be certified by a notary (this was a requirement previously). Entities compare the copy with the original identification when the customer brings in the required documentation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A11. | Customers should be able to demonstrate the source of income and ownership by way of a copy of a tax payment or income certificate. Entities should monitor changes in income or properties of their clients, where information is available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A12. | Entities should comply with the minimum requirements of the regulations, which include special additional tasks for PEPs. Reduced requirements apply to persons or companies that operate with significant cash amounts as a result of the business they are in. The entities should perform detailed due diligence so future controls can be omitted. There are some cases in which customers do not need to fill out the form e.g. special insurance types, multilateral organisms, retirement fund managers and deposit accounts with a simplified process. |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A13. | Enhanced due diligence is required for PEPs. In Colombia, this includes not only politically related people but also publicly recognised people. This also includes due diligence of deposit accounts which will be used by political parties and during political campaigns.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A14. | There are regulatory requirements in relation to PEPs. In Colombia, a PEP is defined as a publicly relevant person (not only politicians). Each time a PEP is identified, additional due diligence has to be performed, especially when the client manages public resources.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A15. | For correspondent banking relationships, every international transaction should be reported to the authorities. Each report requires information on the origin of the money i.e. client, address, telephone number, activity and reason for sending the wire and beneficiary.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A16. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non-face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A17. | Entities must define special procedures in order to perform KYC for non-face-to-face interviews. They must also implement follow up procedures for clients' transactions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A18. | UIAF of Colombia: ( www.uiaf.gov.co )                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A19. | Information on SARs is not available for 2015, please see below the most recent data available. Volume of SARs:2013 – 6,993 SARs (Source: UIAF). GDP (in current prices):2013 – USD380,063m (Source: data.worldbank.org ). This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD54m of GDP.                                                                                                                      |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A20. | Yes, institutions should report individual cash transactions above USD5,000 and total monthly cash transactions above USD25,000. They should also report: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) suspicious transactions</li> <li>b) transactions of remittances and buy and sell of foreign exchange;</li> <li>c) transactions with international credits cards;</li> <li>d) products offered; and</li> <li>e) information about campaigns and parties political.</li> </ul> |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A21. | See A20.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A22. | Special requirements and an investigation from the regulator shall be performed at an institution that does not report the required periodical AML information.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                         |
| A23. | No, each entity is free to develop or use their specific methodology to perform transaction monitoring according to their KYC policies. |

|             |                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?      |
| A24. | No, each entity shall define if a suspicious transaction shall be continued or not, although it has to be reported to the UIAF. |

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | Entities monitor all transactions regardless of the entity's jurisdiction.              |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                      |
| A26. | Yes, the financial Colombian regulation defines that the external auditor must perform audits of the AML risk management system quarterly. Additionally, the internal auditor must perform an audit annually. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul> |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the external auditor performs an audit quarterly;</li> <li>b) the results are reported to the board of directors; and</li> <li>c) the final opinion is part of the financial statement audit.</li> </ul>                                             |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul>  |
| A28. | The external and internal auditors must evaluate that the risk management system is operating according to all requirements of the regulation. The audit is performed in accordance with the auditor judgement who designs the tests necessary to assure that the entity is complying with the regulation. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A29. | In Colombia, the regulation for personal data protection stipulates that all individuals have the right to know about and update personal information that has been gathered about them by public or private entities and prohibits the processing of any individual's sensitive information without the prior, explicit, and informed consent of that individual.Sensitive data is expressly protected. The law has a reinforced protection for so-called sensitive data, which is information that deserves special protection because of the high risk posed by its processing to citizen's rights and freedoms. The incorrect use of this sensitive data might cause discrimination. Sensitive data includes people's racial and ethnic origins; colour and sexuality; their political, religious, philosophical, or other beliefs; their participation in a given association; or their membership in a trade union, among others. |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A30. | In Colombian legislation, banking secrecy and the right to privacy are not considered valid arguments to reject banking information requests issued by judges of the Republic of Colombia or Colombian AML authorities, within the limits established by article 15 of the Constitution and 2 of Law 1121 of 2006, also known as Organic Statute of the Financial ("EOSF"). Banking secrecy includes the financial and personal information in custody of the financial entities.Information relating to criminal records (those that are part of ongoing investigations without final decision of competent authority) and medical histories are considered sensitive and require prior, explicit and written authorization of the owner to be transferred.                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A31. | Refer to A30.Habeas Data law expressly prohibits the transfer of information to another country without the prior, express and written permission of the owner of the information and further states that the other country must have an equal or higher standard of protection of information and guarantees for the owner of the information.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A32. | Refer to A30.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

At PwC United Kingdom, our purpose is to build trust in society and solve important problems. We're a network of firms in 157 countries with more than 208,000 people who are committed to delivering quality in assurance, advisory and tax services. Find out more and tell us what matters to you by visiting us at www.pwc.com/UK.

This publication has been prepared for general guidance on matters of interest only, and does not constitute professional advice. You should not act upon the information contained in this publication without obtaining specific professional advice. No representation or warranty (express or implied) is given as to the accuracy or completeness of the information contained in this publication, and, to the extent permitted by law, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, its members, employees and agents do not accept or assume any liability, responsibility or duty of care for any consequences of you or anyone else acting, or refraining to act, in reliance on the information contained in this publication or for any decision based on it.

© 2016 PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. All rights reserved. In this document, "PwC" refers to the UK member firm, and may sometimes refer to the PwC network. Each member firm is a separate legal entity. Please see www.pwc.com/structure for further details.

151103-144408-LA-OS

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Dominican Republic

Key contact: Omar del Orbe
Email: omar.delorbe@do.pwc.com
Tel: +829 642 7712

Postal address: Lope de Vega ave, #29, Novo Centro Bldg.
PwC Floor, P.O. Box 1286
Santo Domingo – República Dominicana

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A1. | AML Law in the Dominican Republic (Law No. 72-02 and modifications on Anti-Money Laundering from Illicit Traffic of Drugs and Controlled Substances and other Serious Violations) was enacted on 4 Jun 2002. Subsequently in 2003, the implementation guideline No. 20-03 was issued.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A3. | As a result of local AML Law No. 72-02, the National Committee Against Money Laundering was created and composed of: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Superintendence of Banks ("SIB");</li> <li>b) Ministry of Treasury;</li> <li>c) Attorney General of the Dominican Republic;</li> <li>d) President of the National Drugs Council; and</li> <li>e) President of the National Directorate for Drug Control.</li> </ul> This Committee is comprised of a Unit of Financial Analysis ("UAF") to which the different organizations against money laundering in the Dominican Republic report to. The unit covers the banking sector, other financial services, and non-financial sectors. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Superintendence of Banks of the Dominican Republic ("SIB"): (http://sib.gov.do/);</li> <li>b) General Directorate of Internal Revenue: (http://www.dgii.gov.do/);</li> <li>c) Superintendence of Securities of the Dominican Republic: (http://www.siv.gov.do/);</li> <li>d) Superintendence of Pensions of the Dominican Republic: (http://www.sipen.gov.do/);</li> <li>e) General Directorate of Customs: (https://www.aduanas.gob.do/);</li> <li>f) Specialized Attorney for the Persecution of Administrative Corruption: (http://dpca.pgr.gob.do/);</li> <li>g) Central Directorate of Criminal Investigations: (http://www.dicrim.gob.do/);</li> <li>h) Anti-money laundering unit of the Attorney General's office of the Dominican Republic: (http://pgr.gob.do/); and</li> <li>i) Financial Investigation department of the National Directorate for Drug Control: (http://www.dncd.gob.do/).</li> </ul> Central Bank of the Dominican Republic ("CBDR") has its own internal regulation based on Law No. 72-02: http://www.bancentral.gov.do/normativa/normas_vigentes/normas_preencion_lavado_activos.pdf |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A4. | The Law and the implementation guideline Law have definitions of suspicious or unusual transactions that could be associated to money laundering. However, there are no other practical guidelines.                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A6. | Yes, the regulators promote a proactive approach that is based on risk.According to the Newsletter No. 014-12 issued by the SIB in Oct 2012, the Framework Supervision of Financial Entities based on risk was finally adopted.                                                                                                                                                |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A7. | The last assessment was in 2006 and a follow-up report was released in 2015: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/#Dominican Republic and https://www.cfatf-gafic.org/index.php/member-countries/d-m/dominican-republic |

Customer Due Diligence

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A8. | No, according to the Newsletter No. 03-10 issued by the SIB, the due diligence process should be applied to all customers that carry out significant transactions (refer to the guide "Know your customer (KYC)" issued by the SIB ( http://www.sib.gob.do/pdf/lavado/TERCERA-EDICION-Instructivo-Conozca-Su-Cliente-Ready.pdf )). |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A9.  | Individuals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name and surname;</li> <li>b) date and place of birth;</li> <li>c) identification number;</li> <li>d) marital status;</li> <li>e) address and telephone number;</li> <li>f) main activity or occupation; and</li> <li>g) income (salary and other savings).</li> </ul> Legal entities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) company name;</li> <li>b) date of incorporation;</li> <li>c) address and telephone number;</li> <li>d) tax identification number;</li> <li>e) bylaws and other information;</li> <li>f) main activity;</li> <li>g) revenue volume; and</li> <li>h) shareholders and ultimate beneficial owners;</li> </ul> |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A10. | Legal entities accepting the identification documentation should be sure that the copies of such documentation correspond to the originals, i.e. either a contractor's internal verification or external authentication (notary, apostille) will be needed. Each institution also has its own policies and procedures to verify the documents and its copies.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A11. | Financial institutions must implement procedures to identify the ultimate beneficial owner of each transaction, review of records of the Company's institution, obtain personal and bank references on each of the major shareholders and directors, verify their identity and register their names.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A12. | Reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements are available to 'occasional customers'. The SIB regulation defines 'occasional customers' as those who do not demand transactions on a permanent basis and whose total amount of transactions with the institution is less than USD10,000.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customers due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A13. | A Corresponding Bank Customer who receives a substantial portion of their income from their businesses activity with high risk clients may present greater risks. A Corresponding Bank Customer who presents greater risks, PEPS and NGOs or foundations should be subject to a higher level of due diligence. See A15 and A14.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A14. | Financial institutions should apply additional due diligence procedures in the case of PEPs, their relatives and their associates. Financial institutions should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) verify their reputation with public sources;</li> <li>b) investigate the source of the applicant's funds before opening an account;</li> <li>c) anticipate the account's activity;</li> <li>d) execute more continuous monitoring of the trade relationship, for a PEP to be accepted as a client; and</li> <li>e) if a PEP has control or directive functions in a correspondent bank, the entity should have knowledge of that person's role in said entity.</li> </ul> Banks issue a form of politically exposed persons twice per year (PEP01). |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A15. | According Article 8, section D of the instructive "Know your customer ("KYC")" issued by the SIB, the due diligence process of a corresponding banking that involves greater risks will include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) for all control units, verify the source of wealth of the proprietors, including their reputation/credibility in the market, as well as recent changes in ownership; and</li> <li>b) investigate the experience and competency of each member of executive commission, as well as recent changes in the structure of the Directorate.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                        |
| A16. | Article 18 of local regulations for foreign investments and opening of border institutions issued in 2004 by the Monetary Board, prohibits banks from operations with shell banks. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non-face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                     |
| A17. | Although this is not explicitly stated in AML Law 72-02, KYC establishes procedures to identify physical or legal persons who receive or transfer funds to clients. In addition, financial institutions have alerts for non-face-to-face transactions. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                           |
| A18. | Reports are made to the Financial Analysis Unit (UAF). Please refer to A3: http://www.uaf.gov.do/ |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year. |
| A19. | Information on the volume of SARs is not publicly available.                                                               |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                             |
| A20. | Yes:a) cash transactions exceeding USD10,000 (IF01 form);b) electronic transfers up to USD1,000 (FD03-B form);c) daily report of remittance (FD03-A form); andd) transport of cash and bearer securities exceeding USD10,000 (FD04 form). |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A21. | Yes, please refer to A20 above. However, all suspicious transactions should be reported in according to the paragraph 5 of Art. 41 of the Law 72-02.                                                                                                      |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A22. | Yes, Article 22 of AML Law 72-02 establishes imprisonment of 2-5 years and a fine of 50-100 minimum wage salaries.                                                                                                                                        |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                           |
| A23. | No requirements from a legal or regulatory standpoint exist for the use of automated suspicious transactions.                                                                                                                                             |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                |
| A24. | After a certain time, if there is no a response from UAF regarding the reported transaction, the institution should determine if it is appropriate to proceed or not with the transaction in question.                                                    |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A25. | According to Art. 61 and 62 of AML Law 72-02, the competent authority may submit and request assistance from the competent authorities of other States.                                                                                                   |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organization to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?     |
| A26. | There is no legal requirement for a bank's external auditor or other external organization to report on the bank's AML systems and controls. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A. See A26 above.                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A. See A26 above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How it defined and what is are the additional protections?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A29. | In the Dominican Republic there is a specific data protection law (Law 172-13).a) the definition of personal Data Protection does not cover any direct information about KYC. KYC is a guide issued by the Superintendence of Banks;b) according to the Art. 4 of this law, the protection regime of personal data does not apply to data processing of corporations; andc) sensitive data: personal data revealing political opinions, religious, philosophical or moral beliefs, trade union membership and data concerning health or sex life. This law aims at comprehensive protection of personal data in files, public records, data banks or other technical means of processing of data intended to give information, whether public or private, and to ensure the right to honor and protect individual's privacy. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                   |
| A30. | Additional prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes) is not considered in AML Law 72-02, however financial entities and other users are available to use credit bureaus and criminal records. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A31. | Law 172-13 of Personal Data Protection regulates the Personal Data Transfer; however according to Art. 89 of this law, in relation to any international agreement to which the Dominican Republic is a signatory (such as information exchange treaty between the Dominican Republic and USA, and the information exchange dispositions included in the treaties to avoid double taxation- currently signed with Canada and Spain- shall be governed by its dispositions. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | Article 56, Paragraph b) of the Monetary and Financial Law No. 183-02 establishes the legal obligation of banking secrecy and confidentiality.                                                                                                  |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Ecuador

Key contact: Esteban Valencia / Roberto Tugendhat
 Email: esteban.valencia@ec.pwc.com /
Roberto.tugendhat@ec.pwc.com
 Tel: +(593)2 382 9350 Ext. 334 /+ (593) 4 370 0220 Ext. 201

Postal address: Av. Francisco de Orellana E4-430 y Av.
 Amazonas, Piso 4,
 Quito, Ecuador

Last updated:
 January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A1. | 2005. Regulation to Prevent, Detect and Eradicate Money Laundering and Financing of Crimes (hereinafter Law to Prevent Money Laundering - LPML) which should be complied by entities pertaining to the financial system and insurance sector to report financial transactions above the established thresholds. In 2007 the Superintendence of Banks of Ecuador issued resolutions that govern the activities to prevent money laundering, terrorism financing and other crimes on a risk oriented approach. 2010 The LPLM regulation added other controlled entities to the list included in the LMPL that must adhere when reporting to the Regulator. In Jul 2014, the Superintendence of Companies, Securities and Insurance issued standards to prevent money laundering and terrorism financing, which are managed through the National Entity for Money Laundering Prevention. In addition to the Regulation to Prevent, Detect and Eradicate Money Laundering and Financing of Crimes, there are currently two set of laws that regulate two groups of companies: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>i. Stock exchanges, brokerage houses, and fund managers and trusts; and</li> <li>ii. Credit unions, foundations and NGO's; retailing of vehicles, crafts, ships, and aircrafts; security transportation services, postal packages services, parallel postal services; travel agencies and tourism companies; real estate intermediaries and construction services, casinos and betting houses, slot machines and racetracks; pawnbrokers; pawn shops, jewelry dealers, precious gems; traders of antique and art pieces; notaries and property registrants.</li> </ul> |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A2. | The primary characteristics of the LPML request the implementation of KYC procedures to oversight transactions, follow up unusual transactions and report to correspondent authorities in case of arising any suspicious transactions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A3. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) companies comprising the financial sector are regulated by the "Superintendencia de Bancos del Ecuador", SBE (http://www.sbs.gob.ec), and the other companies by the "Superintendencia de Compañías, Securities and Insurance del Ecuador" (http://www.supercias.gob.ec);</li> <li>b) the primary regulator for financial institutions and the non-financial sector is denominated "Unidad de Análisis Financiero" ("UAF") (http://www.uaf.gob.ec/); and</li> <li>c) the main regulator for AML controls is UAF which uses the SISLAFT system to prevent asset laundering and terrorism financing ("SISLAFT") (https://sislaft.uaf.gob.ec/sislaft).</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                              |
| A4. | Yes. Please refer to the legislation mentioned in A1.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A6. | Yes, the new regulation is risk based oriented in connection to AML.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                |
| A7. | Ecuador is a member of the Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering in South America ("GAFISUD"). The last mutual evaluation was carried out in 2011: http://www.gafilat.org/UserFiles/documentos/es/evaluaciones_mutuas/Ecuador_3era_Ronda_2011.pdf |

Customer Due Diligence

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A8. | According to requirements of the Superintendence of Banks, customers who carry out transactions above USD5,000 must fill in a questionnaire regarding the legal origin of funds for deposits made for individuals; and, in case of any stockholder bearing more than 6% of shares of a financial institution, such individual must file a statement on the legal origin of resources used for such transaction. It should be mentioned that for transactions amounting USD10,000 or more within a 30-day period on behalf of the same customer, control mechanisms should be enabled. While the groups of companies under the controller of the Superintendence of Banks, Securities, and Insurance (detailed on A1.) are regulated by different policies and thresholds by type of activity. |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A9. | Among the information and documentation requirements to identify customers are the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name of the entity – individual;</li> <li>b) Ecuadorian sole commercial registry number (RUC as in Spanish);</li> <li>c) individual's profession or degree / entity economic activities;</li> <li>d) invoice number;</li> <li>e) address in Ecuador or in country of origin / residency; and</li> <li>f) e-mail and phone number.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A10. | Institutions of the financial sector should apply appropriate procedures to ensure that data supplied by customers is actual and accurate; otherwise, no commercial relationship may be entered to a report of suspicious operation should be submitted to UAF. Likewise, the Superintendence of Banks, Securities, and Insurance establishes required documentation related to customers and suppliers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A11. | A copy of annual tax return or income certificate is required from customers as a proof of their income source. In case of variations in their customers' income or property, these instances should be monitored by entities, on the basis of available data.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A12. | Minimum requirements established by the regulations should be fulfilled by entities. There is no reduced/simplified due diligence; local regulations set forth minimum KYC requirements for CDD.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customers due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A13. | Due diligence and KYC procedures are mandatory on: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) individuals and members included in the UN sanctions list;</li> <li>b) PEP's (approval should be performed at Management level);</li> <li>c) electronics transfers (transferor's information); and</li> <li>d) non-cooperative counties/jurisdictions/territories and tax heavens (transactions back and forth must be reviewed and communicated to UAF).</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A14. | When PEP's are involved, institutions of the financial sector should implement the following due diligence procedures: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) set forth risk management systems to establish whether or not a prospective customer, a customer or an ultimate beneficiary is a PEP;</li> <li>b) senior management approval is mandatory prior to initiating relationships with a PEP;</li> <li>c) appropriate measures should be implemented to establish the customer's income and funds source and ultimate beneficiaries of wealth if they have been identified as PEP's; and</li> <li>d) continuous due diligence measures and procedures should be implemented upon existing relationships with a PEP.</li> </ul> |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A15. | Institutions comprising the financial system should implement policies and carry out procedures to prevent or detect unusual and suspicious operations performed among domestic and/or international legal entities. A report of all international transactions must be filed at correspondent authorities upon necessary characteristic of the transactions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                  |
| A16. | In accordance with Resolution No JB-2012-2146 no correspondent relationships may be entered into between local institutions and shell banks. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non-face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                              |
| A17. | Entities should set forth certain procedures to carry out KYC for non-face-to-face transactions, also these customers’ transactions must be followed up/traced. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website. |
| A18. | UAF of Ecuador: http://www.uaf.gob.ec/                  |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year. |
| A19. | Information on the volume of SARs is not publicly available.                                                               |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | Transactions performed within the financial system according to the amounts mentioned in A8 must be reported, as well as transactions considered suspicious and unusual.                                      |

|             |                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported? |
| A21. | Refer to A20.                                                                            |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                   |
| A22. | Yes. An infraction arises from the lack of compliance on reporting in accordance with UAF requirements, and sanctions may be imposed on individuals and entities involved. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                      |
| A23. | No. Entities are entitled to develop or use their own technological resources to keep up monitoring in accordance with KYC policies. |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious? |
| A24. | In the case of a transaction is performed, involved entity must report the correspondent customer's data and operation.    |

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No specific mention about this subject is included in AML regulation.                   |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                              |
| A26. | The appropriate operation of the risk management system should be reviewed by the external auditor and its report should be submitted to the correspondent authority. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul> |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) The external auditor conducts an annual review;</li> <li>b) The results are submitted to the Board of Directors; and</li> <li>c) The final opinion is part of the financial statements audit.</li> </ul>                                             |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | The assessment that risk management system meets all requirements established in the regulation is performed by the external auditor, who applies its judgment to design necessary tests to assure an entity's compliance with the regulation.                                                            |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How it defined and what is are the additional protections?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A29. | a) according to the Constitution on Freedom Rights chapter, the right to the protection of personal data, which includes the access and decision on this type of data, as well as its correspondent protection. The gathering, filing, processing, distribution or publishing of this data or information will require the owner's authorization or a legal request;b) The Coding of the Superintendence of Banks on right to protection establishes in its Art.14 that the user will be entitled to receive protection and demand the adoption of effective measures to guarantee the security of financial operation, customer's advocate from the Superintendence of Banks and Insurance and other pertinent administrative or legal acts; andc) according to the Constitution Art 11. The right to maintain the reserve about his convictions. Nobody may be obliged to declare on them. In no case will it be required or used without the owner's or its actual representatives authorization, any personal or third party's data on their religious believes, political affiliation or opinion; or their health status and sexual life, unless for medical attention purposes. |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A30. | According to Art. 11 of the Constitution: In no case will it be required or used without the owner's or its actual representatives authorization, any personal or third party's data on their religious believes, political affiliation or opinion; or their health status and sexual life, unless for medical attention purposes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A31. | Please refer to A30 above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A32. | Please refer to A30 above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Honduras

Key contact: Milton Rivera / Ramón Morales
 Email: milton.rivera@hn.pwc.com /
ramon.morales@hn.pwc.com
 Tel: (504) 2553-3060 / (504) 2553-3060

Postal address: Entrada Principal Col. Orquídea Blanca,
 14 Avenida Circunvalación
 Noroeste, 10 Calle, San Pedro Sula

Last updated:
 January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A1. | Anti-Money Laundering Law Decree 45-2002, 05 Mar 2002 (Abolished);Special Law on Abandonment of Automotive vehicles Decree 245-2002, 17 Jul 2002 (Abolished);Law on Anti-Terrorism financing Decree 241-2010, 18 Nov 2010 (In force); andAnti-Money Laundering Special Law Decree 144-2014, 30 Apr 2015 (In force). |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A2. | Specific AML regulations were in force in effect as you may see in previous answer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                           |
| A3. | National Commission on Banking and Insurance (Comisión Nacional de Bancos y Seguros - CNBS) by means of Interagency Commission for the Prevention of Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing (Comisión Interinstitucional para la Prevención del Lavado de Activos y Financiamiento del Terrorismo – CIPLAFT).                 |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                     |
| A4. | The links "Educación Financiera" and "Prevención del Lavado de Activos", provide helpful guidance regarding AML ( http://www.cnbs.gob.hn/ ).                                                                                                                                              |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                  |
|------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                     |
| A6. | No, however individuals and entities must develop internal policies and procedures for risk-based due diligence. |

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available). |
| A7. | Yes, link not available.                                                                                                                                                                                  |

Customer Due Diligence

|            |                                                                                                                                                    |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place? |
| A8. | No.                                                                                                                                                |

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A9. | The requirements are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) identify the client and verify identity by way of reliable documentation;</li> <li>b) identify the final beneficiary and entities, so that individuals and entities may understand companies structures;</li> <li>c) understand and obtain information about the commercial relationship;</li> <li>d) perform due diligence on the client; and</li> <li>e) if there is doubt about the ongoing commercial relationship between individuals and legal entities, they must verify in situ. When information provided by the client is doubtful or inconsistent with the compiled information, the individual and entity must end the business relationship and consider reporting it to the UIF.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication? |
| A10. | N/A                                                                                                                                     |

|             |                                                                                                     |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)? |
| A11. | N/A                                                                                                 |

|             |                                                                                    |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available? |
| A12. | N/A                                                                                |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                               |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customers due diligence measures required? |
| A13. | N/A                                                                           |

|             |                                                                                                      |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons (‘PEPs’)? |
| A14. | Regulations are applicable to the general population, there are no specific requirements for PEPs.   |

|             |                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)? |
| A15. | There is no specific regulation.                                                                                                        |

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non-face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                        |
| A17. | For example, telephone or internet banking transactions do not have a specific regulation, however the new AML Law Decree 144-2014, published on 30 Apr 2015, states the general due diligence requirements. Please see A9 for reference. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                           |
| A18. | Financial Intelligence Unit (Unidad de Inteligencia Financiera – UIF), an anonymous virtual platform for individuals and entities. Yet to be launched. |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year. |
| A19. | Information on the volume of SARs is not publicly available.                                                               |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A20. | Yes, SARs (Reporte de actividades sospechosas – ROS), when any suspicious or unusual activity is detected the Financial Intelligence Unit (Unidad de Inteligencia Financiera – UIF) must be notified.                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A21. | No, but any suspicious or unusual activity regarding conditions, place, entity and / or transaction amount must be reported.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for noncompliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A22. | Imprisonment or a penalty (approx. HNL8,8112 or USD3,950).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A24. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A25. | Interagency Commission for the Prevention of Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing (Comisión Interinstitucional para la Prevención del Lavado de Activos y Financiamiento del Terrorismo – CIPLAFT) works in harmony with the resolutions or directions emitted by ONU and OEA, adopted by the Honduran government; however cases are managed within the local authorities. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls? |
| A26. | No.                                                                                                                                      |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How it defined and what is are the additional protections? |
| A29. | No, however authorities are working on the draft law:a) N/A;b) N/A; andc) N/A.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)? |
| A30. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A31. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A32. | According to article 47 of Anti-Money Laundering Special Law, safeguarding fundamental rights of individuals and entities, banking, tax or professional secrecy cannot be invoked. However, certain information that has been required by an authority or received by the authority, cannot be shared by individuals and/or entities to any other individual or entity, especially if they're an interested party. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Jamaica

Key contact: Peta-Gaye Bartley
Email: peta-gaye.s.bartley@jm.pwc.com
Tel: +1 (0) 876 922 6230

Postal address: Scotiabank Centre,
Duke Street, P.O. Box 372,
Kingston, Jamaica

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A1. | Money Laundering Act 1996 which was subsequently repealed by The Proceeds of Crime Act 2007 which came into effect in May 2007, the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering Prevention) Regulations 2007, and the Proceeds of Crime Regulations 2007.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A2. | 2013 saw the passage of considerable amendments to existing money laundering legislation including the Financial Investigations Division (Amendment) Act which was passed in Jul 2013, the Proceeds of Crime (Amendment) Act 2013 which includes amendments to the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering) Regulations and the Terrorism Prevention (Amendment) Act 2013.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A3. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Bank of Jamaica is responsible for supervising commercial banks, merchant banks, building societies and credit unions (www.boj.org.jm);</li> <li>b) Foreign exchange traders, bureaux de change and remittance companies are supervised by the Bank of Jamaica (www.boj.org.jm) and the Financial Services Commission is responsible for supervising firms and individuals in the securities and insurance industry: (www.fscjamaica.org); and</li> <li>c) The Minister of National Security has designated attorneys, accountants, real estate dealers, casinos and gaming lounges as designated non-financial businesses and professions ("DNFBPs") and therefore subject to the framework of supervision contained in section 91A of the Proceeds of Crime (Amendment) Act 2013. The changes will take effect for those categories from 01 Apr 2014 and for attorneys from 01 Jun 2014. Trust and company service providers and dealers in precious metals and stones have not been designated as DNFBPs.</li> </ul> |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A4. | The Bank of Jamaica published AML/CFT policy which was most recently revised in Sep 2010 and can be accessed here: (http://www.boj.org.jm/pdf/BOJ%20AML%20POLICY%20Final.pdf) and Guidance Notes on the Prevention and Detection of Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Activities for commercial banks, merchant banks, building societies, credit unions, cambios, bureau de change and money transfer and remittance agents and agencies which was most recently revised in Mar 2009 and can be accessed here: (http://www.boj.org.jm/pdf/AMLCFT%20GN%20Mar%2009%20published.pdf) The Financial Services Commission provides guidance on AML (revised 20 Mar 2014): (http://www.fscjamaica.org/general-guidelines-and-bulletins/content-1221.html)                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A5. | Paragraph 46 of the Bank of Jamaica's AML/CFT Guidance Notes provides that where no comprehensive review has been conducted of existing client identification records since the coming into effect of the Money Laundering Act, Regulations and the Bank of Jamaica's Guidance Notes then the institution should immediately implement a retrospective review of all pre-existing accounts/customers to ensure that full KYC identification details are on file.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A6. | Paragraph 75 of the Bank of Jamaica's Guidance Notes encourages the adoption of a risk based approach to the obtaining of KYC information.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A7. | The last Caribbean FATF Mutual Evaluation Report on Jamaica was published in Oct 2005. It found Jamaica to be partially or non-compliant with 18 recommendations. The 11th Follow-Up Report on Jamaica was published on 03 Dec 2014 and can be accessed here (https://www.cfatf-gafic.org/index.php?option=com_docman&amp;task=cat_view&amp;gid=309&amp;Itemid=417&amp;lang=en). The 9th Follow Up-Report dated 03 Jan 2014 recommended that Jamaica be taken out of enhanced and placed in regular (expedited) follow up. The last Financial System Stability Assessment done by the IMF on Jamaica was in Apr 2012: https://www.cfatf-gafic.org/index.php?option=com_docman&amp;task=cat_view&amp;gid=309&amp;Itemid=417&amp;lang=en |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A8. | Article 8 of the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering Prevention) Regulations 2007 provides for de minimis amounts which do not require the application of client due diligence. In the case of transactions of a value of USD250 or less in either USD or any other currency, unless the nature of the transaction is suspicious. The exemption however does not apply to a money transfer and remittance agent or agency.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A9. | Individuals: True name and names used, correct permanent address including postal address (if different from permanent address), date and place of birth, nationality, contact numbers, date and place of birth, taxpayer registration number, at least two referees, and source of funds and wealth where considered appropriate. Identification should be verified from documents issued by reputable sources which includes a valid driver's licence bearing a photograph, current valid passport, current valid voter's identification card with a photograph, signed employer identity card bearing a photograph and signature or taxpayer registration number in addition to any one of the other identification documents listed. Legal persons: Entity's full name, description of the business conducted by the entity, country or jurisdiction of incorporation or establishment, taxpayer registration number, registered office or place of business, date on which the entity began to hold and ceased to hold the account, full name, date of birth, most recent and previous addresses of any person who is a signatory to the account. The following documentation should be obtained: Certificate of incorporation or registration, articles of incorporation or partnership deed, director's resolution authorising company's management to engage in transactions, financial institutions mandate, signed application form or an account opening authority containing specimen signatures, a financial statement of the business (audited except in the case of companies incorporated and in operation for less than 18 months), a description of the company's principal line of business and suppliers (if applicable) list of names, addresses and nationalities of principal owners, directors, beneficiaries and management officers including directors, beneficiaries and management officers including evidence of the identity of natural persons, Group/Corporate structure where applicable, tax compliance certificate and a copy of the licence to operate where the principal line of business is one that falls under a regulatory/supervisory body and determine and document the source of funds and wealth. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A10. | The name and permanent address and employment details of a customer should be verified by an independent source, other than those provided by the customer, such as by requesting sight of a current utility bill for the customer's place of residence, checking a local telephone directory, checking the voters list, home visits, confirming the customer's place of employment independently, cross checking KYC details provided with other affiliated companies or other financial institutions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A11. | There is no specific information in local guidance which deals specifically with beneficial ownership. However, firms should carry out verification in respect of the parties operating the account. Where there are underlying principals, the true nature of the relationship between the principals and the account signatories must also be established. Appropriate enquiries should be performed on the principals, especially if the signatories are accustomed to acting on their instructions. In this context "principals" should be understood in its widest sense to include, for example, beneficial owners, settlers, controlling shareholders, directors, major beneficiaries etc.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A12. | Verification of the institution is not needed for five types of eligible institutions, including a licensed bank, a financial institution licensed under the Financial Institutions Act, a building society registered under the Building Societies Act, a society registered under the Co-operative Societies Act and an insurance company registered under the Insurance Act. Paragraph 50 of the Bank of Jamaica's Guidance Notes provides that KYC due diligence requirements for corporate customers can be satisfied if the corporate customer has established that it is listed on the Jamaica Stock Exchange's public listing of companies and is of good standing. The Credit Reporting Act 2010 came into effect 01 Oct 2010. It establishes the framework for credit reporting regime in Jamaica to ensure that this is done through reasonable procedures that meet the needs of commerce for credit information in a manner that is fair and equitable to the consumer. The Credit Reporting Regulations were approved by Parliament on 04 Jan 2011. Only entities licensed under the Act can offer credit bureau services and credit information can only be sourced and used from specific credit information providers. |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customers due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A13. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) institutions offering private banking services for high net worth individuals must ensure that enhanced due diligence policies and procedures are developed and documented. Senior management should ensure that the personal circumstances, income sources and wealth of private banking clients are known and verified as far as possible and must provide approval for such relationships;</li> <li>b) where accounts are transferred from another financial institution, enhanced KYC standards should be applied especially if the licensee has any reason to believe that the account holder has been refused banking facilities by the other financial institutions;</li> <li>c) PEPs;</li> <li>d) non face-to-face customers; and</li> <li>e) correspondent banking.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A14. | Financial institutions are required to implement enhanced due diligence for business relationships involving foreign and domestic PEPs as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) investigation and determination of the income sources prior to opening an account. Reference to income sources includes source of funds, source of wealth and asset holdings, confirmation of the general salary and entitlements for public positions;</li> <li>b) senior management approval of the decision to open an account for a PEP;</li> <li>c) ongoing monitoring of PEP accounts; and</li> <li>d) regular reviews to ensure KYC information remains up to date.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A15. | The following enhanced due diligence should be performed by correspondent banks: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) obtaining authenticated/certified copies of certificates of incorporation and articles of association;</li> <li>b) obtaining authenticated/certified copies of banking licenses or similar authorisation documents, as well as any additional licences in respect of foreign exchange;</li> <li>c) determining the supervisory authority which has oversight responsibility for the respondent bank;</li> <li>d) determining the ownership of the financial institution;</li> <li>e) obtaining details of the respondent bank's board and management composition;</li> <li>f) determining the location and major activities of the financial institution;</li> <li>g) obtaining details regarding the group structure within which the respondent bank operates, as well as any subsidiaries it may have;</li> <li>h) obtaining proof off its years of operation, along with access to its audited financial statements;</li> <li>i) information as to its external auditors;</li> <li>j) ascertaining whether the bank has established and implemented sound CDD, AML/CFT policies and strategies and appointed a Compliance Officer;</li> <li>k) ascertaining whether the respondent bank has been the subject or is currently the subject of any regulatory action or investigation;</li> <li>l) establishing the purpose of the account;</li> <li>m) documenting the respective responsibilities of each institution in the operation of the account;</li> <li>n) identifying any third party that may have access to the account; and</li> <li>o) ensuring senior management approval is obtained.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A17. | Financial institutions are encouraged to avoid the practice of opening new accounts for non face-to-face customers unless higher standards of scrutiny are applied. This requires more rigorous identification and verification standards including independent verification by a reputable third party. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A18. | The Financial Investigations Division. In Jamaica, such reports are referred to as suspicious transaction reports ("STRs"). See: http://www.mof.gov.jm/financial-investigations/units-sections.html |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year. |
| A19. | Information on the volume of SARs is not publicly available.                                                               |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A20. | Yes, cash transactions over a certain threshold should be reported to the Financial Investigations Division. Article 3 of the Proceeds of Crime (Money Laundering Prevention) Regulations 2007 provides that the following cash transactions must be reported: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a money transfer and remittance agent or agency of USD5,000 or more;</li> <li>b) cambios and bureau de change of USD8,000 or more; and</li> <li>c) any other financial institution USD15,000 or more.</li> </ul> Transactions conducted by the Central Bank of Jamaica, a ministry, department or agency of government, a statutory body or authority, a company registered in which the Government or an agency of the government is in a position to influence the policy of the company, any embassy, high commission or consular office is exempt from the requirement. The duty to report extends beyond transactions being conducted with customers to transactions that another person has engaged in which may constitute money laundering. Section 101 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2007 requires banks to make a report where cash, which includes negotiable instruments, exceeds USD10,000 or the equivalent amount in any currency being taken in or out of Jamaica. Paragraph 102 of the Bank of Jamaica's AML/CFT Guidance Notes indicates that STRs should be filed in cases where the suspicion is that funds are being diverted to avoid the payment of taxes or to otherwise deprive the government of revenues. |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A21. | No, all suspicious transactions should be reported.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A22. | Section 94 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2007 criminalises the failure to make the requisite disclosure within the stipulated timeframe of 15 days. Failure to file suspicious transaction reports with the designated authority will attract up to one year imprisonment jail or JMD1m (approx. USD8,000) (Resident Magistrate, RM Court). Failure to file a threshold transaction report attracts a fine of up to JMD400,000 (approx. USD3,000) (RM Court). In respect to tipping off a company can be fined up to JMD600,000 (approx. USD5,000) (RM Court). Section 97 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2007 criminalises tipping off.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A24. | Yes, those making reports are required to adhere to the 'appropriate consent' procedure contained in section 91 and 99 of the Proceeds of Crime Act 2007.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No.                                                                                     |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls? |
| A26. | No.                                                                                                                                      |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of “personal data” cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of “sensitive data”? How it defined and what is are the additional protections? |
| A29. | Jamaica is in the process of amending its data protection laws.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                    |
| A30. | N/A, see A29.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                             |
| A31. | N/A, see A29.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | N/A, see A29.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Mexico

Key contacts: Martin Montealegre / Moisés Navarrete
Email: martin.montealegre@mx.pwc.com /
moises.navarrete@mx.pwc.com
Tel: +52 (55) 5263 5775 / +52 (55) 5263 6602

Postal address: Mariano Escobedo No. 573
Col. Rincón del Bosque
CP 11580, México D.F., México

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A1. | In 2004 the Financial Intelligence Unit ("FIU") was established to prevent and combat Anti-money Laundering / Terrorist Financing ("AML/TF"). There are different laws that apply to the financial sector and the issue dates of each General Regulation (or General Provisions) vary: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) in 2004 – General Regulation for Retirement Fund Management and Investment Companies;</li> <li>b) in 2006 – General Regulation for Savings and Popular Credit Institutions;</li> <li>c) in 2009 – General Regulation for Commercial Banks and Foreign Exchange Houses;</li> <li>d) in 2010 – General Regulation for Brokerage Houses;</li> <li>e) in 2011 – General Regulation for Microfinance institutions (SOFOL – Limited Purpose Financial Societies and SOFOM – Multiple Purpose Financial Societies), General Deposit Warehouses, Financial Leasing Companies, and Financial Factoring Companies;</li> <li>f) in 2012 – General Regulation for Foreign Exchange Centers, Money Transmitters, Insurance and Surety Companies, and Credit Unions; and</li> <li>g) in 2012 - AML/TF law designated to non-Financial Sector Businesses and Professions.</li> </ul> Most of these General Regulations undergo amendments over time. |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A2. | There are different standards for each type of financial institution. Some AML regulations became effective in the last two years, mainly to regulate the activity of the Societies for Saving and Loans, Investment Funds, Investment advisers and Entity of Saving and Popular Credits. The main change was the strengthening of KYC and the obligation of the annual audit.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A3. | In Mexico, various organisations regulate AML controls, depending on the type of financial institution. The principal is Secretaría de Hacienda y Crédito Público ("SHCP", Secretary of Finance and Public Credit (http://www.hacienda.gob.mx/LASHCP/MarcoJuridico/InteligenciaFinanciera/Paginas/leyes_reglamento.aspx) and receives the report of all the financial institutions through the next regulators: Regulator 1: Comisión Nacional Bancaria y de Valores ("CNBV", National Banking and Securities Commission (http://www.cnbv.gob.mx/PrevencionDeLavadoDeDinero/Paginas/default.aspx) regulates: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) commercial banks;</li> <li>b) development banking institutions;</li> <li>c) Limited Purpose Financial Society ("SOFOL");</li> <li>d) brokerage houses;</li> <li>e) societies managing mutual funds (Sociedades Operadoras de Sociedades de Inversión);</li> <li>f) distribution societies of mutual fund shares;</li> <li>g) financial lessor;</li> <li>h) financial factoring companies;</li> <li>i) general deposit warehouses;</li> <li>j) credit unions;</li> <li>k) societies for saving and loans;</li> <li>l) foreign exchange houses;</li> <li>m) Multiple Purpose Financial Society ("SOFOM");</li> <li>n) entity of saving and popular credits;</li> <li>o) foreign exchange centers; and</li> <li>p) money transmitters.</li> </ul> Regulator 2: Comisión Nacional de Seguros y Fianzas ("CNSF", National Insurance and Surety Institution (http://www.cnsf.gob.mx/Paginas/Home.aspx) regulates: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) insurance institutions; and</li> <li>b) surety institutions.</li> </ul> Regulator 3: Comisión Nacional de Sistemas de Ahorro para el Retiro ("CONSAR", National Retirement Savings System Commission (http://www.consar.gob.mx/) regulates: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) retirement fund managers.</li> </ul> Regulator 4: Servicio de Atención Tributaria ("SAT", Tax Customer Service (https://sppld.sat.gob.mx/pld/index.html) regulates Actividades vulnerables (Vulnerable Activities – regulation designated to non-Financial Businesses and Professions): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) contests, sweepstakes or gambling games;</li> <li>b) issuance and marketing of service cards, credit or prepaid cards and travellers checks;</li> <li>c) granting loans;</li> <li>d) buying and selling of precious metals and stones, jewellery, watches, and art;</li> <li>e) sale or lease of aircraft, marine or terrestrial vehicles;</li> <li>f) transfer or custody of money or securities;</li> <li>g) armour-plating services;</li> <li>h) professional service, in an independent manner, when preparing and performing on behalf of a third person any of the following operations;</li> <li>i) purchaser or seller of real estate;</li> <li>j) management of securities or assets;</li> <li>k) management of bank accounts, savings or assets; and</li> <li>l) constitution, de-merge, merge, operation and management of corporations:             <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. public notaries;</li> <li>b. forwarding agent;</li> <li>c. non Profit Organizations; and</li> <li>d. Leasing of real estate.</li> </ul> </li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A4. | The SHCP, via the Official Journal of the Federation, publishes practical guidance to firms regarding AML requirements and best practices for AML prevention. The SHCP has a section of FAQs aimed at fomenting a culture of AML prevention in financial institutions as well as non-financial institutions: http://www.shcp.gob.mx/INTELIGENCIA_FINANCIERA/Paginas/Preguntas_Frecuentes.aspx Taking into account that the prevention of crime starts with educating and diffusing a culture of prevention, the CNBV created the present section with the purpose of educating the public in a practical way, about different aspects related to AML/CFT: http://www.cnbv.gob.mx/PrevencionDelLavadoDeDinero/Paginas/Cultura-PLDFT.aspx In collaboration with the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network ("Fincen"), the CNBV established a guide of best practices for credit institutions seeking to open accounts or contracts with credit institutions established abroad, including those involving operations with US dollars in cash: https://www.fincen.gov/pdf/CNBV_Best_Practices_Spanish.pdf   |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A5. | The financial sector has historically applied KYC policies, but under an internal controls approach rather than for the purpose of anti-money laundering prevention.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A6. | There is no official risk approach model established by the authority, but the general provisions require the entity to integrate a model based on parameters which classifies their clients depending on the risk they represent, establishing at least two levels of risk: low and high risk customers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (of FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A7. | Mexico was initially evaluated by the Grupo de Accion Financiera ("GAFI") in 2008 (http://www.fatf-gafi.org/media/fatf/documents/reports/mer/MER%20Mexico%20ful.pdf), since then GAFI and Grupo de Accion Financiera de Sudamerica ("GAFISUD") have issued Interim follow up reports in 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012 and 2014, including: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Mutual Evaluation Report of Mexico by GAFI: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. 2008; and</li> <li>b. in February 2014, the FATF recognized that Mexico had made significant progress in addressing the deficiencies identified in its 2008 mutual evaluation report and could be removed from the regular follow-up process.</li> </ul> </li> <li>b) interim follow up reports by GAFI: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. October 2010;</li> <li>b. October 2011; and</li> <li>c. October 2012.</li> </ul> </li> <li>c) monitoring reports by GAFISUD: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. June 2009;</li> <li>b. December 2009;</li> <li>c. June 2010;</li> <li>d. December 2010;</li> <li>e. June 2011;</li> <li>f. December 2011; and</li> <li>g. June 2012.</li> </ul> </li> <li>d) IMF Assessment: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. November 2013.</li> </ul> </li> </ul> |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                             |
| A8. | Each of the different entities that are subject to AML general provisions as mentioned in A3 consider different transaction thresholds, depending on the type of products and services that they each provide. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A9. | Requirements for customer identification information may vary according to financial entities, but in general they include: Individuals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) full name;</li> <li>b) gender;</li> <li>c) federal entity of birth;</li> <li>d) date of birth;</li> <li>e) country of birth;</li> <li>f) nationality;</li> <li>g) employment information;</li> <li>h) address;</li> <li>i) telephone number;</li> <li>j) e-mail;</li> <li>k) Code of Taxpayer Registration (“RFC”); and</li> <li>l) serial number of Advanced Electronic Signature.</li> </ul> Corporations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) corporate name;</li> <li>b) economic activity or social activity;</li> <li>c) nationality;</li> <li>d) Code of Taxpayer Registration (“RFC”);</li> <li>e) serial number of Advanced Electronic Signature;</li> <li>f) address;</li> <li>g) telephone number;</li> <li>h) e-mail;</li> <li>i) date of constitution; and</li> <li>j) full name of the person empowered to enter into contracts.</li> </ul> Also copies of customer identification documents may vary according to financial entities, but in general they include: Individuals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) personal identification;</li> <li>b) Proof of the Single Key Population Registration (Constancia de la Clave Única de Registro de Población, “CURP”), document attesting the assignment of the tax identification number and / or equivalent issued by competent authority and Advanced Electronic Signature;</li> <li>c) proof of address;</li> <li>d) signed declaration stating that the person acting for this purpose in the name and for its own account or on behalf of a third part; and</li> <li>e) Power of Attorney if the individual acts as a proxy for someone.</li> </ul> Corporations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) testimony or certified copy of a public document proving their legal existence;</li> <li>b) document attesting the assignment of the tax identification number and / or equivalent issued by competent authority and Advanced Electronic Signature</li> <li>c) proof of address; and</li> <li>d) testimony or certified the instrument containing the powers of the legal representative and the personal identification of each of those representatives.</li> </ul> |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A10. | Copies of identification documentation are provided at the initial stage of the commercial relationship at the time the client file is created. There is no legal requirement regarding the authentication of identification documents. However, for the verification of documents, the regulation states that the staff of the entity must ensure that copies of the documents obtained are legible and compare them against the original document. Also, some institutions are implementing measures authenticity, some of which include black lights and special training for the detection of false identification. |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A11. | Requirements for the identification of the beneficiary may vary depending on the type of client and the institution that requires them, but in general they include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) full name;</li> <li>b) date of birth;</li> <li>c) proof of address;</li> <li>d) same documents required by client; and</li> <li>e) if a document presents scraps or has been repaired the entity should ask for this other information: two bank references or commercial references that contain the aforementioned data.</li> </ul>                                                                                  |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A12. | When the client is a company, department or entity regulated by the National Banking and Securities Commission and is considered as a low risk client.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced-customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A13. | Enhanced due diligence should be carried out when the customer is rated as a high risk. To determine the risk rating and whether they should be considered PEPs, each one of the entities must consider the background of the customer, their profession, activity or course of business, source and destination of the funds, customer residence and other circumstances determined by the institution.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons (‘PEPs’)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A14. | When the PEP has been rated as high risk or is foreign.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A15. | The regulation stipulates that for the provision of services to correspondent counterparts abroad, institutions must approve, at management level, the relationship that allows up such provision. They must obtain the following from its foreign counterparts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a certification by an independent auditor on anti lavada de dinero ("ALD", Anti-money laundering); and</li> <li>b) information that allows the institution to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. know the business to which these counterparties are engaged;</li> <li>b. evaluate the controls at their disposal, on ALD;</li> <li>c. determine whether these counterparties are supervised by a competent authority in the field of ALD; and</li> <li>d. determine whether they have good reputation.</li> </ul> </li> </ul> |

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes, according to AML General Provisions.                   |

|             |                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?       |
| A17. | Depending on the value of the transaction, some institutions require additional information to support that transaction. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website. |
| A18. | Reports are sent to the SHCP via the respective regulatory bodies of each entity (see A3).   |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                          |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 113,925 SARs (Source: UIF) GDP (in current prices):2014 – USD1,294,689.7m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD11.4m of GDP. |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A20. | According to the regulation entities must submit the following reports : <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) relevant transactions: cash transactions are made by a customer for more than the amount equivalent to USD10,000;</li> <li>b) unusual transactions: activities, conduct or behaviour of a customer who does not agree with history or activities known to the bank; and</li> <li>c) troubling internal operations: the activity, conduct or behaviour of any of the directors, officers, employees and agents of the entity that, by their nature, may contravene, violate or evade the application of the provisions of the regulation.</li> </ul> Also, for some financial entities, there are thresholds for cash transactions, international fund transfers and US dollar transactions above which a suspicious activity report must be filed                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q21. | Are there any minimum thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A21. | In most financial entities, there are thresholds for relevant operations, cash transaction, international fund transfers, and USD transactions, below which a suspicious activity report does not need to be filed.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A22. | Yes, according to AML General Provisions. There are different penalties depending on each case.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A23. | Entities must have automated systems which must have the following functions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) maintain and update data to allow consultation of the records;</li> <li>b) generate, encode, encrypt and securely transmit to the secretary, through the commission, information on significant transactions reports, unusual operations, and international transfers;</li> <li>c) classify types of operations or financial products offered by entities to their customers or users;</li> <li>d) detect and monitor the operations performed by a client or by the same user from those indicated;</li> <li>e) run warning systems that contribute to the detection and monitoring of suspicious activity analysis;</li> <li>f) group on a consolidated basis of the different contracts to the same client;</li> <li>g) maintain historical records of possible worrisome internal operations and unusual operations;</li> <li>h) serve as a means for the agency staff so they can report to internal areas that they determine, in a safe, confidential and auditable way;</li> <li>i) maintain security schemes of information processed; and</li> <li>j) run an alert system on operations that intend to carry out with people linked to terrorism or its financing, or other illegal activities.</li> </ul> |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A24. | Yes, according to AML General Provisions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A25. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A26. | Yes, according to AML General Provisions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) How frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                                              |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) auditors need to submit an annual report;</li> <li>b) auditors need to submit the report to the National Banking and Securities Commission; and</li> <li>c) no.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                        |
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul>                                   |
| A28. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes, a sample of KYC files is required according to AML General Provisions;</li> <li>b) yes, a sample test of SAR reports is required according to AML General Provisions; and</li> <li>c) yes, an examination of the risk assessment is required according to AML General Provisions.</li> </ul> |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                           |
| A29. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) a notice of privacy is signed by the customer to let the corporation use their personal data; and</li> <li>c) yes, some data is considered sensitive personal data such as that which can reveal aspects such as the origin racial or ethnic, health present and future, genetic information, religious, philosophical and moral beliefs, union membership, political opinions, and sexual preference.</li> </ul> |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A30. | There is no prohibition for data transfer as long as it is not specified in the notice of privacy.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                          |
| A31. | The Personal Data Protection Law is the only law that regulates the Personal data transfer; however other federal laws can impact to this law indirectly.                                                                                                                    |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                              |
| A32. | The “Financial Institution Law” (under article 117th that regulates the bank secrecy) protects the following data: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) bank deposits;</li> <li>b) bank operations;</li> <li>c) bank services; and</li> <li>d) loans.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Paraguay

Key contact: Rubén Taboada / Gastón Scotover /
Soledad Aguero
Email: ruben.taboada@py.pwc.com /
gaston.scotover@py.pwc.com / soledad.aguero@py.pwc.com
Tel: +595 21 418 8000

Postal address: General Díaz Nro. 521
Edificio Internacional Faro – Piso 6,
Asunción

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                    |
| A1. | 1997 and 2011.                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                             |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website       |
| A3. | Secretaría de Prevención de Lavado de Dinero ("SEPRELAD") (The Ministry for Anti Money Laundering): www.seprelad.gov.py/                                          |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available. |
| A4. | Resolution N° 349/2013 and N°411/2013.                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                               |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last 3 years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                     |
| A7. | During the year 2014, Paraguay received a visit from the International Monetary Fund ("IMF") (El Fondo Monetario Internacional ("FMI")) and the Inter-American Development Bank ("IDB") (Banco Interamericano de Desarrollo ("BID")) in order to evaluate the implementation of the Strategic Plan of SEPRELAD that was launched in 2013. |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place? |
| A8. | Yes. Due diligence procedures are not required on transactions below USD10,000.                                                                    |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A9. | The law and its procedures define minimum requirements to identify the following customers: Individuals: birth date; nationality; National Identification number (cédula de identidad) or passport number; Registro Unico de Contribuyente ("RUC") if applicable, which is the Taxpayers Identification Number; marital status and spouse's name (if applicable); home and business address; telephone number; profession; occupation; and commercial references. Legal entities: entity name; activity; Registro Unico de Contribuyente ("RUC"), which is the Taxpayers Identification Number; business address; telephone number; shareholders list; executives list; commercial references; and entity constitutive documents. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                          |
| A10. | According to law, financial institutions should always verify original identification documents. However, for legal entities, there are some documents that can be provided as copies, if those copies are certified by a notary public officer. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A11. | The following three situations require financial institutions to collect additional information about beneficial ownership: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) when the client informs the institution that the final beneficiary is another person or entity;</li> <li>b) when the financial institution has doubts about the final beneficiary; or</li> <li>c) when the customer engages in commercial, financial or industrial transactions in a location where they have no operations.</li> </ul> No requirements are established around verification of this data. |

|      |                                                                                                                                    |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                 |
| A12. | No specific procedures or guidance exists for this situation, only that documents are not required for operations below USD10,000. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A13. | Enhanced due diligence arrangements are required for transactions above the USD10,000 threshold.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons (‘PEPs’)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A14. | There are specific requirements to classify the customer as high risk. Its operations must be approved by the highest authority of institutions to establish due diligence procedures to apply, including spouses, relatives and relatives up to fourth degree of consanguinity or second degree of affinity. Non-profit organisations are also included.                                                                                           |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A15. | The correspondent must be approved by the highest authority of the institution; he/she must know the nature of the activities of the correspondent, and evaluate the policies and procedures to prevent money laundering and terrorist financing implemented by the correspondent. On account transfers through correspondents, have evidence that preventative measures have been implemented and due diligence procedures performed on transfers. |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A16. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A17. | The entity must develop policies and procedures relating to prevention to avoid the use of technological devices to perform operations related to Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing (“ML/TF”), as well as keeping up to date computer platforms.                                                                                                                                                                                             |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                         |
| A18. | The Secretaría de Prevención de Lavado de Dinero (“SEPRELAD”) (The Ministry for Anti-Money Laundering): www.seprelad.gov.py |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                              |
| A19. | Information on the volume of SARs is not publicly available.                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?           |
| A20. | Institutions must also report suspicious transactions, fund transfer operations to and from other countries (transfers, exchanges, cash, cheques or any other payment method), as well as physical remittance of money. |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                |
| A21. | Yes. Anything below USD10,000.                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                |
| A22. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                         |
| A23. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                              |
| A24. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                 |
| A25. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                           |
| A26. | Yes. Resolution N° 349/2013.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>            |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) once a year;</li> <li>b) SEPRELAD and the Central Bank of Paraguay; and</li> <li>c) no.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | The test involves checking the process followed by the bank regarding how it complies with the regulations, based on Know Your Customer/Client requirements. It is equivalent to the process performed in Uruguay.                                                                                 |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul> |
| A29. | Yes, Law N° 1682/01. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the law does not forbid the sharing of information for AML purposes, however the customer must give authorisation for the financial institution to report personal information;</li> <li>b) as per a) above; and</li> <li>c) no.</li> </ul>                                                                                                  |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A30. | Refer to A29.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                             |
| A31. | Refer to A29.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | Yes. Law N° 861/96, for Banks, Financial Institutions, and other Governmental Entities.                                                                                                                                                         |

At PwC United Kingdom, our purpose is to build trust in society and solve important problems. We're a network of firms in 157 countries with more than 208,000 people who are committed to delivering quality in assurance, advisory and tax services. Find out more and tell us what matters to you by visiting us at www.pwc.com/UK.

This publication has been prepared for general guidance on matters of interest only, and does not constitute professional advice. You should not act upon the information contained in this publication without obtaining specific professional advice. No representation or warranty (express or implied) is given as to the accuracy or completeness of the information contained in this publication, and, to the extent permitted by law, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, its members, employees and agents do not accept or assume any liability, responsibility or duty of care for any consequences of you or anyone else acting, or refraining to act, in reliance on the information contained in this publication or for any decision based on it.

© 2016 PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. All rights reserved. In this document, "PwC" refers to the UK member firm, and may sometimes refer to the PwC network. Each member firm is a separate legal entity. Please see www.pwc.com/structure for further details.

151103-144408-LA-OS

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Peru

Key contact: Nancy Yong / Guillermo Zapata
Email: nancy.yong@pe.pwc.com / guillermo.zapata@pe.pwc.com
Tel: +(511) 211 6500 Ext. 2029 / +(511) 211 6500 Ext. 8043

Postal address: Av. Santo Toribio 143,
Piso 2, San Isidro, Lima 27,
Perú

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A1. | AML legislation was included in the Peruvian Criminal Code, article 293 B, by Legislative Decree 736 in 1991. However, in 2002 the following regulations became effective: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) The Law 27765, Anti-Money Laundering Criminal Law, which replaced the AML regulation on Peruvian Criminal Law. This law was not enforced until Apr 2012; and</li> <li>b) The Law 27693, Law that creates the Peruvian Financial Intelligence Unit (AML supervisor, its acronym in Spanish is 'UIF-Peru'). This law has subsequently been modified by Law 28009 and 28306.</li> </ul> The Supreme Decree 163-2002-EF, Rules of the UIF-Peru, which was modified by Supreme Decree 018-2006-JUS in 2006. In 2008, Peru issued SBS Resolution 838-2008 which established complementary regulation to entities under the scope of the Superintendencia de Banca y Seguros ("SBS"). Note that in Apr 2012, Peru enforced the Legislative Decree 1106, Law against Money Laundering, Illegal Mining and Organized Crime. In the same way, on Oct 2014, Peru enforced the SBS Resolution 6729-2014 that expands the list of the parties legally bound to report to the UIF-Peru. adding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) individual or legal entities engaged in sale or rental of machinery and equipment;</li> <li>b) legal entities that distribute, transport, and / or sell chemical inputs that can be used in illegal mining; and</li> <li>c) laboratories and companies that produce and / or sell chemical inputs and have their assets audited.</li> </ul> In 2015 Peru enforced SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015 which repeals SBS Resolution 838-2008. This new Resolution implements the integral risk management system (under COSO methodology) for enterprises under the supervision of the SBS. Please note that this Resolution is applicable to all banking and financial institutions under the scope of the SBS. Note: We are quoting Peru's most relevant anti-money laundering legislation. |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A2. | The previous AML regime only considered a Money Laundering Crime where the money was obtained by drug trafficking, terrorism, abduction or human trafficking.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A3. | All banking and financial services are supervised by the Superintendencia de Banca y Seguros. The UIF is in charge of supervising the non-financial sector. Please note that depending on the particular sector of a company, a ministry might be in charge of supervising its activities. The link of the regulator is the following one: http://www.sbs.gob.pe/                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A4. | SBS Training: http://www.sbs.gob.pe/0/modulos/JER/JER_Interna.aspx?ARE=0&amp;PFL=2&amp;JER=464                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A5. | Legislative Decree 1106 includes additional control mechanisms related to criminal law. The requirement is to verify the identity of customers who are regulated on Supreme Decree 018-2006-JUS. Before the new AML regime was introduced, SBS Resolution 838-2008 established a series of requirements that entities subject to supervision by the SBS should fulfil upon identifying a customer, being the customer a natural person or a legal entity. The Resolution also established a series of private and public documents that were to be requested before the establishment of a commercial relationship. The requested documentation was to be kept up to date. Similar measures were imposed to companies outside the financial and banking system. For more information, please visit: http://www.sbs.gob.pe/repositorioaps/0/2/jer/nac1_seguntiponormasnaciresoluciones/resoluciones/Resoluci%C3%B3n%20SBS%20N%C2%BA%20838-2008.pdf |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A6. | Yes. As stated in A1, SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015, Rulebook for asset laundering and terrorism financing risk management was issued by the SBS. The aforementioned Rulebook establishes a series of procedures to identify, prevent, evaluate and manage risks related to asset laundering and terrorism financing in business subject to supervision by the local authorities. This Rulebook stipulates that supervised entities should have specific manuals, offer training and implement procedures related to risk management of asset laundering and terrorism financing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A7. | Last Mutual Report FATF/GAFI was executed in Jul 2005: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/n-r/peru/                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A8. | SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015 states that supervised entities within the scope of the SBS shall register the following operations: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) customers' operations worth at least USD10,000 and above (or its equivalent in PEN);</li> <li>b) fund transfers worth at least USD2,500 and above (or its equivalent in PEN). Transfers linked to private pension funds do not need to be reported;</li> <li>c) customers' operations in not-authorized credit and savings cooperatives worth at least USD5,000 and above (or its equivalent in PEN);</li> <li>d) in case of insurance policy: i) Life insurance with an annual premium worth USD1,000 and above (or its equivalent in PEN); life insurance single with a single premium worth USD2,500 and above (or its equivalent in PEN), ii) Other kind of insurance with and annual premium worth USD10,000 (or its equivalent in PEN) and above; and</li> <li>e) credit warrants worth USD2,500 and above (or its equivalent in PEN).</li> </ul> Foreign currency exchange worth USD5,000 and above (or its equivalent in PEN). SBS Resolution N° 486-2008 states that supervised entities that are not subject to supervision by a public body should keep a registry of customers who make single transactions worth USD10,000 or more and those who make multiple transactions worth USD50,000 or more within a month. This Resolution is applicable to all entities outside the scope of the SBS. The most relevant regulation for financial and non-financial services are the following. For more information visit: http://www.sbs.gob.pe/                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A9. | Individuals: Complete name and surname, birth date, identification document, profession or occupation and domicile. Legal entities: Name, taxpayer registration number, purpose and legal representative information (complete name and surname, birth date, identification document, profession or occupation and domicile). SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015 states that supervised companies should request and record the following information from their individual customers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) first and middle names, surname and mother's maiden name;</li> <li>b) identification document number and type;</li> <li>c) nationality and residence;</li> <li>d) address;</li> <li>e) phone number and email address;</li> <li>f) purpose of the relationship to be established with the enterprise;</li> <li>g) occupation or profession and workplace;</li> <li>h) in case of a politically exposed person (PEP), name of the institution, public body or international organization and post; and</li> <li>i) identity of legal representatives and holders of power of attorney. The information should include that requested in the previous points. An identification document is also required.</li> </ul> The aforementioned Resolution states that supervised companies should request and record the following information from their institutional customers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name;</li> <li>b) taxpayer number;</li> <li>c) corporate objective;</li> <li>d) identity of shareholders and associates who own more than 25 percent of the company's capital, providing all the information requested from customers who are legal entities;</li> <li>e) purpose of the relationship to be established with the enterprise;</li> <li>f) legal persons linked to the customer and to its economical group; and</li> <li>g) main office address and phone number.</li> </ul> |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A10. | According to article 30.5 of SBS Resolution 2660-2015, supervised companies must execute information verification procedures, such as home inspections, personal interviews, and internal procedures approved by supervised companies. The verification should state the location, date and procedures employed by the company. This verification should be registered in the natural person or legal entity's personal file. Note: Non-financial or banking institutions have similar verification duties imposed by legislation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A11. | They are the same high level requirements mentioned in A10.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A12. | SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015 establishes that companies will be allowed to employ reduced due diligence arrangements when its LA/FT risk level allows it in accordance to the Superintendence's regulations. Minimal information to be obtained from natural person customers is as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) first and middle names, surname and mother's maiden name;</li> <li>b) identification document number and type; and</li> <li>c) address.</li> </ul> The following information should be required from legal entities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name;</li> <li>b) taxpayer number;</li> <li>c) identity of legal representatives (whole names and surnames); and</li> <li>d) main office address and phone number.</li> </ul> In order to identify a customer, an identification document should be provided in case of natural persons. Legal entities will provide public documentation that confirms their existence and contain their names, having to provide at least their constitutive documents. Note: For non-financial or banking institutions the due diligence arrangements are not as detailed as those mentioned above. Regulation let's each company establish its own verification methods. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customers due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A13. | SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015 establishes that companies will have to employ enhanced due diligence procedures to identify their customers when the following conditions apply to a customer: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) non-resident nationals or foreigners;</li> <li>b) legal entities from overseas;</li> <li>c) trust funds;</li> <li>d) non-profit organizations. A non-profit organization is that which collect and use funds with charitable, religious, cultural, educational, social or fraternal purposes;</li> <li>e) politically exposed people ("PEP"). Companies should reinforce their customer identification procedures when one of their customers becomes a PEP after commercial relations have been established;</li> <li>f) people identified as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. PEP relatives up to the second degree of consanguinity and second degree of affinity; and</li> <li>b. PEP's spouse or partner.</li> </ul> </li> <li>g) legal entity in which a PEP owns 25 percent or more of its shares;</li> <li>h) associates, shareholders or similar and managers of a legal entity in which a PEP owns 25 percent or more of its shares;</li> <li>i) natural persons or legal entities who receive money transfers from countries that do not cooperate with the International Financial Action Group – GAFI, countries with risks related to LA/FT, countries with minimal banking supervision or countries subject to sanctions from the Office of Foreign Assets Control – OFAC;</li> <li>j) natural persons or legal entities under investigation by competent authorities for asset laundering, previous offenses and/or terrorism financing;</li> <li>k) those linked to natural persons or legal entities under investigation or on trial for asset laundering, previous offenses and/or terrorism financing</li> <li>l) dedicated to correspondence services with foreign companies constituted in countries with minimal or no taxation in accordance to the tax office's dispositions, or countries with no banking regulation or supervision; and</li> <li>m) other cases identified by companies.</li> </ul> Note: For non-financial or banking institutions the regulation and due diligence arrangements are not as detailed as those mentioned before. The regulation lets each company establish its own verification methods. |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A14. | SBS Resolution N° 2660-2015 states that being a PEP is reason enough to require special information from them. It should be requested from PEPs the names of their relatives up to the second degree of consanguinity and second degree of affinity and it should be requested the legal entities' names in which they own 25 percent or more of its shares or capital. Note: For non-financial or banking institutions the regulation the due diligence arrangements are not as detailed as those mentioned before. The regulation let's each company establish its own verification methods.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A15. | SBS Resolution 2660-2015 does not enforce enhanced due diligence upon relationships with cross-border banking and similar operations. However, it requires banks from overseas to comply with Peruvian LA/FT regulation, granting them a thirty day period starting the day legislation was issued in the country where the bank was constituted to issue a report to the Superintendence regarding: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) existing limitations; and</li> <li>b) measures to adopt to manage LA/FT-related risks.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A16. | See A15. There are no prohibitions or restrictions to relationships with shell banks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                       |
| A17. | There are no additional due diligence requirements for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships. All transactions are subject to the same controls and assessments regardless of their nature. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website. |
| A18. | UIF-Peru of the SBS: http://www.sbs.gob.pe               |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:Jan to Sept of 2015 - 5,024 SARs (Source: http://www.sbs.gob.pe/repositorioaps/0/2/er/esta_transparenciaoperativa/20151029_BolEst_Septiembre2015.pdf) Comparative GDP data is not available for this specific period. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | Article 9 of Law 27693 stipulates the operations to be reported according to the amounts mentioned in A8. Moreover, article 11 of Law 27693, defines unusual and suspicious transactions.                     |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A21. | Yes. Please refer to A8 for a complete list of thresholds to be taken into account when evaluating financial transactions. Nevertheless, in case the transaction is assessed as a suspicious or unusual one by the company's Compliance Officer, it must be reported regardless of the transaction's worth. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                |
| A22. | Penalties for not complying with Law 29038 requirements are detailed on SBS Resolution 8930-2012, SBS Resolution 7314-2013 and SBS Resolution 5389-2013 |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                              |
| A23. | Article 1 of SBS Resolution 9810-2011, stipulates that regulated entities are requested to use automated Suspicious Transaction Monitoring Technology (its acronym in Spanish is "ROSEL") to report suspicious transactions. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                         |
| A24. | There are no limitations related to this aspect. Once the transaction is executed, the supervised entity must report the operation and the customers' information. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                             |
| A25. | There is no local regulation related to this matter. However, due to several international agreements, the UIF can share information with its foreign counterparts. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A26. | According to SBS Resolution 17026 -2010, article 9 and 12, the external report on the bank's AML must comply with the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the auditors shall submit the conclusions of report on the bank's AML systems directly to the SBS, it may request a copy of the report from the audit firm or the Bank; and</li> <li>b) the report shall be made by a different auditing firm or a completely different team from that issued the opinion on the fairness of the financial statements.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                                                                                               |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a report should be issued on a yearly basis, as it is mentioned in article 24 of SBS Resolution N° 17026 -2010;</li> <li>b) the report is submitted to the bank and the conclusions of the report are presented to the SBS, as it is required by article 9 of SBS Resolution N° 17026 -2010; and</li> <li>c) no, please see A26.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes. Article 25 (c) and (d) of SBS Resolution N° 17026 -2010;</li> <li>b) yes. Article 25 (e) and (f) of SBS Resolution N° 17026 -2010; and</li> <li>c) there is no local regulation related to this matter.</li> </ul>                                  |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A29. | a) yes. In order to perform such evaluation, it is necessary to make use of personal data which is regulated by Law 29733, Personal Data Protection Law;b) personal Data Protection Law applies only to personal information of individuals. Corporate data is regulated according to stock market legislation for listed companies. In that sense corporate data is classified information. Besides there is regulation regarding intellectual property (patents, trademarks and others) that protect corporate data; andc) according to Article 3 of Law 29733, Personal Data Protection Law, "sensitive data" has a separate definition to "personal data". Sensitive data is defined as personal data consisting of biometric data, data concerning racial and ethnic origin; political, religious, philosophical or moral opinions or convictions, personal habits, union membership, and information related to health or sexual life. Article 2 of Law 29733. In order to obtain sensitive data from individuals, their consent must be obtained through written means which guarantees an unequivocal consent. Sensitive data require higher security measures such as data encryption, special storage, limited access for authorized users of the companies and secure destruction such as the use of paper shredders. |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A30. | In general, according to Law 29733 (Art.3) and its Regulation (Art.19), there is no prohibition for the transfer of personal data. To transfer data into or out of the country requires the individual's consent and the non-binding opinion of the local authority of Personal Data Protection.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A31. | The following is the legislation related to information transfer:a) Political Constitution of Peru 1993, article 2. 6;b) Personal Data Protection Act, Law 29733;c) Rules of Personal Data Protection Act, Supreme Decree 003-2013-JUS; andd) Law of Transparency and Access to Public Information, Law 27806.These legal regulations don't establish any barriers to information transfer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A32. | The General Law of the Financial and Insurance Systems and Organic Law, Ley 26702, article 140, which regulates banking secrecy, forbids financial companies and their directors and employees to provide any information on debit transactions with their customers. Also, Peruvian law requires other data referred to confidential information, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Reserve Tax. Article 85 of the Peruvian Tax Code, Supreme Decree 133-2013-EF; and</li> <li>b) Market Reserve. Article 45 of the Peruvian Securities Market Act, Supreme Decree 093-2002-EF.</li> </ul> Please be advised that every professional association such as that of lawyers, engineers and doctors establish within their code of conduct a requirement of confidentiality regarding the services executed by the members of each association. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Uruguay

Key contact: Dannys Correa
Email: dannys.correa@uy.pwc.com
Tel: +598 29160463 ext. 1377/1373

Postal address: Cerrito 461, 2nd Floor,
Montevideo 11000,
Uruguay

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A1. | a) 2009 – Law No. 18.494 – introduced several modifications to Law 17.835; b) 2004 – Law No. 17.835 – system controls and prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorism; and c) 1998 – Law No. 17.016 – standards with regard to the misuse of public power (corruption). Previously, Uruguayan AML Laws focused on the illicit traffic of narcotic drugs but have been gradually extended to other crimes.                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A3. | Uruguayan Central Bank ("UCB"): http://www.bcu.gub.uy/ Internal Audit of the Nation: http://www.ain.gub.uy/                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A4. | Yes, the Unit of Financial Information and Analysis ("UIAF") of the UCB has issued guidance with regard to suspicious or unusual transactions in order to assist the parties required to report these transactions in the detection of unusual or suspicious patterns in customer behaviour. Although the published guidelines are not exhaustive, they constitute a collection of types or patterns of transactions that could be linked to money laundering operations from criminal activities or terrorist financing: http://www.bcu.gub.uy/ |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A5. | Yes, the UCB, supervisor of the financial system, established the requirement to periodically update information on existing clients, especially in the case of high risk customers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A6. | Yes, the UCB has established that the supervision process must be proactive and integrity orientated, focused on risks and performed on a consolidated basis. The Corporate Governance and Internal Control System Regulations which are in force (UCB Circular 1987) establish that institutions must have a risk framework according to the nature, size and complexity of their transactions. An AML framework is specifically required. |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available). |
| A7. | The country has not been subject to review in the last three years. The UIAF participate in Grupo de Acción Financiera de Sudamérica (“GAFISUD”) and in the Egmont Group.                                 |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place? |
| A8. | Yes, customer due diligence is not required on transactions below USD3,000 with occasional customers.                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A9.  | The institutions must identify their customers in compliance with the UCB requirements when they open accounts or when they process transactions, with the exception of transactions with occasional customers below USD3,000. The UCB regulations establish the minimum identification requirements for individuals and legal entities. Individuals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name and surname;</li> <li>b) date and place of birth;</li> <li>c) identification document;</li> <li>d) marital status;</li> <li>e) address and telephone number;</li> <li>f) main activity or occupation; and</li> <li>g) volume of income (salary and other earnings).</li> </ul> It should be ascertained whether the customer is acting on their own or on behalf of a third party. In the latter case, the ultimate beneficiary should be identified. The same information should be obtained on all owners, agents, representatives and those authorised to operate on behalf of individual clients. It should be ascertained whether the information on level of incomes of these customers constitutes the source of income of the account. Legal Entities: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) company name;</li> <li>b) established date;</li> <li>c) address and telephone number;</li> <li>d) tax identification number;</li> <li>e) bylaws and other information on the entity as registry number etc.;</li> <li>f) main activity;</li> <li>g) volume of income (on financial statements); and</li> <li>h) shareholders and ultimate beneficial owners.</li> </ul> The above mentioned data required for individuals must be obtained for those listed as corporate managers and representatives, agents and those authorised to act on the company's behalf. It should be ascertained whether the information on level of incomes of these customers constitutes the source of income of the account. |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A10. | Notary certification and signature verification are required to certify the validity of the documents provided. Each institution also has its own policies and procedures to verify the documents and its copies.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A11. | Financial institutions must implement procedures in order to identify the ultimate beneficial owner of each transaction, verify their identity and register their names.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A12. | Reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements are available to 'occasional customers'. The UCB regulation defines 'occasional customers' as those who do not demand transactions on a permanent basis and whose total amount of transactions with the institution is less than USD30,000 on an annual basis.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A13. | Enhanced customer due diligence measures are required for 'permanent customers'. Institutions must analyse each customer and classify them according to their activity, residence and risk profile. Institutions must obtain, evaluate and register additional information about the financial situation, in order to justify the customer's transactions and the origin of funds for those customers classified as high risk and those with transactions over a certain limit.                                                                                                              |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A14. | Financial institutions should apply additional due diligence procedures in the case of PEPs, their relatives and their associates. Financial institutions should: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) rely on procedures that allow them to determine whether a client is a PEP;</li> <li>b) get senior management approval upon establishing a new relationship with this type of client;</li> <li>c) take reasonable measures in order to determine the origin of the funds; and</li> <li>d) carry out a special and permanent assessment of the customer's transactions.</li> </ul> |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A15. | For correspondent banking relationships, local institutions must obtain the following information in relation to foreign institutions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the nature of their business;</li> <li>b) management details;</li> <li>c) reputation;</li> <li>d) principal activities and location of the premises;</li> <li>e) account purpose;</li> <li>f) regulation and supervision in their country;</li> <li>g) political context; and</li> <li>h) procedures applied in order to prevent being used for laundering of assets or financing of terrorism.</li> </ul>  |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A16. | Yes, it is not permitted to perform any type of business with financial institutions established in jurisdictions that do not require physical presence. It is also not permitted to establish a relationship with foreign institutions which allow shell banks to open accounts.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A17. | Financial institutions must implement special procedures to verify the relevant identity and to control non face-to-face transactions such as non-resident or e-banking transactions.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

| Reporting   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A18. | Reports are made to the UIAF, which was established by Resolution of the Board of Uruguayan Central Bank: http://www.bcu.gub.uy/                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2013 – 275 SARs (Uruguayan Central Bank) GDP (in current prices):2013 – USD55,700m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD202,59m of GDP                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A20. | By the above mentioned Circular No. 1722 of UCB dated 21 Dec 2000, transactions considered suspicious can be conducted on a periodic basis or isolated, and that according to the customs of the activity concerned, are unusual, with no apparent economic or legal justification, or of unusual or unjustified complexity. Subjects required to report must immediately inform the UIAF regarding transactions covered by this where there is evidence or suspicion of involvement in the legitimisation of assets derived from criminal activities. In addition, financial intermediation institutions must notify the UCB and provide information regarding physical or legal persons carrying out the following transactions: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>operations consisting of coins, currency conversion, foreign cheques, precious metals, bank deposits, shares or other securities which are easy to redeem, for amounts in excess of USD10,000 or its equivalent in other currencies;</li> <li>receiving and sending of money orders and transfers (including international transfers) for amounts in excess of USD1,000 or its equivalent in other currencies, regardless of the mode of operation used for execution. Transfers and money orders are exempted from the obligation to be reported if they are made between bank accounts in cases where both the account of origin and destination are based in local financial intermediaries; and</li> <li>purchase or sale, exchange or arbitration of foreign currency or precious metals for an amount over USD10,000 or its equivalent in other currencies, where the counterpart is made in cash.</li> </ol> |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A21. | See A20 above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off? |
| A22. | Yes, fines and penalties from Uruguayan Central Bank and National Internal Audit Office. |

|             |                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology? |
| A23. | Yes.                                                                                                            |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                         |
| A24. | After a certain time, if there is no response from UCB regarding the reported transaction, the institution should consider if it is appropriate to proceed with the transaction with the customer. |

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No.                                                                                     |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A26. | The Communication 2010/254 issued by the CBU on 21 Dec 2010 defined that banks must have an audit report referring to the consideration of reasonable assurance regarding the design and operations of policies, procedures and monitoring mechanisms adopted to prevent the bank from being used for money laundering and terrorist financing. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | a) annually;b) directors and shareholders of the Bank; andc) no.                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A28. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) yes; and</li> <li>c) yes.</li> </ul> The procedures to be performed include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) inquiry corroborating the description of policies, procedures and control mechanisms established by the Bank; and</li> <li>b) verification that the policies, procedures and control mechanisms are in accordance with the provisions of the regulation and its effective implementation by the auditor's judgment samples.</li> </ul> |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul> |
| A29. | In Uruguay there is a specific data protection Law (No. 18331). The definition of "personal data" is included in it. The Law is applicable to corporate data as well. The country has a separate definition of "sensitive data", defined as: the data and personal information referring to origin, ethnic, politic, religion, health and sexual life and preference.                                       |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A30. | The response is affirmative; there are credit reports, banking information, and criminal information (only local Authorities and Interpol) that are prohibited from being transferred. Medical information is protected by secrecy.                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A31. | Yes, the international transfer of data is regulated by Law and limited upon requirements (e.g. consent, adequate protection, International law regulation, etc.) and it is controlled by the public authorities.                                                                                                                                                                                           |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | In Uruguay there are secrecy regulation laws, such as banking secrecy, professional secrecy, court data, and other specific regulations.                                                                                                        |

At PwC United Kingdom, our purpose is to build trust in society and solve important problems. We're a network of firms in 157 countries with more than 208,000 people who are committed to delivering quality in assurance, advisory and tax services. Find out more and tell us what matters to you by visiting us at www.pwc.com/UK.

This publication has been prepared for general guidance on matters of interest only, and does not constitute professional advice. You should not act upon the information contained in this publication without obtaining specific professional advice. No representation or warranty (express or implied) is given as to the accuracy or completeness of the information contained in this publication, and, to the extent permitted by law, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, its members, employees and agents do not accept or assume any liability, responsibility or duty of care for any consequences of you or anyone else acting, or refraining to act, in reliance on the information contained in this publication or for any decision based on it.

© 2016 PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. All rights reserved. In this document, "PwC" refers to the UK member firm, and may sometimes refer to the PwC network. Each member firm is a separate legal entity. Please see www.pwc.com/structure for further details.

151103-144408-LA-OS

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

United States of America

Key contact: Jeff Lavine
Email: jeff.lavine@pwc.com
Tel: +1 (703) 918-1379

Postal address: 1800 Tysons Boulevard McLean,
VA 22102-4261,
USA

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A1. | In 1970 the United States Congress passed the Currency and Foreign Transactions Reporting Act, commonly known as the Bank Secrecy Act ("BSA"). The BSA established specific requirements for record keeping and reporting by private individuals, banks and other financial institutions. Since the passing of the BSA, several other laws have enhanced and amended the BSA to provide additional tools to combat money laundering. The key laws are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Money Laundering Control Act (1986);</li> <li>b) Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1988;</li> <li>c) Annunzio-Wylie Anti-Money Laundering Act (1992);</li> <li>d) Money Laundering Suppression Act (1994);</li> <li>e) Money Laundering and Financial Crimes Strategy Act (1998);</li> <li>f) Uniting and Strengthening America by Providing Appropriate Tools to Restrict, Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism Act of 2001 (USA PATRIOT Act);</li> <li>g) Intelligence Reform &amp; Terrorism Prevention Act of 2004;</li> <li>h) Comprehensive Iran Sanctions, Accountability, and Divestment Act of 2010 ("CISADA"); and</li> <li>i) Iran Threat Reduction and Syria Human Rights Act of 2012.</li> </ul> The USA PATRIOT Act of 2001 is the most significant of the enhancements and amendments to the BSA. Section 312 of the USA PATRIOT Act (formerly known as special due diligence for correspondent accounts and private banking accounts) in particular, requires US financial institutions to obtain beneficial ownership/enhanced due diligence ("EDD") information in certain situations as delineated under §312 for US correspondent accounts held by certain foreign financial institutions, and private banking accounts held by foreign persons (including politically exposed persons).                                                                                                           |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A2. | The BSA laws and regulations have not changed dramatically within the past two years. Recently, however there has been a change related to sanctions. The Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action ("JCPOA"), an international agreement, is arguably the most recent significant event to impact the US sanctions environment. It should be noted, however, that the economic landscape for US companies and their foreign subsidiaries or affiliates will experience little to no change as a result of the JCPOA terms. The vast majority of US sanction relief provided by the JCPOA is only applicable to non-US companies and financial institutions, and specified foreign governments. Sanctions relief provided by the JCPOA will only target specified key industries / areas. Additionally on 25 Aug 2015 the Financial Crimes Enforcement Network ("FinCEN") published a notice of proposed rulemaking ("NPRM") to impose AML programs and additional reporting requirements on investment advisers registered with the US Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC"). If adopted, the proposal would require registered investment advisers to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) develop and maintain written AML programs reasonably designed to prevent money laundering and terrorist financing and to achieve compliance with the BSA;</li> <li>b) include registered investment advisers within the meaning of "financial institutions" for purposes of the BSA's implementing regulations and impose specific reporting requirements;</li> <li>c) require that registered Investment Advisers monitor for suspicious activity and file SARs with FinCEN; and</li> <li>d) delegate examination authority for compliance to the SEC (http://www.gpo.gov/fdsys/pkg/FR-2015-09-01/pdf/2015-21318.pdf).</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) banking; (b) other financial Services; (c) non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.)? Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A3. | Authority to assess penalties for violations of US AML rules and regulations rests with the Secretary of the Treasury, primarily delegated to the FinCEN: (http://www.fincen.gov). Further reliance is placed on US Federal Regulators and Self-Regulatory Organizations ("SROs"), largely used in the US securities industry. Additionally, the Department of Justice ("DoJ") can bring criminal, civil and forfeiture actions: (http://www.justice.gov). Lastly, individual states can choose to have their own regulatory bodies with jurisdiction to enforce state banking laws and levy civil penalties (e.g., New York Department of Financial Services ("NYDFS"): (http://www.dfs.ny.gov)) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) banking: depending upon the type of banking charter an institution has, and its membership in the Federal Reserve System, a bank's federal regulator will be one of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System ("FRB") (http://www.federalreserve.gov);</li> <li>b. Office of the Comptroller of the Currency ("OCC") (http://www.occ.gov); and</li> <li>c. Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation ("FDIC") (http://www.fdic.gov)</li> </ul> </li> <li>b) other financial services: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. credit unions: National Credit Union Administration ("NCUA") (http://www.ncua.gov/Pages/default.aspx);</li> <li>b. broker dealers: US Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") (http://www.sec.gov); Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") (http://www.finra.org); and New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE"), which is a SRO for exchange members (http://www.nyse.com);</li> <li>c. registered mutual funds: SEC (http://www.sec.gov);</li> <li>d. commodity and futures firms: US Commodities Futures Trading Commission ("CFTC") (http://www.cftc.gov/index.htm) and the National Futures Association ("NFA") (http://www.nfa.futures.org);</li> <li>e. Money Services Businesses ("MSB"): FinCEN (http://www.fincen.gov) and the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") (http://www.irs.gov);</li> <li>f. insurance companies: FinCEN and IRS;</li> <li>g. non-bank residential mortgage lenders and originators as loan or finance companies: IRS (http://www.irs.gov); and</li> <li>h. consumer protection for financial products and services: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau ("CFPB") (http://www.consumerfinance.gov)</li> </ul> </li> <li>c) non-financial sector: FinCEN and/or IRS also cover the following sectors: casinos; mortgage companies and brokers; and precious metals/jewellery.</li> </ul> |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A4. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) banking: Federal Financial Institutions Examination Council ("FFIEC") (http://www.ffiec.gov/bsa_aml_infobase/default.htm); FRB's Supervision and Regulation Letters ("SR Letters"): (http://www.federalreserve.gov/bankinforeg/srletters/srletters.htm); and the FFIEC's information technology examination handbook (IT handbook) (http://ithandbook.ffiec.gov/it-booklets.aspx) (note: The FFIEC manual was updated on 17 Nov 2014 for the first time since 2010 – which indicates that 2015 regulatory exams in the US will follow the updated BSA/AML requirements delineated in the new FFIEC guidance manual);</li> <li>b) MSBs: FinCEN's BSA/AML Examination Manual for Money Services Businesses (http://www.fincen.gov/news_room/rp/files/MSB_Exam_Manual.pdf);</li> <li>c) broker dealers: SEC's AML source tool for broker-dealers (http://www.sec.gov/about/offices/ocie/amlsourcetool.htm and http://www.finra.org/Industry/Issues/AML);</li> <li>d) registered mutual funds: SEC's AML source tool for mutual funds (http://www.sec.gov/about/offices/ocie/amlmfsourcetool.htm); and</li> <li>e) commodity and futures firms (http://www.cftc.gov/IndustryOversight/AntiMoneyLaundering/index.htm) and (http://www.nfa.futures.org/NFA-compliance/NFA-futures-commission-merchants/anti-money-laundering.HTML).</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A5. | Section 326 of the USA Patriot Act requires banks, savings associations, credit unions and certain non-federally regulated banks ("banks") to have a Customer Identification Program ("CIP"). Broker-dealers in securities are subject to similar regulations. In January 2004, FinCEN published Guidance on the CIP regulations that clarify that the CIP rule applies for customers that establish new accounts after 1 Oct 2003 and do not apply retrospectively unless the bank establishing a new relationship does not have a reasonable belief that it knows the true identity of the customer: http://www.fincen.gov/statutes_regs/guidance/pdf/finalciprule.pdf                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A6. | Yes. A risk based approach to AML is expected by U.S. regulators. BSA/AML U.S. regulatory guidance is provided in the FFIEC BSA/AML Examination Manual (December 2014): http://www.ffiec.gov/bsa_aml_infobase/documents/BSA_AML_Man_2014.pdf                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A7. | FATF announced the start of the 4th round of peer reviews / mutual evaluations of each member country's AML / CTF regime to determine compliance with FATF Recommendations (2012) and the methodology for assessing compliance with the FATF Recommendations and the Effectiveness of AML / CFT Systems (2013). The 4th Round of Mutual Evaluations for the US is tentatively scheduled to take place in February / March 2016 with possible plenary discussions in October 2016: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/u-z/unitedstates and http://www.fatf-gafi.org/media/fatf/documents/assessments/Global-assessment-calendar.pdf |

Customer Due Diligence

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A8. | No. Basic CIP information and customer due diligence ("CDD") is required for all accounts / customers regardless of activity level or transaction amounts. Specific CDD and EDD requirements can vary based on an institution's unique risks and internal policy requirements.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A9. | Section 326 of the USA PATRIOT Act requires any financial institution engaged in financial activities to establish a written, board approved CIP to collect and verify identifying information about each prospective customer. The CIP must include risk-based procedures to verify the identity of each prospective customer to the extent reasonable and practicable. The information must be sufficient to enable the institution to form a reasonable belief that it knows the true identity of each customer. At a minimum, the following must be obtained and verified: Individuals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name;</li> <li>b) date of birth;</li> <li>c) residential or business address (an army or fleet post office box number or residential address of next of kin may be substituted); and</li> <li>d) identification number (can be determined by the institution, but should typically be a Taxpayer Identification Number ("TIN") for both individuals and entities (e.g., social security number or employer identification number).</li> </ul> Entities (non-individual): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) name;</li> <li>b) principal place of business; office location; or other physical location of operations / presence; and</li> <li>c) identification number.</li> </ul> There are two noteworthy exceptions to the CIP rule as related to the information above: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) an institution's CIP policy may account for customers who have applied, but not yet received, a TIN. In these cases, policy may call for the confirmation of the TIN application being submitted before account opening and require the TIN information be obtained and updated within a reasonable period of time after the account is established; and</li> <li>b) allows credit card issuers to obtain the identifying information from third-party sources prior to extending credit to a customer (31 C.F.R. §103.121(b)(2)(i)(a)). Refer to the FAQs; Final CIP Rule (http://www.fincen.gov/statutes_refs/guidance/pdf/finalciprule.pdf).</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A10. | While US regulations do not go into depth on specific verification or authentication requirements, the rules around CIP set forth the following minimum requirements: Verification through documents:An institution must ensure its CIP includes procedures that set forth the documents that can be used as part of the verification process. These documents may include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) for an individual, unexpired government-issued identification evidencing nationality or residence and bearing a photograph or similar safeguard, such as a driver's license or passport; and</li> <li>b) for non-individuals (e.g. corporation, partnership, or trust), documents showing the existence of the entity which can include certified articles of incorporation, a government-issued business license, a partnership agreement, or trust instrument.</li> </ul> Verification through non-documentary methods:An institution must ensure its CIP includes procedures that describe the non-documentary methods that can be used as part of the verification process. It should also cover circumstances in which the institution is unable to verify the true identity of a customer through the documents presented / available (31 C.F.R. §103.121).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A11. | Financial institutions do not currently have explicit regulatory requirements to obtain and retain information on the beneficial owners of a customer entity except as required by Section 312 of the USA PATRIOT Act, where identification of beneficial owners of certain high risk correspondent accounts is mandated as part of the EDD requirements associated with correspondent accounts. Currently U.S. financial institutions have adopted risk-based approaches to CDD and the collection of beneficial ownership information. The level of ownership in a customer entity that triggers beneficial owner identification and due diligence should be determined by the AML risk rating of the customer. It is generally considered that at a minimum, any beneficial owner holding greater than 25% interest in the customer entity should be subject to due diligence, and many institutions collect beneficial ownership information at 10% for high risk entities. As a matter of good practice, the percentage of ownership that triggers due diligence should be lower as the AML risk of the customer / account increases. Note: FinCEN issued a Notice of Proposed Rulemaking ("NPRM") on CDD requirements for banks, broker dealers in securities, mutual funds, futures commission merchants and introducing brokers in commodities on 4 Aug 2014 (http://www.fincen.gov/statutes_regs/files/CDD-NPRM-Final.pdf). This followed the issuance of an Advance Notice of Proposed Rulemaking ("ANPRM") related to CDD and beneficial owner requirements in February 2012. Final comments from industry on the NPRM were due on 3 Oct 2014. The proposed rule would come under the BSA to clarify and strengthen CDD requirements for: (i) banks; (ii) brokers or dealers in securities; (iii) mutual funds; and (iv) futures commission merchants and introducing brokers in commodities. The proposed rule would contain explicit CDD requirements and would include a new requirement to identify beneficial owners of legal entity customers, subject to certain exemptions. FinCEN has stated that, "proposing clear CDD requirements is the most effective way of clarifying, consolidating, and harmonising expectations and practices across all covered financial institutions." As of November 2015, a final rule has not yet been promulgated. |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A12. | In the U.S. the Know your Customer ("KYC") process consists of CIP, CDD, and EDD. Regulators require customer due diligence to be conducted commensurate with the AML risk posed by the customer. All customers are subject to CIP, with certain limited exceptions that are defined by regulation. The level of CDD, and whether or not EDD is required, will depend on the customer's AML risk rating. The concept of simplified due diligence does not exist under the U.S. regulatory framework, and has not been promoted by U.S. regulators. The US regulatory regime is founded on the risk-based approach, which applied to KYC would mean that a tiered-approach to CDD and EDD should take place for every customer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A13. | Section 312 of the USA PATRIOT Act requires financial institutions to conduct enhanced due diligence when establishing private banking accounts in the U.S. for a non U.S. person and for certain high risk foreign correspondent accounts.. Typically, customers classified as high risk based on an institution's customer risk rating methodology are also subject to EDD. Factors that would be considered in determining a customer's risk rating would include, at a minimum: geography, nature of business / employment, products / services / channels utilised and potentially legal entity structure among other factors. The FFIEC Bank Secrecy Act/Anti-Money Laundering Examination Manual also provide guidance on products, services, customers and entities that pose inherent higher risks and thus may require EDD that include but are not limited to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>a) Politically Exposed Persons ("PEPs");</li><li>b) third party payment processors;</li><li>c) embassy, foreign consulate and foreign mission accounts;</li><li>d) Money Services Businesses ("MSBs");</li><li>e) professional services providers;</li><li>f) non-governmental organizations and charities; and</li><li>g) cash intensive businesses.</li></ul> The KYC program should also include periodic risk-based monitoring of the customer information to determine if there are any substantive changes to the original customer information. High risk customer relationships are generally reviewed annually. |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A14. | Section 312 of the USA PATRIOT Act requires financial institutions in the U.S. providing private banking services to non-U.S. persons to identify those accounts associated or linked to PEPs and conduct EDD to reasonably ensure the funds in the account are not derived from corruption or other illegality. Institutions are expected to take similar steps as part of risk management to identify PEPs in other areas of the institution. This should include collecting sufficient information from each customer to allow for the determination of PEP status (including relatives and close associates).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A15. | Section 312 of the USA PATRIOT ACT directs covered US financial institutions to establish a due diligence program for correspondent banking that at a minimum: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) determines whether the account is subject to enhanced due diligence under section 312;</li> <li>b) assesses the money laundering risk posed, based on a consideration of relevant risk factors; and</li> <li>c) applies risk-based policies, procedures, and controls to each correspondent account reasonably designed to detect and report known or suspected money laundering activity, including a periodic review of the correspondent account activity. The rule itself provides guidance in assessing the risks posed by a correspondent relationship.</li> </ul> Section 312 contains a provision requiring U.S. financial institutions to apply EDD when establishing or maintaining a correspondent account for a foreign bank that is operating: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) under an offshore banking license;</li> <li>b) in a jurisdiction found to be non-cooperative with international anti-money laundering principles; or</li> <li>c) in a jurisdiction found to be of primary money laundering concern under §311 of the USA PATRIOT Act.</li> </ul> In cases where EDD is required, the institution is required to take reasonable steps to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) conduct appropriate enhanced scrutiny;</li> <li>b) determine whether the foreign bank itself offers correspondent accounts to other foreign banks (i.e., nested accounts) and, as appropriate, identify such foreign bank customers and conduct additional due diligence on them; and</li> <li>c) identify the owners of such foreign bank, if its shares are not publicly traded (most institutions have a list of approved stock exchanges) (http://www.fincen.gov/news_room/rp/rulings/html/312factsheet.html).</li> </ul> Generally, enhanced scrutiny of the transactions associated with any correspondent accounts should be performed to guard against the increased risk of money laundering, in order to identify and report any suspicious transactions / activity as required by US regulations and law. |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A16. | Yes. Note that a foreign shell bank does not include an entity defined as a regulated affiliate, i.e. the law defines this term to be an entity with an offshore banking license that is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) an affiliate of a depository institutions that maintains a physical presence in the U.S. or a country other than the U.S.; and</li> <li>b) is subject to supervision by a banking authority in the country regulating the affiliated depository institution.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A17. | In circumstances where a financial institution establishes a relationship with a customer remotely, the institution will need to employ non-documentary methods to verify the identity of the client since it will not be able to use a document to compare the customer to the photo identification, or it will need to establish appropriate reliance agreements in order to rely on a third party who will conduct CIP on behalf of the institution. As part of its CIP, a financial institution should define whether it will accept remote account opening, and if so, what documentary and non-documentary methods will be used to verify customer identity. As a general rule, U.S. regulators encourage the use of more than one method to verify identity.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A18. | U.S. financial institutions that are subject to SAR reporting, are required to submit SARs electronically to FinCEN - Department of the Treasury: http://www.fincen.gov/forms/bsa_forms/index.html#SAR                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:January 2014 to June 30, 2015 – 2,643,680 SARs (Source: FinCEN "SAR Stats" report dated October 2015 (https://www.fincen.gov/news_room/rp/files/SAR02/SAR_Stats_2_FINAL.pdf)) Comparative GDP data is not available for this specific period. The data reflected below is based on SARs with filing dates between January 1, 2014 – December 31, 2014 ('subject period'): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) depository institutions filed 886,927 SARs during the subject period;</li> <li>b) MSBs filed 720,985 SARs during the subject period;</li> <li>c) securities and futures firms filed 22,448 during the subject period;</li> <li>d) insurance companies filed 3,183 SARs during the subject period;</li> <li>e) casino and card clubs filed 46,575 SARs during the subject period;</li> <li>f) other types of financial institutions filed 46,899 SARs during the subject period;</li> <li>g) loan or finance companies filed 84 SARs during the subject period; and</li> <li>h) housing government sponsored entities filed 160 SARs during the subject period.</li> </ul> |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A20. | Yes. Additional reporting includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Currency Transactions Reports ("CTR");</li> <li>b) report of international transportation of Currency or Monetary Instruments ("CMIR") (http://www.fincen.gov/forms/files/fin105_cmir.pdf)</li> <li>c) Foreign Bank Account Report ("FBAR") (http://www.fincen.gov/forms/files/f9022-1_fbar.pdf), and</li> <li>d) record keeping for certain funds transfers and funds transfer transparency (the Travel Rule).</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A21. | Yes, depending upon the type of transaction for various reporting: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) SARs transactions aggregating below USD5,000 (Cf. the requirement to file with FinCEN based on suspicious activity alone with no monetary loss or value attached to the filing (e.g. employee malfeasance or suspicious circumstances involving an attempted account opening);</li> <li>b) CTRs transactions aggregating USD10,000 or less;</li> <li>c) CMIRs transactions aggregating USD10,000 or less;</li> <li>d) FBARs when the aggregate value of the foreign financial accounts are USD10,000 or less during the calendar year; and</li> <li>e) record keeping for transmittal orders for funds transfers (the travel rule) below USD3,000.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A22. | Yes. Penalties for non-compliance are noted in the BSA (http://www.fincen.gov/statutes_regs/bsa). Also see the relevant regulations of FinCEN (http://www.fincen.gov). Generally, Institutions must ensure that all employees know and understand the rules surrounding SAR confidentiality, safe harbour and whistle blower protections (http://www.fincen.gov/statutes_regs/guidance/html/FIN-2012-A002.html).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A23. | No. While there are no explicit legal or regulatory requirements to use an automated monitoring system per se, regulators and independent monitors have placed a tremendous amount of scrutiny on the effectiveness of these systems and the data that are feeding into them. Each institution is expected to tailor and tune their automated transaction monitoring systems based on its own risk profile and business strategy. Furthermore, regulators view automated transaction monitoring systems as models, and require independent validation of these systems. |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious? |
| A24. | No.                                                                                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                    |
| A25. | Yes, but the financial institution should determine which transactions can be monitored outside its jurisdiction on a risk adjusted basis. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A26. | Yes. To comply with the USA PATRIOT Act, a financial institution must implement an AML program that includes, at a minimum: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the development of internal policies, procedures, and controls (e.g. to determine what is unusual or suspicious activity and what steps to take once an unusual activity is identified);</li> <li>b) the designation of a compliance officer;</li> <li>c) an ongoing employee training program; and</li> <li>d) an independent audit function to test the programs.</li> </ul> In the US, this independent review can be conducted internally (e.g. by the financial institution's internal audit function), externally or be co-sourced. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) generally BSA/AML audits are conducted every 12 – 18 months. The audit frequency and scope is set by the institution;</li> <li>b) AML audit reports are generally submitted to the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors, as well as to the Business Unit and Compliance Head for the business that is the subject of the audit. BSA/AML Audit reports are reviewed by the relevant regulatory agency when examiners come in to examine the institution or as part of ongoing supervision as part of an enforcement action; and</li> <li>c) no.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A28. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) yes; and</li> <li>c) yes.</li> </ul> The independent review requires review and testing of a bank's entire AML program, as well as its sanctions program. This will include review and testing all policies, procedures, controls and processes, whether manual or automated, of the AML and sanctions program. The review will cover the program's design and effectiveness, noting any gaps or findings to regulatory requirements and expectations, as well as to bank documented policies and procedures. |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A29. | In contrast to the EU, the US does not have any comprehensive personal data protection or privacy laws that apply across all industries. Rather, the US has taken a sectoral approach, in which laws are generally targeted at specific industries or specific types of data. In addition, certain industries are subject only to self-regulation and voluntary guidelines. In the banking industry, the significant data privacy laws are encompassed in the Graham Leach Bliley Act ("GLBA") in the section known as "Regulation P" [12 CFR 1016]. This section calls out numerous specific policies, procedures and actions a financial institution must have in place with respect to consumer privacy notices, choice management and other privacy related matters. In addition, there are financial privacy requirements in the Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA") [Regulation V, 15 USC 1681] with respect to choice management as well as dispute resolution. The Telephone Consumer Protection Act ("TCPA") [47 CFR Part 64] as well as the Controlling the Assault of Non-Solicited Pornography and Marketing Act of 2003 ("CAN-SPAM Act of 2003") have privacy related impacts to financial institutions. The key non-bank secrecy privacy laws are the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986;</li> <li>b) Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996;</li> <li>c) Fair Credit Reporting Act of 1970, which was amended by the Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act of 2003; and</li> <li>d) The Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998.</li> </ul> In 2000, the Department of Commerce entered into a 'Safe Harbour' framework with the European Union to enable American companies voluntarily to adopt the European Union's Data Protection Directive and voluntarily submit to US enforcement action by the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") in case of violation of their voluntary privacy commitments. To participate in the program, a US company self-certifies to the US Department of Commerce that it will follow the Safe Harbour Privacy Principles which mirror the core requirements of the EU Data Protection Directive. With limited exception, US based financial firms are generally not eligible to participate in the Safe Harbour program for client or customer data and must make use of binding or contractual methods to comply with EEA data movement regulations. For those firms which GLBA applies, "sensitive customer information means a customer's name, address, or telephone number in conjunction with the customer's social security number, credit or debit card number, or a personal identification number or password that would permit access to the customer's account. Sensitive customer information also includes any combination of components of customer information that would allow someone to log onto or access the customer's account, such as user name and password or password and account number." |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A30. | On 23 Nov 2010, FinCEN issued guidance, effective 1 Mar 2011, interpreting binding regulations regarding the sharing of SARs by US banks. The guidance provides that a US bank may share a SAR or any information that would reveal the existence of a SAR, with a domestic affiliate, provided the affiliate is subject to a SAR regulation. The guidance defines 'affiliate' of a bank to mean any company under common control with, or controlled by, that depository institution. The guidance also provides that a US bank that has filed a SAR may not share the SAR, or any information that would reveal the existence of a SAR, with its foreign branches. Banks and securities and futures industries may, however, share SARs with its head/parent office irrespective of the head / parent office's location.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A31. | Any firm contemplating the transfer of data from a non-US jurisdiction into the US may contemplate that financial records within the US are subject to examination by a wide array of US regulatory and law enforcement bodies.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A32. | GLBA generally prohibits a bank from disclosing non-public client data to a non-affiliated third party unless it: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) provides the client with a notice of its policies and procedures regarding its disclosure of and protection of non-public personal client data; and</li> <li>b) provides the client with an opportunity to prevent a bank from sharing his or her non-public client data with non-affiliated third parties.</li> </ul> Thus, in contrast to EU banks secrecy laws, most of GLBA's restrictions on the transfer of personal data do not apply unless a client chooses to have them apply. In addition, GLBA does not restrict a bank's ability to share non-public personal client data. Each of the regulators charged with implementing GLBA has issued regulations. The regulations issued by the OCC are at 12 CFR 30 App. B and 12 CFR 40. The Right to Financial Privacy Act (1978) does not apply to cross-border transfers of data. The Fair Credit Reporting Act (1970) does not apply to cross-border transfers of data. The Bank Secrecy Act of 1970 ("BSA") - Despite the name, this law governs the detection and protection of money laundering rather than the protection of client data. Please note that these laws are the primary federal laws. State laws may also apply. Due to a change made to the pre-emption standard applicable to national banks by the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, signed into law 21 Jul 2010, national banks may soon be subject to additional state privacy laws. See Public Law No: 111-203 § 1044 ('State Law Pre-emption Standards for National Banks and Subsidiaries Clarified'). |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Austria

Key contact: Christoph Polly / Christoph Obermair /
Roland Schoebel
Email: christoph.polly@at.pwc.com /
christoph.obermair@at.pwc.com / roland.schoebel@at.pwc.com
Tel: +43 1 501 88-1167 / +43-1-501 88-3629 /
+43-1-501 88-1170

Postal address: Erdbergstrasse 200;
1030 Vienna;
Austria

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A1. | 1994. Current AML / CFT relevant amendments:a) Austrian Banking Act and Austrian Insurance Supervision Act last amended on 15 Aug 2015;b) Austrian Criminal Code (§§ 165 following StGB) last amended on 14 Sep 2010; andc) Austrian Finance Criminal Code (§ 38a and § 39 FinStrG) last amended on 31 Aug 2015.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A2. | N/A - The Austrian AML laws and regulations are now based on the Third EU Money Laundering Directive.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A3. | a) Austrian Financial Markets Authority (FMA) ( https://www.fma.gv.at/en/homepage.html );b) Austrian Financial Markets Authority (FMA) ( https://www.fma.gv.at/en/homepage.html ); andc) Casinos: Ministry of Finance ( https://english.bmf.gv.at/ ); and other: Relevant economic chamber ( https://www.wko.at/Content.Node/wir/Austrian_Economic_Chambers_Home.html ). |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A4. | There are six different circulars in place regarding AML / CFT regulations for the banking industry, other financial services and insurance companies, issued by the Austrian Financial Markets Authority, last amended on 24 Apr 2012 ( https://www.fma.gv.at/en/legal-framework/circulars/money-laundering-terrorism-financing.html ).                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A5. | Yes, every active customer has to be identified as well as every client whose account has been closed since 1994.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A6. | Yes, a "circular on the risk-based approach" was published by the Austrian Financial Markets Authority on 23 Dec 2009, updated on 01 Dec 2011 ( https://www.fma.gv.at/typo3conf/ext/dam_download/secure.php?u=0&amp;file=5972&amp;t=1452004668&amp;hash=28158d2a5884e4fde4493625502a91dd ).                                                                                                       |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A7. | Yes, FATF Mutual Evaluation Report Austria as of 26 Jun 2009 ( http://www.fatf-gafi.org/media/fatf/documents/reports/mer/MER%20Austria%20full.pdf ) and Mutual Evaluation of Austria: 3rd Follow-up Report as of 14 Feb 2014 ( http://www.fatf-gafi.org/media/fatf/documents/reports/mer/FUR%20Austria.pdf ). The next evaluation is scheduled for 2016/2017. |

Customer Due Diligence

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A8. | Yes, one-off transactions below EUR15,000 if there is no AML or CFT suspicion.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A9. | Identification and verification is performed using official ID e.g. passport. Customers have to inform the institution if they act on their own account, or on a principal's account. If someone acts on behalf of another person (as a trustee), the identity of that person (the trustor) must also be clarified. The customer has to disclose the ultimate beneficial owner. The institution has to recheck the identity of the ultimate beneficial owner using a risk based approach. Individuals: the following has to be obtained: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) full name;</li> <li>b) date and place of birth;</li> <li>c) nationality;</li> <li>d) address; and</li> <li>e) signature.</li> </ul> As part of the verification process, the identity of the customer has to be verified by an independent source (documents of identification), e.g. a passport, identity card or an Austrian driving licence. The name of the state authority which issued the document and the date of issuance also have to be recorded. Legal entities: the following has to be obtained: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) registered name and domicile of the entity; and</li> <li>b) full name of the legal representatives of the entity.</li> </ul> This data has to be verified by 'appropriate documentation' e.g. an excerpt of the company register. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A10. | The requirements are defined and are to be seen as a way to rely on the authenticity of the document; if there are any doubts then the identity of a person should be verified by other measures. In this case, a suspicious activity report has to be considered.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A11. | The Austrian banking and insurance laws require the verification of the identity of beneficial owners holding more than 25% of the shares or voting rights of an entity or holding 25% or more of a trust or foundation. Where a principal owner is another corporate entity or trust, the institution has to take measures to establish the identity of the ultimate beneficial owners (who can only be natural persons) and/or, if applicable, the trustees. In case of a trust or foundation, the identity of the founder and the beneficiaries designated to receive 25% or more of the trust/foundation have to be disclosed by the client. Credit institutions, financial institutions and insurance companies must call upon the customer to reveal the identity of the customer's beneficial owner(s). The customer must comply with this request, and credit institutions, financial institutions and insurance companies must take risk-based and appropriate measures to verify the beneficial owner's identity so that the credit institution, financial institution or insurance company is satisfied that it knows who the beneficial owner is. In the case of legal persons or trusts, this also includes taking risk-based and appropriate measures in order to understand the ownership and control structure of the customer. |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A12. | Reduced due diligence arrangements are available for the following, but only if the AML/CFT risk is considered low: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) domestic public authorities and public authorities of the European Union ("EU");</li> <li>b) listed companies;</li> <li>c) credit and financial institutions situated in a third country which impose requirements equivalent to those defined in the third EU AML Directive and which are supervised in compliance with those requirements; and</li> <li>d) beneficial owners of pooled accounts held by notaries and other legal professionals from EU Member States.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A13. | For customers where a higher risk of money laundering or terrorist financing applies, for example: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) if the customer has not been physically present for identification (distance business/non-face-to-face-relationships);</li> <li>b) for cross-frontier correspondent banking relationships with correspondent banks from other countries or from the European Economic Area ('EEA') (the latter only if the AML/CFT risk is considered heightened); and</li> <li>c) for Politically Exposed Persons ("PEPs") of other EU Member States and of third countries.</li> </ul> Furthermore, if the client or an authorised signatory, a person, to whom the client has a significant business relationship, or the trustee or the beneficial owner has his/her domicile or residence in one of the following states (see below), or the transaction is made via an account at a bank in one of the following states: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Iran;</li> <li>b) Democratic People's Republic of Korea ("DPRK");</li> <li>c) Bolivia;</li> <li>d) Cuba;</li> <li>e) Ethiopia;</li> <li>f) Indonesia;</li> <li>g) Kenya;</li> <li>h) Myanmar;</li> <li>i) Nigeria;</li> <li>j) Pakistan;</li> <li>k) Sao Tome and Principe;</li> <li>l) Sri Lanka;</li> <li>m) Syria;</li> <li>n) Tanzania;</li> <li>o) Thailand;</li> <li>p) Turkey;</li> <li>q) Vietnam; and</li> <li>r) Yemen.</li> </ul>                                       |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A14. | In any transaction or business relationship with a PEP of another EU Member State (except Austria) or another country.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A15. | Enhanced due diligence procedures to be performed for cross-border correspondent banking relationships with correspondent banks from third countries or from the EEA (the latter only if the AML/CFT risk is considered heightened) as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) credit institutions and financial institutions must gather sufficient information about a correspondent bank to fully understand the nature of its business and be able to ascertain the reputation of the institution and the quality of supervision on the basis of publicly available information;</li> <li>b) credit institutions and financial institutions must satisfy themselves of the correspondent bank's anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing controls;</li> <li>c) credit institutions and financial institutions must obtain approval from senior management before establishing new correspondent banking relationships;</li> <li>d) credit institutions and financial institutions must document the respective responsibilities of each institution; and</li> </ul> with respect to payable-through accounts, credit institutions and financial institutions must be satisfied that the correspondent bank has verified the identity of and performed ongoing due diligence on the customers having direct access to accounts of the correspondent, and that it is able to provide relevant customer due diligence data to the correspondent bank upon request. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A16. | Yes, credit institutions are prohibited from entering into or continuing a correspondent banking relationship with a shell bank. Credit institutions have to take appropriate measures to ensure that they do not engage in or continue correspondent banking relationships with a bank that is known for permitting its accounts to be used by a shell bank. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A17. | Non face-to-face relationships and transactions are considered heightened AML/CFT risk by the relevant Austrian AML laws and regulations. For this reason, additional due diligence is always required for non face-to-face relationships and transactions. Trustees must always be identified personally (obligation of personal presence) - non face-to-face relationships are not sufficient for purposes of identification of trustees. Furthermore, additional due diligence is always required (whether face-to-face or non-face-to-face) in the case of any doubts, indication or suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing. In these cases, suspicious activity reports have to be considered. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A18. | Suspicious activity reports are to be reported to the Austrian Financial Intelligence Unit ("A-FIU"), so called "Geldwäschemeldestelle" ( http://www.bmi.gv.at/cms/BK/meldestellen/geldwaesche/start.aspx ). |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                   |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 1,673 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 – USD436,300m (Source: data.worldbank.org) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD260.7m of GDP. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | Suspicious activities regarding money laundering and terrorist financing as well as the suspicion that a client might not properly have disclosed a trusteeship have to be reported.                          |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A21. | No, every suspicion described in A20 has to be reported, regardless of the amount.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A22. | No specific penalties prevail for non compliance with reporting requirements, but there are penalties for non compliance with AML and CFT regulations (e.g. § 99 (2) BWG, Austrian Banking Act). Non compliance with reporting requirements can be seen as non compliance with AML and CFT regulations.                                                                      |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A23. | No, there is no legal or regulatory requirement to use specific AML/CFT IT systems, but in practice, larger institutions will not be able to apply the risk based approach without any IT monitoring technology.                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A24. | In the course of suspicious activity reporting, the institution should ask the A-FIU, whether it can proceed with the transaction or not. The A-FIU has the right to stop ongoing transactions or to forbid future transactions, if there is a suspicion.                                                                                                                    |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A25. | There is no clear rule in place, but there is the legal requirement that Austrian institutions have to apply the same AML/CFT standards as in Austria to jurisdictions outside Austria where they conduct their business (e.g. in CEE (Central and Eastern Europe) and SEE (South Eastern Europe) countries where banks with headquarters in Austria also conduct business). |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A26. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                    |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) once a year;</li> <li>b) the report is submitted to the audit client who forwards it to the financial market authority and the Austrian national bank; and</li> <li>c) no, it is a separate audit of compliance with several regulatory requirements.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | It requires testing the internal control system of the bank regarding regulatory requirements which also includes AML. No sample testing is required.                                                                                                                                              |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A29. | Austria has established a data protection act. It has been in force since 1 Jan 2000 ( https://www.dsb.gv.at/DocView.axd?CobId=41936 ): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) see the definition in Section 4 Data Protection Act: "Data" ("Personal Data") [Daten] ("personenbezogene Daten"): Information relating to data subjects (sub-para. 3) who are identified or identifiable; Data are "only indirectly personal" for a controller (sub-para. 4), a processor (subpara.5) or recipient of a transmission (sub-para. 12) when the Data relate to the subject in such a manner that the controller, processor or recipient of a transmission cannot establish the identity of the data subject by legal means; "Data Subject" ["Betroffener"]: any natural or legal person or group of natural persons not identical with the controller, whose data are processed (sub-para. 8);</li> <li>b) see above (data subject); and</li> <li>c) see the definition in Section 4 Data Protection Act: "Sensitive Data" ("Data deserving special protection") ["sensible Daten" ("besonders schutzwürdige Daten")]: Data relating to natural persons concerning their racial or ethnic origin, political opinion, trade-union membership, religious or philosophical beliefs, and data concerning health or sex life; The use of sensitive data does not infringe interests in secrecy deserving only and exclusively in the special cases as set out in § 9 data protection act.</li> </ul> |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A30. | Some general remarks: All data applications [Datenanwendungen] are subject to notification, unless an exception applies (see below). A data application [Datenanwendung] encompasses all categories of data [Datenarten] (e.g. name, address, salary) processed about certain categories of data subjects [Betroffenenkreise] (e.g. employees, customers). The notification has to state the categories of recipients [Empfängerkreise] - including possible recipient states abroad - as well as the legal basis for the transmission. Data concerning health life are considered to be sensitive data (see the definition above). For information on Criminal Records [Strafregister], the special regulations of the Criminal Records Act 1968 [Strafregistergesetz 1968] shall apply. See: https://www.dsb.gv.at/DocView.axd?CobId=41936                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A31. | Austrian Banking Act.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                   |
| A32. | Yes, Credit institutions, their members, members of their governing bodies, their employees as well as any other persons acting on behalf of credit institutions must not divulge or exploit secrets which are revealed or made accessible to them exclusively on the basis of business relations with customers. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Belgium

Key contact: Rudy Hoskens
Email: rudy.hoskens@be.pwc.com
Tel: +32 2 710 4307

Postal address: Woluwe Garden,
Woluwe 18, B-1932 Sint-Stevens-
Woluwe- Belgium

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A1. | The local law became effective in 1993. However, to incorporate the third AML Directive, it has been amended by the law of 18 Jan 2010. All articles referred to below, are the articles mentioned in this law: http://www.ctif-cfi.be/website/images/NL/law_be/loi937042015.pdf                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A3. | Since April 2011, the supervision of the Belgian financial sector has been organised according to the "Twin Peaks" model, with two autonomous supervisors, namely the National Bank of Belgium ('NBB') and the Financial Services and Markets Authority ('FSMA'), both of which are competent (depending on the licence, NBB or FSMA is competent) in the field of AML related matters to the financial sector. Within the "Twin Peaks" model the micro-prudential and systemic control, as well as the macro-prudential supervision is entrusted to the NBB. The supervision of the compliance with good conduct rules to which financial intermediaries are subject to are entrusted to the FSMA. For more information please see http://www.nbb.be and http://www.fsma.be . |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A4. | There is specific guidance per sector on the website of the Belgian Financial Intelligence Processing Unit ('CTIF-CFI') for a risk-based approach: http://www.ctif-cfi.be/website/index.php?option=com_content&amp;view=article&amp;id=71&amp;Itemid=99&amp;lang=en                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A5. | No - however, the local law requires identification data to be updated in cases where there are doubts about the veracity or accuracy of previously obtained identification data, or where the risk sensitivity of the client requires this (Art. 7, §3 and Art. 8, §2).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A6. | Companies are required to apply fitting measurements on a risk based approach when verifying the identity of the final beneficiary or beneficiary of the client (Art. 8, §1, art. 8, §2 and art. 12, §2).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A7. | After the adoption of their Mutual Evaluation Report ('MER'), FATF member countries are required to provide information on the measures that have been implemented to deal with the deficiencies identified in the report. Belgium is subject to this process of providing a biennial update (i.e. every two years) to the FATF Plenary on any of the 40 Recommendations that are rated PC (Partially Compliant) or NC (Non-Compliant). The fourth update was provided to the Plenary on 26 Feb 2015 and is available on the website of CTIF-CFI (http://www.ctif-cfi.be/website/images/NL/eval_fatf/mer2015.pdf). In May 2013, the IMF Country Report N° 13/133 was published: Belgium: Detailed Assessment of Compliance with the Basel Core Principles for Effective Banking Supervision (http://www.imf.org/external/pubs/ft/scr/2013/cr13133.pdf). |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A8. | Yes, when the customer wishes to carry out a transaction outside the context of a business relationship: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>for an amount below EUR10,000 (art. 7, §1, 2°, a); and</li> <li>consisting in a transfer of funds to a payee's account within Belgium for an amount less than or equal to EUR1,000 on condition that (art. 7, §1, 2°, b) these transfers are not considered to fall under the Regulation on information on the payer accompanying transfers of funds (No. 1781/2006): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>the transfer is a payment within the terms of an agreement for the provision of goods or services, concluded between the payer and the payee;</li> <li>the payee's account was opened to enable the payment for the provision of goods or services;</li> <li>the payment service provider of the payee is subject to the obligations set out in the Law of 11 Jan 1993; and</li> <li>this payment service provider is able, by means of a unique identifier, to trace the transaction via the payee back to the payer.</li> </ol> </li> </ol> If customers wish to carry out a financial transaction related to gaming for an amount less than or equal to EUR1,000) (art.9).Companies are not obliged to carry out the identification and identity verification of the following persons (art. 11, §1): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a credit or financial institution, as referred to in Article 2 of Directive 2005/60/EC, situated in Belgium or in another country of the European Economic Area;</li> <li>a listed company whose securities are admitted to trading on a regulated market within the meaning of Directive 2004/39/EC in a country of the European Economic Area;</li> <li>the beneficial owners of pooled accounts held by notaries and other independent legal professionals established in Belgium, in another country of the European Economic Area;</li> <li>a customer or beneficial owner that is a Belgian public authority; and</li> <li>customers that are European public authorities or institutions.</li> </ol> Companies are not obliged to carry out the identification and identity verification of the following products or transactions (art. 11, §2): <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>life insurance policies where the annual premium is no more than EUR1,000 or the single premium is no more than EUR2,500;</li> <li>insurance policies for pension schemes if there is no surrender clause and the policy cannot be used as collateral; and</li> <li>a pension, superannuation or similar scheme that provides retirement benefits to employees, where contributions are made by way of deduction from wages and the scheme rules do not permit the assignment of a member's interest.</li> </ol> The above exceptions cannot apply where there is a suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing or when there are doubts about the veracity or accuracy of previously obtained identification data regarding a customer who has already been identified. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A9.  | Individuals and institutions must identify clients and their agents. Identification of natural persons: surname, first name, date and place of birth and, whenever possible, relevant information on the address of the identified person (art. 7, §1, paragraph 3). Identification for legal persons, trusts, fiduciaries and similar legal arrangements: corporate name, registered office and directors, and note must be taken of the provisions regarding the power to commit the legal person, trust, fiduciary or similar legal arrangement (art. 7, §1, paragraph 4). The identification must be verified by means of a supporting document, of which a copy is made on paper or by electronic means. For natural persons, a copy of their identity card or passport is required and for legal person, a copy of their coordinated statutes (art. 7, §2). Together with the identification, information must be collected regarding the purpose and intended nature of the business relationship (art. 7, §1, paragraph 5). |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A10. | Clients must be identified by means of a supporting document, of which a copy is made on paper or by electronic means (art. 7, §2). Such documents need to be probative documents, admissible as evidence. There is no information about certification by external third parties in local legislation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A11. | For the beneficial owner, the identification must cover the surname, first name and, whenever possible, the date and place of birth. In addition, whenever possible, relevant information must be collected with regard to address details. Furthermore, appropriate risk based measures must be taken to verify these data sources (art. 8, §1, paragraph 4).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A12. | The local regulation does foresee this possibility where (art. 11, §1): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the customer or beneficial owner is a credit or financial institution as defined in art. 2 of the third AML Directive, established in Belgium or another country within the EEA, or an equivalent institution established in a third country that has foreseen requirements and controls similar to those in the third AML Directive and of which a specific list is to be drawn in a Royal Decree;</li> <li>b) the customer or beneficial owner is a listed company whose securities are admitted to trading on the regulated market within the meaning of Directive 2004/39/EC in a country of the EEA, or is a listed company from a third country, designated in a Royal Decree, and which is subject to disclosure requirements consistent with community legislation;</li> <li>c) the beneficial owner of a pooled account held by notaries and other independent legal professionals established in Belgium or another country within the EEA or from third countries, designated in a Royal Decree, provided that they are subject to requirements to combat money laundering or terrorist financing consistent with international standards and are supervised for compliance with those requirements and provided that the information on the identity of the beneficial owner is available, on request, to the institutions that act as depository institutions for the pooled accounts. If the client would be bound by professional secrecy, and thus unable to provide the information on the identity of the beneficial owner, the client needs to confirm in writing or by electronic means to the depository institution that the beneficial owners of the pooled accounts involved are solely clients with whom the relationship consists in ascertaining their legal position or performing their task of defending or representing those clients in, or concerning judicial proceedings including giving advice on instituting or avoiding proceedings. The client or beneficial owner is a Belgian public authority;</li> <li>d) the client is a European public authority or institution, included on a list to be drawn in a Royal Decree; and</li> <li>e) the client is a person or institution indicated in a specific list yet to be drawn in a Royal Decree.</li> </ul> In addition, by way of derogation, it is allowed not to apply customer or beneficial owner due diligence in respect of (art. 11, §2): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) life insurance policies where the annual premium is no more than EUR1,000 or the single premium is no more than EUR2,500;</li> <li>b) insurance policies for pension schemes if there is no surrender clause and the policy cannot be used as collateral;</li> <li>c) a pension, superannuation or similar scheme that provides retirement benefits to employees, where contributions are made by way of deduction from wages and the scheme rules do not permit the assignment of a member's interest under the scheme;</li> <li>d) electronic money as defined in article 3, §1, 7° of the law of 22 Mar 1993 regarding the pursuit of and prudential supervision of credit institutions, where, if the device cannot be recharged, the maximum amount stored in the device is no more than EUR150, or where, if the device can be recharged, a limit of EUR2,500 is imposed on the total amount transacted in a calendar year, except when an amount of EUR1,000 or more is redeemed in the same calendar year by the bearer as referred to in article 5 of the law of 22 Mar 1993; and</li> <li>e) in respect of any other product or transaction representing a low risk of money laundering or terrorist financing which meets the criteria to be established in a royal decree.</li> </ul> If customers wish to carry out a financial transaction related to gaming for an amount less than or equal to EUR1,000 (art. 9). |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A13. | Local regulation foresees enhanced customer due diligence measures on a risk sensitive basis in situations which by their nature can represent a higher risk of money laundering or terrorist financing, and at least in the following situations (art. 12, §1): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) establishing a business relationship with or carrying out a transaction for a customer that was not physically present for identification purposes (non face-to-face contact) (art. 12, §2);</li> <li>b) establishing a business relationship or carrying out a transaction with or for a PEP (art. 12, §3) (see A14 below); and</li> <li>c) engaging in cross-border correspondent banking relationships with respondent institutions from third countries (art. 12, §4) (see A15 below).</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A14. | Belgium has instituted a comprehensive set of measures applicable to PEPs. These measures include (art. 12, §3, paragraph 4): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) applying appropriate risk based procedures to determine whether the customer or his beneficial owner is a PEP;</li> <li>b) obtaining approval from a sufficiently senior level of management before establishing business relations with such customers;</li> <li>c) taking appropriate risk-based measures to establish the source of wealth and funds that are involved in the business relationship or transaction; and</li> <li>d) conducting enhanced ongoing monitoring of the business relationship.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A15. | Belgium is in full compliance with the FATF recommendations regarding issues of correspondent banking. It is obliged to (art. 12, §4, paragraph 1): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) gather sufficient information about the respondent institution in question to understand fully the nature of its business and to determine from publicly available information its reputation and the quality of the supervision to which it is subject;</li> <li>b) assess the respondent institution's anti-money laundering and anti-terrorist financing controls;</li> <li>c) obtain approval from a sufficiently senior level of management before establishing new relationships;</li> <li>d) document in writing the respective responsibilities of each institution; and</li> <li>e) with respect to payable-through accounts, be satisfied that the respondent institution has verified the identity of and has performed ongoing due diligence on the customers having direct access to accounts of the correspondent and that it is able to provide relevant customer due diligence data to the correspondent institution, upon request.</li> </ul> |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A16. | Yes (art. 12, §4, paragraph 2).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A17. | When entering into a business relationship with a client that is not physically present, specific and adequate measures need to be taken to deal with the increased risk of money laundering and terrorism financing that exist in such circumstances (art. 12, §2).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A18. | The Belgian Financial Intelligence Processing Unit (CTIF-CFI), established by the Law of 11 Jan 1993, is a central part of the Belgian AML/CFT system. CTIF-CFI is an independent administrative authority with legal personality and is supervised by the Ministers of Justice and Finance. CTIF-CFI is in charge of processing suspicious financial facts and transactions linked to money laundering and terrorism financing and which are reported by institutions and individuals specified in the law (http://www.ctif-cfi.be/). In accordance with the Law of 11 Jan 1993 on preventing use of the financial system for purposes of money laundering and terrorist financing, CTIF-CFI received a total of 27,767 disclosures in 2014, which is approximately an 33% increase compared to 2012. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 27,767 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 – USD533.4m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD19.2m of GDP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A20. | The institutions and persons as referred to in the law, shall carefully examine any transaction or action they consider particularly likely, by its nature or its unusual character in view of the customer's activities, by the circumstantial elements or by the capacity of the persons involved, to be related to money laundering or terrorist financing (art. 14, §1, paragraph 2). The following institutions and persons should report the following transactions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the sales price of real property may only be paid by means of a bank transfer or cheque. The agreement and deed of sale must specify the number of the financial account from which the amount was or will be debited (art. 20);</li> <li>b) in case of doubt about the veracity or accuracy of previously obtained identification data about a customer who has already been identified (discretionary) (art. 7, §1, 4°);</li> <li>c) in case of a suspicion of money-laundering or terrorism financing (art. 23 – 26);</li> <li>d) in case of international transactions and facts involving natural or legal persons domiciled, registered or situated in a country or territory whose legislation is considered insufficient by a competent international consultative and coordinating authority or whose practices are deemed by this authority to impede the fight against money laundering and terrorist financing (art. 27);</li> <li>e) in case of the suspicion of serious and organised fiscal fraud (art. 28).</li> </ul> |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A21. | The price of a sale by a merchant of one or more products, as well as the price of one or more provision of services supplied by a service provider, for an amount of EUR3,000 or more may not be paid in cash, unless the amount does not exceed 10% of the sale price and as long as this amount does not exceed EUR3,000 regardless of whether the sale or service takes place in a single or in several apparently related transactions. The price of a purchase by a merchant in precious metals of one or more products, for an amount of EUR3,000 or more may not be paid in cash, unless the amount does not exceed 10% of the purchase price and as long as this amount does not exceed EUR3,000 regardless of whether the purchase takes place in a single or in several apparently related transactions (art. 21).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A22. | According to article 40 of the AML law of 1993, non-compliance with reporting requirements towards CTIF-CFI can result in the following sanctions imposed by the competent authority: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) publish, in accordance with terms it determines, the decisions and measures it shall adopt;</li> <li>b) impose an administrative fine of not less than EUR250 and not more than EUR1.25m after hearing the defence of the institutions and persons or at least after having duly summoned them.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A23. | Monitoring should be carried out on a continuous basis or triggered by specific transactions. It need not require electronic systems, although for some types of banking activity, where large volumes of transactions occur on a regular basis, automated systems may be the only realistic method of monitoring transactions. However, where automated systems are used, banks should understand their operating rules, verify their integrity on a regular basis and check that they address the identified ML/TF risks (FATF – Guidance for a Risk Based Approach, paragraph 67 – applicable in Belgium) ( http://www.ctif-cfi.be/website/images/EN/rba/rbabankingsector.pdf ). |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A24. | According to article 23 of the law, the CTIF-CFI may, should it deem such action necessary due to the seriousness or urgency of the matter, oppose execution of any suspected transaction of which it has been informed. The CTIF-CFI shall determine to which transactions and to which accounts the opposition shall apply and shall inform the institutions and persons referred to in article 2, §1 immediately. This opposition shall halt the execution of the transaction for a maximum of two working days starting from the time of notification. If the CTIF-CFI thinks the measure should be extended, it shall refer the matter to the Public Prosecutor, who will take the necessary decisions. In the absence of a decision within the abovementioned two days after notification, the said institutions and persons are free to execute the transaction. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                              |
| A25. | There is no specific restriction to monitor the transactions in another jurisdiction but the responsibility remains within the entity in Belgium. In particular, transactions of some branches of foreign banks are monitored by the parent company. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                |
| A26. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul> |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A29. | Yes, if you are processing personal data in Belgium, you are subject to the Belgian Privacy Act of 08 Aug 1992: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes. Personal data is defined as any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person, hereinafter the 'data subject'; an identifiable person is one who can be identified, directly or indirectly, in particular by reference to an identification number or to one or more factors specific to his physical, physiological, mental, economic, cultural or social identity (Article 1 §1 Privacy Act.). Personal data covers any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person, e.g. name, address bank account, education, images, GPS data, IP address, etc.;</li> <li>b) as mentioned, the scope of protection of this Act only covers natural persons (private individuals) not legal persons. Corporate data is therefore not protected under privacy law in Belgium, unless it relates to private individuals (e.g. HR data);</li> <li>c) yes. By principle, the processing of sensitive data is forbidden (exceptions exist). Sensitive data relate to race, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade-union membership, health, sex life, prosecutions or criminal or administrative convictions (art. 6 Privacy Act).</li> </ul> |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A30. | From a privacy perspective, transfer of credit reports fall under the general requirements of personal data processing, to the extent these qualify as personal data.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A31. | There exists specific privacy legislation for certain sectors e.g. public sector, telecom sector which apply in addition to the Privacy Act mentioned above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A32. | There is no bank professional secrecy in Belgium (as regards section 458 of Penal Code) but only a discretion obligation policy for income taxation. With respect to the taxpayer himself, section 318 of the Belgian Income Tax Code ("BITC") provides that tax authorities are not authorised to gather information from the accounts, books and documents of a bank, exchange, credit and savings institutions established in Belgium with a view to taxing its clients. However, if in the course of an inquiry related to the institution's own tax situation, the tax authorities discover relevant information leading to a suspicion that a mechanism of tax fraud exists or is being prepared, then the tax authorities are allowed to examine the institution's records in order to determine the client's tax liability. With respect to third parties, section 322 BITC provides that tax authorities may, for a given taxpayer, gather written evidence, hear third persons, proceed to inquiries and require from natural persons or corporate bodies as well as companies and associations not having legal personality, to produce any information which it may deem necessary for the purpose of assuring the fair collection of tax. As regards to banks, the second paragraph of section 322 provides the tax authorities the possibility to obtain information from clients of the bank provided they first requested information from the taxpayer himself who refused to communicate information, and provided indications of tax fraud or greater wealth exist. Finally, note that a Central Point of Contact has recently been created towards which the banks are deemed to communicate names and accounts of their clients which could later be used by the tax authorities in case of indications of fraud. In case of indication of fraud, an exchange of information may also take place between Belgium and other countries (Member States of the EU, and countries with which Belgium has concluded a double taxation treaty or a treaty relating to an exchange of information). Please refer to following legislation for more details: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Art. 55-57 Law of 14 Apr 2011 (Dutch: http://www.ejustice.just.fgov.be/cgi_loi/change_lg.pl?language=nl&amp;la=N&amp;table_name=wet&amp;cn=2011041406 and French: http://www.ejustice.just.fgov.be/cgi_loi/change_lg.pl?language=fr&amp;la=F&amp;cn=2011041406&amp;table_name=loi); and</li> <li>b) Royal Decree of 03 Feb 2014 (https://www.nbb.be/doc/cr/cap/ar_kb_2014_02_03_autorisant_bnb_et_declarants_a_acceder_au_mpp.pdf (Dutch and French)).</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Bosnia & Herzegovina

Key contact: Jock Nunan / Nermina Hadziosmanovic
 Email: jock.nunan@rs.pwc.com /
nermina.hadziosmanovic@ba.pwc.com
 Tel: +38733295234 / +381113302100

Postal address: Fra Anđela Zvizdovića 1,
 Tower B 13th Floor,
 71000, Sarajevo

Last updated:
 January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A1. | The new law on the prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities became effective on 01 July 2014.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A2. | Previous law on the prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities defined measures and responsibilities of the Financial intelligence department of the State Investigation and Protection Agency, persons liable under this Law, other state authorities and legal entities with public authorisations for detection and prevention and investigation of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities. It also prescribed measures and responsibilities of the Financial intelligence department for international cooperation for the prevention of money laundering and financing terrorist activities. |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A3. | State Investigation and Protection Agency ( http://www.sipa.gov.ba/en ) Financial Intelligence Department ("FID").                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A4. | Yes. See http://sipa.gov.ba/assets/files/secondary-legislation/eticki-kodeks-bs.pdf .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A5. | For customers who existed before the current AML legislation was introduced, companies are obliged to collect missing documentation and data.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last 3 years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A7. | The latest evaluation was in 2009 (http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Evaluations/round3/MONEYVAL(2009)42Rep_BIH3_en.pdf). In April 2015, Moneyval issued a statement on Bosnia and Herzegovina and noted that amendments to the financing of terrorism offence in the Criminal Code were adopted and entered into force on 24 March 2015. However, other necessary amendments to the Criminal Code have still not been adopted (http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Publications/4th%20Public%20Statement.pdf). |

Customer Due Diligence

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8.  | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A8.  | Transactions less than approximately EUR15,339 are not reported to the Financial Reporting Organisation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A9.  | Identification of the customer based on documents, data and information obtained from relevant and objective sources (originals or verified copies of ID cards, excerpt from court registers, etc.) in order to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) determine the beneficial owner;</li> <li>b) obtain information on the purpose and nature of the business relationship or transaction; and</li> <li>c) perform continuous monitoring of business activities of the customer.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A10. | Copies of identification documents must be verified.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A11. | Identity of the beneficial owner of the legal entity is verified through the original or verified copy of the excerpt from court register or other public register. If this is not possible the controller shall gather all relevant information from the original or verified documentation and business records submitted by the agent of the person authorised by the beneficial owner, or by obtaining a written statement from an agent or another person authorised by the beneficial owner.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A12. | Reduced / simplified due diligence arrangements are available if customers are institutions with public authority (authorities of Bosnia and Herzegovina, Federation Bosnia and Herzegovina, Republic of Srpska or Brcko District), banks, insurance companies and other physical person or legal entity which is acting as agent in the sale of insurance policies, investment and retirement funds regardless of the legal form which have headquarters in Bosnia & Herzegovina, or in the territory of the European Union, or in the countries which fulfil internationally accepted standards for the prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities, based on the information obtained from Financial Reporting organisations, international organisations or other authorised international authorities, and which are approved by Ministers, and customers which are characterised as low risk clients by controllers. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A13. | Enhanced customer due diligence, apart from usual identification requirements, include additional measures which are prescribed by the Law: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>when entering into a relationship with the bank or any other credit institution which is headquartered in a country which is not on the list of countries that apply internationally accepted standards for the prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities. Additional data which are required for enhanced procedures are: data on date of issuing and period for which licence for performing financial services is valid, name and address of the authority that issued licence, description of the internal procedures for prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities, description of the relevant legislation for prevention of money laundering which are applied in the country where the bank or credit institution is registered, a written statement that the bank or credit institution does not have business relationship with shell banks, a written statement that the bank or credit institution does not have established or that it is not entering into a business relationship with shell banks, a written statement that bank or credit institution is subject to administrative supervision in the country where it has headquarters, and that it is obliged to adjust its business with laws for preventing money laundering and financing of terrorist activities;</li> <li>when entering into a relationship with Politically Exposed Person ("PEP"). When the client and/or owner of the client that enters into a business relationship or executes a transaction, or when the client and/or owner of the client on whose behalf is entered into a business relationship or performed the transaction is a PEP, additional measures for identification of the client must be performed: gather information on source of income and assets which is or shall be subject to a business relationship or transaction for documentation that is presented by the client (when this information cannot be obtained in the prescribed manner, the client must provide written statements), persons liable for carrying out measures for money laundering detection and the prevention of money laundering shall obtain written approval from the top management before entering into a business relationship with the PEP, after entering into a business relationship with the PEP. Persons liable for carrying out measures for money laundering detection and the prevention of money laundering shall monitor transactions and other business activities of PEPs;</li> <li>in the event a client was not physically present when identification was performed. Persons liable for carrying out measures for money laundering detection and the prevention of money laundering shall gather additional documentation, information and data based on which identification can be checked. Additionally check or confirm submitted documentation, identification documents by the credit or financial institution, apply measures that the first payment in the business relationship is performed via an account opened in the name of the client in the other credit institution; and</li> <li>in any other cases, for new or existing clients, when due to the business relationship, specifics of the transaction, business profile of the client, or any other circumstances which are related to the client, when the risk of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities exists.</li> </ol> |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A14. | Enhanced customer procedures are required for foreign and domestic PEPs and for every physical person who has or used to have an exposed public function, their close family members and close associates. PEPs include president of the state, premiers, ministers, deputies of ministers, assistants of ministers, representatives of the legislators, judges of the supreme court, constitutional court or other courts, members of the audit department and board of governors of the Central Bank, ambassadors and officers of the military forces and members of the management or supervisory boards of companies which are mainly owned by the state.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A15. | Enhanced customer due diligence procedures are prescribed for banks and other financial institutions which have headquarters abroad. Apart from identification and monitoring procedures, the company is obliged to: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>gather information on whether a customer has license, and if yes, for which period the license is granted for providing banking services, name and headquarters of the authority which issued the license; description of the internal procedures which relate to identification and prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities; description of the internal procedures for identification of the beneficial owner of the customer, which relate to reports on suspicious transactions to the relevant authorities; description of the internal procedures for keeping the reports, description of the internal controls and other procedures adopted by the bank for the detection and prevention of the money laundering or financing terrorist activities;</li> <li>obtain a description of the relevant legislation in the field of detection and prevention of money laundering and financing terrorist activities in the state where the bank or similar financial institution is established or registered;</li> <li>obtain a written statement that the bank or other similar financial institution does not have any business relations with shell banks;</li> <li>obtain a written statement that the bank or other similar financial institution does not have a legal relationship with shell banks;</li> <li>obtain a written statement that the bank or other similar financial institution is not under administrative supervision in the residence state and that, in accordance with legislation in the residence state, has an obligation to adjust its business activities to be in line with legislation which relates to the detection and prevention of money laundering and financing of terrorist activities; and</li> <li>ensure an employee of the controller shall not enter into business relationship with a foreign bank prior obtaining approval from his superior.</li> </ol>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A17. | The following identification procedures are required for customers not physically present during the identification process: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) gather additional identification documents, data and information based on which the identity of the customer can be checked;</li> <li>b) perform additional checks of the identification documents submitted and obtain confirmation for those documents from another loan or financial institution; and</li> <li>c) apply measures by which the first payment is performed via an account opened in the name of the customer in another financial institution.</li> </ul> |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                               |
| A18. | SARs are made to the State Investigation and Protection Agency ( http://www.sipa.gov.ba/en ) (Financial Intelligence Department of the State Investigation and Protection Agency). |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                  |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 - 166 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 – USD18,286m (Source: data.worldbank.org *) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD110.2m of GDP. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | There is an obligation to report any suspicious client or person.                                                                                                                                             |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported? |
| A21. | Transactions below approximately EUR15,339.                                              |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                |
| A22. | AML legislation prescribes financial penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements for the legal entity, controllers, responsible persons in the legal entity and independent entrepreneurs. |

|             |                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology? |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                             |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                       |
| A24. | A transaction which is identified as suspicious is temporarily suspended based on the warrant of the Financial Reporting Organisation up to a maximum of 5 days. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                 |
| A25. | Local legislation allows the Financial Reporting Organisation to request documentation and information from other authorities which are responsible for prevention of money laundering. |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls? |
| A26. | Yes.                                                                                                                                     |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | a) once a year;b) the Banking Agency; andc) no.                                                                                                                                                                      |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) yes,</li> <li>c) yes.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                        |

Data Privacy

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul> |
| A29. | Yes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) N/A; and</li> <li>c) no.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A30. | Personal data that are processed may be taken out of Bosnia and Herzegovina to another country or be given to an international organization that implements adequate safeguards for personal data. Adequacy of safeguards is estimated on the basis of specific circumstances in which the transfer of personal data is conducted, in which particularly the following shall be taken into account: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) types of personal data;</li> <li>b) the purpose and period of processing;</li> <li>c) the country in which data is transferred;</li> <li>d) statutory rules in force in the country in which data are transferred; and</li> <li>e) professional rules and security measures that must be respected in that country.</li> </ul> Personal data that are processed may be taken out of Bosnia and Herzegovina to another country that does not provide adequate safeguards when: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the disclosure of personal data is provided by special law or an international treaty binding for Bosnia and Herzegovina;</li> <li>b) the prior consent was obtained from the person whose data are transferred and the person was informed on the potential consequences of the data transfer;</li> <li>c) the disclosure of personal data is necessary to fulfil the contract between the data subject and the controller or the fulfilment of pre-contractual obligations undertaken at the request of the person whose data are processed;</li> <li>d) the disclosure of personal data is necessary to save the life of the person to whom the data pertains or when it is in his/her vital interests;</li> <li>e) the personal data are transferred from the files or records which are, in accordance with the law or other regulations, available to the public;</li> <li>f) the transfer of personal data is necessary for the public interest reasons; and</li> <li>g) the transfer of personal data is necessary for concluding or fulfilling a contract between the controller with a third party when the contract is in the interest of the person whose data are processed.</li> </ul> Exceptionally, the Agency for data protection may approve the transfer of data from Bosnia and Herzegovina to another country which does not provide an appropriate level of protection as defined, when a controller in another country provides adequate safeguards for the protection of privacy and fundamental rights and freedoms of individuals or provision of similar rights arises from the provisions of a special agreement. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                             |
| A31. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Croatia

Key contact: Dženet Garibović
Email: dzenet.garibovic@hr.pwc.com
Tel: +385 1 6328 888

Postal address: Ulica kneza Ljudevita
Posavskog 31
10000 Zagreb

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A1. | The Anti- Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Act (Official Gazette No. 87/2008), based on the Third EU AML Directive, became effective on 1 Jan 2009. It replaced the previous Croatian AML legislation from 1997. It was amended by the Act on Amendments to the Act on Anti-Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Act (Official Gazette 25/2012), however these amendments were of linguistic nature and did not bring any changes to the AML/TF procedures established by the original AML/TF Act. The new Criminal Code (Official Gazette 125/2011) came into force in January 2013 introducing new definitions of money laundering as a criminal offence (Article 265), terrorist financing and other related criminal offences (Articles 97 -103).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A3. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) The Croatian National Bank supervises banks and other credit institutions (http://www.hnb.hr/novcan/pranje_novca_terorizam/e-pranje-novca-terorizam.htm);</li> <li>b) The Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency ("HANFA"), conducts supervision of other financial services capital markets participants, funds, insurance companies, leasing and factoring companies etc. (http://www.hanfa.hr/) and the Financial Inspectorate of the Ministry of Finance regulates and supervises non-banking financial institutions such as exchange offices, money transfer services, etc. (http://www.mfin.hr/en/financial-inspectorate); and</li> <li>c) The Financial Inspectorate of the Ministry of Finance supervises professional activities sector (lawyers, notaries public, accountants, auditors, tax advisers) (http://www.mfin.hr/en/financial-inspectorate) and the Tax Administration – organisers of games of chance and checking of domestic legal entities and individual's compliance with the prescribed limitation of cash payments in an amount exceeding HRK105,000, i.e. amount exceeding EUR15,000 in the arrangements with non-residents (http://www.porezna-uprava.hr/en/Pages/default.aspx).</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A4. | Yes, there are several guidelines available: The Croatian National Bank's Guidelines for the implementation of the Anti -Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Act with respect to credit institutions, credit unions and electronic money institutions: http://www.hnb.hr/novcan/pranje_novca_terorizam/e-smjernice-zakon-spft-ki-en.pdf The Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency Guidelines for the implementation of the Anti- Money Laundering and Terrorism Financing Act for obligated persons who fall within the supervisory scope of the Croatian Financial Services Supervisory Agency (Croatian version only): http://www.hanfa.hr/ Ministry of Finance – Financial Inspectorate: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) general guidelines for the implementation of the Anti -Money Laundering and Terrorism Financing Act (http://www.mfin.hr/en/anti-money-laundering-office);</li> <li>b) guidelines for the implementation of the Anti-Money Laundering and Terrorism Financing Act for audit firms, independent auditors, natural and legal persons who provide accounting and tax counselling services (Croatian version only) (http://www.mfin.hr/adminmax/docs/Sektorske_smjernice_za_revizore_itd.pdf);</li> <li>c) guidelines for the implementation of the Anti-Money Laundering and Terrorism Financing Act for lawyers and public notaries (Croatian version only) (http://www.mfin.hr/adminmax/docs/Smjernice_ZSPNFT_odvjetnici_i_javni_bilježnici.pdf);</li> <li>d) guidelines of the Office for Money Laundering Prevention of the Ministry of Finance (Croatian version only) (http://www.mfin.hr/hr/zakoni-i-pravilnici); and</li> <li>e) latest general guidelines from Jul 2015: (http://www.mfin.hr/adminmax/docs/Opce%20smjernice%20FI_rev2015.pdf).</li> </ul> |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A5. | Yes, the current AML/TF Act contains provision which required customer due diligence to be conducted in relation to all existing customers where risk assessment indicated that ML/TF risk existed within one year after the effective date of Act i.e. until 01 Jan 2010. Every active customer has to be identified and the identity verified in accordance with the Act and related regulations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A7. | Croatia has not been the subject of a FATF Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years, however the assessment of the implementation of anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing (AML/CFT) measures in Croatia was conducted by MONEYVAL. Please see Evaluation Report on Croatia (http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/evaluations/round3/MONEYVAL(2008)03Rep-HR3_en.pdf). Followed by the First Progress Report adopted on 18 Mar 2009 (http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Evaluations/progress%20reports/MONEYVAL(2009)6ProgRep-HRV_en.pdf) and Second Progress report adopted on 13 Apr 2011(http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Evaluations/Progress%20reports%202y/MONEYVAL(2011)4-ProgRep2HRV_en.pdf). The most recent MONEYVAL evaluation was conducted through an on-site visit from 17-23-NOV-2012 and the evaluation report on the 4th assessment visit to Croatia was adopted in Sep 2013: http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Evaluations/round4/CRO4-MERMONEYVAL(2013)15_en.pdf Link to mutual evaluation of Croatia, confirming Croatia is a member of MONEYVAL: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/a-c/croatia/documents/mutualevaluationofcroatia.html                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A8. | Yes, one-off transactions below HRK105,000 (approx. USD14,830) in total, whether carried out as a single operation or several linked transactions reaching the prescribed threshold. In addition, electronic money institutions from another Member State and branches of third-country electronic money institutions may be exempt from the obligation to carry out customer due diligence measures in the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) when issuing electronic money, if a single amount of a payment executed for the issuance of such money, on an electronic data carrier which may not be recharged, does not exceed the HRK equivalent of EUR150 (approx. USD160); and</li> <li>b) when issuing electronic money and dealing with electronic money, if the total amount of executed payments, stored on an electronic data carrier which may be recharged, does not exceed the HRK equivalent of EUR2,500 (approx. USD2,710) during a calendar year, except in the cases where the electronic money holder cashes the HRK equivalent of EUR1,000 (approx. USD1,090) or more during the same calendar year.</li> </ul> Credit institutions may be exempt from the obligation to carry out the customer due diligence measures in the case of other products or transactions associated with them, which pose negligible ML/TF risks, provided they meet the conditions prescribed by an ordinance of the Minister of Finance. Insurance companies licensed for the performance of life insurance business, insurance companies from member-states with a business unit in Croatia or authorised to directly perform life insurance business in Croatia, pension companies, as well as legal entities and individuals performing business or activity of insurance representation or intermediation for entering into life insurance agreements may be allowed not to carry out customer due diligence in the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) contracting life insurance policies in which the individual premium instalment or several insurance premium instalments to be paid within one year does not exceed a total HRK equivalent amount of EUR1,000 (approx. USD1,090), or in cases when single premium payment does not exceed the HRK equivalent value of EUR2,500; and</li> <li>b) contracting pension insurances providing that types of insurance are being contracted whereby it is not possible to transfer the insurance policy to a third person or use it as collateral for a credit or loan, and a contract is entered into with a closed-end pension fund if the employer pays the contributions into the voluntary pension fund on behalf of the fund's members (no monetary threshold indicated).</li> </ul> Institutions and persons may not be exempt from the obligation to carry out customer due diligence measures when there are grounds for suspicion of ML/TF with respect to a customer, product or transaction. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A9.  | Identification and verification of an individual's identity is done through examination of the original customer's personal identification documents in the customer's presence (e.g. an ID Card for residents and a passport for non-residents). Individuals: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) full name and surname;</li> <li>b) permanent address;</li> <li>c) date of birth;</li> <li>d) place of birth;</li> <li>e) personal identification number; and</li> <li>f) name and number of the identification document, the name of the issuing authority.</li> </ul> Legal entities: Verification of legal entities' information is done through examining documentation from court or other public register. The following data should be collected and verified: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) registered name;</li> <li>b) registered seat (street and number, place and country);</li> <li>c) business registration number;</li> <li>d) full name and surname, permanent address, date of birth place of birth, personal identification number, name and number of the identification document, the name of the issuing authority of a legal representative/person acting on behalf of a legal entity on the basis of Power of Attorney; and</li> <li>e) name and surname, permanent address, date of birth and place of birth of the beneficial owner.</li> </ul> If there is any suspicion during the course of identifying the legal person and verifying the legal person's identity as to the veracity of data collected or credibility of the documents and other business documentation from which data was collected, the institution or person performing identification and verification shall ask the legal representative or the person authorised by power of attorney to give a written statement prior to establishing a business relationship or executing a transaction.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A10. | Identification and verification of an individual's identity is done through examination of the original customer's personal identification documents in the customer's presence. In case of legal entities, identification and verification is performed by examining an original or a notarised copy of documentation from court or other public register presented by the legal person's legal representative or person authorised by power of attorney. At the time of submission, the originals or the notarised copies of the required documentation must not be more than three months old. The legal entity's identity can be also identified and verified by gathering the required data through a direct examination of court or other public register. The copy of the excerpt from the register examined directly must be endorsed i.e., the examiner must put date, time, his/her name and surname. While verifying customer's identity, the institutions and persons performing identification and verification must first check the nature of a register from which data for the identity verification purposes are obtained. Identification and verification of the legal representatives of legal entities, persons who act on behalf of a legal entity on the basis of the Power of Attorney and representatives of the trust, foundations or NGOs is done thorough the examination of original personal identification documents of those persons in their presence. If the documents are insufficient to collect all prescribed data, the missing data are collected from other valid public document submitted by those persons i.e. from those persons directly. Beneficial owner's identification and verification is done by examining the originals or notarised copies of documents from a court or other public register not more than three months old at the time of their submission. If those documents are insufficient for collecting data on beneficial ownership, then examination of the original or notarised documents and other business documentation supplied by the legal representative or person authorised by power of attorney is performed or data is collected directly from a written statement given by the customer's legal representative or the person authorised by power of attorney. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A11. | The Croatian AML/FT Act defines beneficial owner as an individual who: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) ultimately owns or controls a legal entity through direct or indirect ownership or control of 25% plus one share of voting rights in that legal person, or otherwise exercises control over management of a legal person;</li> <li>b) with trust and foundations, a beneficial owner of 25% or more of the property rights of the legal transaction, or in whose main interest the transaction or legal person is set up or operates or who exercises control over 25% or more of the property rights of the legal transaction; or</li> <li>c) controls another natural person on whose behalf a transaction is being conducted or an activity performed.</li> </ul> These individuals must be identified, and risk-based and adequate measures must be taken to verify their identities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A12. | Reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements are possible in respect of customers or products or transactions representing a low risk money laundering or terrorist financing risk except in instances when there are reasons for suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing in relation to a customer or a transaction. This applies to relationships or transactions with the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) credit or financial institutions from the EU/EEA states or third countries considered as having equivalent AML/CFT systems to the EU (banks, savings bank, housing savings banks, Croatian Post, investment funds management companies, pension funds companies, financial instruments companies insurance companies who provide life insurance services);</li> <li>b) companies listed on a regulated market in the EU states or from the third countries which are subject to disclosure requirements consistent with the EU legislation;</li> <li>c) domestic public authorities and the public authorities of the EU; and</li> <li>d) persons who meet the conditions set forth by the Ordinance on the determination of conditions under which institutions and persons identify customers who pose a negligible risk in terms of money laundering or terrorist financing.</li> </ul> |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A13. | Enhanced customer due diligence measures and enhanced ongoing monitoring is required in any situation which due to the nature of the business relationship, the form and manner of transaction execution, business profile of the customer or other circumstances associated with the customer can present a greater risk of money laundering or terrorist financing. Three specific types of relationships where enhanced due diligence measures must be applied are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) where the customer has not been physically present for identification and identity verification purposes;</li> <li>b) in respect of a correspondent banking relationship with respondents from non-EU/EEA states; or</li> <li>c) in respect of a business relationship with a PEP.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A14. | In any transaction or business relationship with a PEP from a country other than Croatia ('a foreign PEP').                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A15. | Enhanced due diligence measures must be applied in respect to correspondent relationship with a bank or other credit institution from a third country (non-Member States of the EU/EEA) and the following additional data and documentation must be gathered in the process: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the date of issuance and validity period of authorisation to provide banking services, and the name and seat of a competent third-country authority that issued the authorisation;</li> <li>b) a description of the implementation of internal procedures relating to ML/TF prevention and detection, particularly the procedures of customer identity verification, beneficial owner identification, reporting to the competent bodies on suspicious transactions and customers, record keeping, internal audit and other procedures that the bank or other credit institution adopted in relation to ML/TF prevention and detection;</li> <li>c) a description of systemic arrangements in the field of the ML/TF prevention and detection in effect in a third country in which the bank or other credit institution has its seat or in which it has been registered;</li> <li>d) a written statement confirming that the bank or other credit institution does not operate as a shell bank;</li> <li>e) a written statement confirming that the bank or other credit institution neither has business relationships with shell banks established, nor does it establish business relationships or conduct transactions with shell banks; and</li> <li>f) a written statement confirming that the bank or other credit institution falls under the scope of legal supervision in the country of its seat or registration, and that it is required to apply legal and other regulations in the field of the ML/TF prevention and detection in accordance with that country's effective laws.</li> </ul> In order to establish new correspondent banking relationships, a prior written approval of a credit institution's senior management must be sought. In the context of enhanced due diligence, credit institutions must obtain the following additional documentation: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a written statement that the correspondent bank or other credit institution has verified the identity of a customer and that it conducts ongoing due diligence of customers who have direct access to payable-through accounts, and</li> <li>b) a written statement that the correspondent bank or other credit institution can provide, upon request, relevant data obtained on the basis of due diligence of customers having direct access to payable-through accounts.</li> </ul> |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A16. | Yes, they are specifically prohibited. Credit institutions are not allowed to establish or continue a correspondent relationship with a bank which operates or might operate as a shell bank or with another similar credit institution known to enter into agreements on opening and keeping accounts with shell banks.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non-face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A17. | Non-face-to-face transactions and/or relationships are considered higher risk of ML/TF by the Croatian AML/TF Act and other relevant regulations. Where a customer has not been physically present for identification purposes, enhanced customer due diligence must always be performed. In such cases, institutions and persons covered by the Croatian AML/TF Act must apply one or more of the following supplementary enhanced due diligence measures: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) obtain additional documents, data or information on the basis of which the customer's identity shall be verified;</li> <li>b) additionally verify the submitted documents or additionally certify them by a foreign credit or financial institution; and/or</li> <li>c) apply a measure whereby the first payment within the business activity is carried out through an account opened in the customer's name with the given credit institution.</li> </ul> Establishing a business relationship without physical presence of the customer is not permitted, unless a reporting entity applied those additional measures. Pursuant to the Croatian AML/TF Act credit and financial institutions are obliged to pay special attention to any ML and/or TF risk which may stem from new technologies enabling anonymity (Internet banking, ATM use, tele-banking, etc.) and put policies in place and take measures aimed at preventing the use of new technologies for the ML/or TF purposes. They must have policies and procedures in place for risks attached with a business relationship or transactions with non-face-to-face customers and to apply them at the establishment of a business relationship with a customer and during the course of conducting customer due diligence measures which include the supplementary measures described above.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A18. | All suspicious activity reports should be sent to the Croatian Financial Intelligence Unit, Anti-Money Laundering Office: http://www.mfin.hr/en/anti-money-laundering-office                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 698 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 - USD 57,220 million (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD81.97m of GDP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A20. | Yes, besides an obligation to report suspicious transactions, there is an obligation to report to the Anti-Money Laundering Office on each transaction being conducted in cash totalling HRK200,000 (approx. EUR28,000 or USD30,430) and more immediately, and no later than within three days upon the execution of the transaction. The Act also mandates that a special attention is paid to all complex and unusually large transactions, as well as to each unusual transaction without an apparent economic or visible lawful purpose even when the reasons for suspicion of the ML/TF have not been detected. However if the reasons for suspicion are detected in relation to such transactions, they should be reported to the Office. In all instances when the customer seeks an advice from persons involved in the performance of professional activities on money laundering or terrorist financing, the persons involved in the performance of professional activities must immediately notify the Office thereof, and no later than within three business days from the date the customer sought for such an advice. |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A21. | No, every suspicious transaction, irrespective of its value or execution manner must be reported.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A22. | Yes, there are penalties prescribed by the AML/TF for failure to comply with reporting requirements ranging from HRK25,000 (approx. EUR4,000 or USD4,350) to HRK700,000 (approx. EUR100,000 or USD108,700) for legal entities. In addition, monetary fines ranging from HRK1,500 (approx. EUR200 or USD218) to HRK30,000 (approx. EUR4,000 or USD4,350) are envisaged for members of the management board or other legal persons responsible for non-compliance with reporting requirements.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A23. | No. Although the AML/TF Act imposes an obligation on the institutions and persons to establish an information system adequate to their respective organisational schemes, in order to provide the Anti-Money Laundering Office with prompt, timely and complete information as to whether or not they maintain or have maintained a business relationship with an individual or a legal entity, as well as to the nature of such a relationship, there is no requirement to use a specific AML/TF monitoring technology such as automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A24. | Yes. The institutions or persons are required to refrain from conducting of a suspicious transaction and to notify the AML Office of such a transaction without any undue delay before executing the transaction, indicating the reasons for suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing as well as the deadline within which the transaction is to be conducted. Only in exceptional circumstances the reporting entity can proceed with a current/ongoing transaction before notifying the Office, if the Office could not be notified due to the nature of the transaction or due to the fact that the transaction was not executed or for other justified reasons. Nevertheless, the reporting entity is obliged to report the Office subsequently, and no later than the next business day following the execution of such transaction. |

|      |                                                                                                        |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                |
| A25. | There are no provisions on monitoring transactions outside Croatia in the relevant AML/TF legislation. |

AML Audits

|      |                                                                                                                                          |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls? |
| A26. | No. Only a regular internal AML audit is required by the law.                                                                            |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A29. | Croatia has data protection laws in place. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) no clear rules regarding corporate data; and</li> <li>c) yes; sensitive data is defined as information covering the racial or ethnic origin of the data subject, political opinions, religious or other beliefs of a similar nature membership of trade unions, physical or mental health or condition, sexual life and personal data regarding criminal and misdemeanour proceedings. In principle, such data cannot be processed, and derogation is tolerated under very specific circumstances. These circumstances include the data subject's explicit consent to process sensitive data, carrying out legal obligations to which personal data filing system controller is subject, or if the data subject discloses such data on his/her own. Such data has to be specifically labelled and protected. Therefore, any information assets (information systems, computers) that store or process sensitive data are also assigned a high level of protection. The additional protections of sensitive data are set forth in the Regulation on the manner of storing and special measures of technical protection of the special categories of personal data (Official Gazette, No. 139/04).</li> </ul> |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A30. | There is no specific reference in the law to the transfer of these reports for KYC purposes. However, any transfer of credit reports, criminal records and medical data should be done with strict observation of processing conditions set forth in the Personal Data Protection Act and other relevant data protection regulations e.g. credit reports transfer for credit risk analysis purposes to other credit institutions or to an institution established to collect and disseminate information on the creditworthiness of legal entities and individuals is not considered a violation of and secrecy obligations. Personal data contained in criminal records can only be processed under supervision of the competent authority. Medical record data must not be collected, processed or used without a prior written consent from a patient and can only be used for an in accordance with the purpose for which they were collected.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A31. | EU case law on data protection (European Court of Justice cases) has applied to Croatia since 01 Jul 2013 (accession date) and may impact on the transfer of information.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A32. | Yes there is a bank secrecy section in the Credit Institutions Act and it is aimed at protecting the confidentiality of all information, facts and circumstances of which a credit institution becomes aware in the course of providing services to clients or in the course of business with individual clients. Banking secrecy obligations do not apply where confidential information is disclosed to the Anti-Money Laundering Office pursuant to the law governing the prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Cyprus

Key contact: Chris Odysseos
Email: chris.odysseos@cy.pwc.com
Tel: +357 22 555 494

Postal address: PwC Central 43 Demostheni Severi Avenue,
CY-1080, Nicosia, Cyprus

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A1. | 1996.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A3. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Central Bank of Cyprus (www.centralbank.gov.cy);</li> <li>b) Cyprus Securities and Exchange Commission ("CySEC") (www.cysec.gov.cy); and</li> <li>c) Unit for Combating Money Laundering ("MOKAS") (http://www.law.gov.cy/law/mokas/mokas.nsf/index_en/index_en?OpenDocument).</li> </ul> |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A4. | The Institute of Certified Public Accountants of Cyprus ("ICPAC") has issued a Directive for the Prevention & Suppression of Money Laundering & Terrorist Financing Laws of 2007 and 2010 that serves as guidance to audit firms. The latest version was issued in Sep 2013.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last 3 years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                   |
| A7. | Cyprus is being assessed by MoneyVal Council Of Europe. The latest report was released in September 2011 ( http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Evaluations/round4/CYP4_Sum_MONEYVAL%282011%2902_en.pdf ). |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                               |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?            |
| A8. | Yes, occasional transactions under EUR15,000 whether the transaction is carried out in a single operation or in several operations which appear to be linked. |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A9. | Individuals: should provide documentary evidence for their full name, date of birth, the address at which they can be located, their profession or occupation and specimen signature. An official document bearing a photograph of the person should be obtained. It is important that the current permanent address should be verified as it is an integral part of identity by requesting sight of a recent utility bill, local authority tax bill or bank or co-operative society statement, or making a credit reference agency search. Legal Entities: should provide documentary evidence of full name, registration address, a copy of the latest report and accounts, a copy of the certificate of incorporation/certificate of trade or equivalent, a copy of the company's Memorandum and Articles of Association and other certificates issued by the Registrar of Companies, a group structure to identify individuals who control over 10% of the entity's shares or voting rights, and the names of the directors. The identification of directors and beneficial shareholders is in line with the requirements for individual clients. |

|      |                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication? |
| A10. | The documents must be certified true copies of the originals.                                                                           |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                              |
| A11. | Due diligence measures comprise identifying and verifying the identity of the beneficial owner owning or controlling more than 10% of the shares or voting rights of the client. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A12. | According to paragraph 63-(1) of the Law:Simplified customer due diligence and identifications procedures can be used in respect of the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) credit of financial institution covered by the EU Directive or those who are situated in a country outside the European Economic Area which: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. in accordance with a decision of the Advisory Authority for Combating Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing, imposes requirements equivalent to those laid down by the EU Directive; and</li> <li>b. it is under supervision for compliance with those requirements;</li> </ul> </li> <li>b) listed companies whose securities are admitted to trading on a regulated market in a country of the European Economic Area or in a third country which is subject to disclosure requirements consistent with community legislation; and</li> <li>c) Domestic Public Authorities of countries of the European Economic Area.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A13. | According to paragraph 64-(1) of the Law:Enhanced due diligence measures should be in place in respect of the following customers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) where the customer has not been physically present for identification purposes;</li> <li>b) in respect of cross-frontier correspondent banking relationships with current institutions to customers from third countries; and</li> <li>c) in respect of transactions or business relationships with politically exposed persons ('PEPs') residing in a country within the European Economic Area or a third country.</li> </ul> According to paragraph 64-(2) of the Law: "Enhanced customer due diligence measures must be taken in all other instances which due to their nature entail a higher risk of money laundering or terrorist financing."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A14. | According to paragraph 5.61 of the Directive, if the prospective client is a PEP, the firm should obtain senior management approval for establishing business relationship. In addition, according to paragraph 4.55 of the Directive, the firm should establish the source of wealth and source of funds for PEPs and also conduct ongoing monitoring on the business relationship. Paragraph 5.62 of the Directive states that the firm should pay special attention when PEPs originate from a country which is widely known to face problems of bribery, corruption and financial irregularity and whose anti-money laundering laws and regulations are not equivalent to international standards. With regards to the issue of corruption, a useful source of information is the Transparency International Corruption Perceptions Index which ranks countries and territories based on how corrupt their public sector is perceived to be.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A15. | According to 64 (b) of the Law, in respect of cross-frontier correspondent banking relationships with credit institutions to customers from third countries, it is required to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) gather sufficient information about the credit institution customer to fully understand the nature of the business and the activities of the customer and to assess, from publicly available information, the reputation of the institution and the quality of its supervision;</li> <li>b) assess the systems and procedures applied by the credit institution customer for the prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing;</li> <li>c) obtain approval from senior management before entering into correspondent bank account relationships;</li> <li>d) document the respective responsibilities of the person engaged in financial or other business activities and of the credit institution customer; and</li> <li>e) with respect to payable-through accounts, it must be ensured that the credit institution-customer has verified the identity of its customers, and performed ongoing due diligence on the customers having direct access to the correspondent bank accounts and that it is able to provide relevant customers' due diligence data to the correspondent institution, upon request.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A17. | If the client is a non-Cypriot resident who is not seen face-to-face, then a professional adviser in the client's home country could be used to confirm identity, or a copy of the passport authenticated by an attorney or consulate, or verification details covering true name, permanent address and verification of signature could be checked with a reputable credit or financial institution or professional advisor in the prospective client's home country. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                   |
| A18. | MOKAS: http://www.law.gov.cy/law/mokas/mokas.nsf/mokas02_en/mokas02_en?OpenDocument |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                 |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2013 – 828 SARs (Source: MOKAS) GDP (in current prices):2013 – USD24,057.3m (Source: data.worldbank.org) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD29.1m of GDP. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | According to 6.05 of the Directive, any knowledge or suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing should be promptly reported to MOKAS.                                                               |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A21. | No, because according to paragraph 6.01 of the Directive for the Prevention & Suppression of Money Laundering & Terrorist Financing Laws of 2007 and 2010, the types of transactions which may be used by those exercising money laundering or terrorist financing are almost unlimited, it is difficult to define a suspicious transaction. |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A22. | According to the Law:                     "(27-(1)) A person who                     a) knows or reasonably suspects that another person is engaged in laundering or financing of terrorism offences; and                     b) the information on which that knowledge or reasonable suspicion is based, comes to his attention in the course of his trade, profession, business or employment shall commit an offence if he does not disclose the said information to the Unit as soon as is reasonably practicable after it comes to his attention. 27-(3) No criminal proceedings shall be brought against a person for the commission of the offences referred to in subsection (1), without the expressed approval of the Attorney General. 27-(4) An offence under this section shall be punishable by imprisonment not exceeding five years or by a pecuniary penalty not exceeding EUR5,000 or by both of these penalties." |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A23. | No. According to the Directive for the Prevention & Suppression of Money Laundering & Terrorist Financing Laws of 2007, paragraph 6.04, a firm might also consider monitoring the types of transactions and circumstances that have given rise to suspicious transaction reports by staff, with a view to updating internal instructions and guidelines from time to time. However there is no requirement to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A24. | According to paragraph 70 of the Law: "Persons engaged in financial and other business activities refrain from carrying out transactions which they know or suspect to be related with money laundering or terrorist financing before they inform the Unit of their suspicion. It is provided that, if it is impossible to refrain from carrying out the transaction or is likely to frustrate efforts to pursue the beneficiaries of a suspected money laundering or terrorist financing operation, the persons engaged in financial or other business activities, must inform the Unit immediately afterwards."                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A25. | Local legislation does not cover monitoring transactions outside Cyprus.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

AML Audits

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A26. | In accordance with the Central Bank of Cyprus "Directive on a Framework of Principles of Operation and Criteria of Assessment of Banks' Organisational Structure, Internal Governance and Internal Control Systems of 2006 to 2012" ("the CBC Directive") banks should submit to the Central Bank of Cyprus a report prepared by external auditors/consultants every three years, on the assessment of the adequacy of the internal control System on an individual company as well as consolidated group basis. Under the CBC Directive, the external auditor/consultant assesses the internal control environment (including systems) with regard to the banks' management of the risk of money laundering and terrorism financing. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A27. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the report must be provided every 3 years;</li> <li>b) the report is submitted by the external auditor/consultant to the Bank. The Bank is subsequently responsible for its submission to the Central Bank of Cyprus;</li> <li>c) under a financial statement audit, a bank's AML systems and controls are not explicitly reported on.</li> </ul> During a financial audit, the procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, "the auditor considers internal controls that are relevant to the entity's preparation of financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control" (extract from the Independent Auditor's report as this has been approved by ICPAC). |
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A28. | Under the CBC Directive, it is not explicitly required for the external auditor/consultant to perform sample testing of KYC files and SAR reports, or to examine risk assessments. However, the external auditor/consultant may judge it necessary to perform such sample testing in the assessment of the Bank's internal control environment with regard to the management of the risk of money laundering and terrorism financing.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A29. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes, the Processing of Personal Data (Protection of the Individual) Law of 2001 as amended in 2003;</li> <li>b) the data protection law does not apply to corporate data as the definition of data subject does not include a company. Corporate data may be protected contractually by confidentiality agreements; and</li> <li>c) yes there is a separate definition of "sensitive data". Sensitive data means data relating to racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, participation in, association and trade union membership, health, sex life and sexual orientation, as well as on criminal charges or convictions. The collection and processing of sensitive data is prohibited. Any collection or processing of sensitive data requires the consent of the data subject, e.g. in order to go through with a contract with the consent of the data subject e.g. in employment contracts, insurance contracts etc.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A30. | For KYC purposes the Law provides that the processor can process personal and sensitive data with the consent of the data subject. Personal data can be processed without the consent of the data subject in case that the processing is necessary in order for the processor to be in compliance with a law or regulation of the EU and in case the processing is necessary for the performance of a contract to which party is the data subject or to take steps at the request of the data subject prior to entering an agreement (s 5.) In addition, according to the Anti-Money Laundering Law in terms of processing of data: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) persons engaged in financial or other business must apply adequate and appropriate systems and procedures in relation to the identification and due diligence as to the customer in accordance with the provisions of this Law; and</li> <li>b) criminal records and medical data fall under the definition of sensitive data. As stated in question 29(c), the collections and processing of sensitive data is prohibited. However, under section 6(2), as mentioned above, there are some exceptions to this prohibition. Those exceptions include medical data and criminal records.</li> </ul> Section (6)(2)(f) Medical data: processing of medical data is allowed when the processing of that data related to medical data and is executed by a person whose profession is to provide health services and who is subject to a duty of confidentiality or other related codes of conduct, provided that such processing is necessary for medical prevention, diagnosis, cure or management of health. Section 6(2)(g) Criminal data: processing of criminal records is allowed when such processing is concerned with the detection of offences, criminal convictions, security measures and investigation of mass destruction and is necessary to serve national need and national security, to serve the needs of forensic or correctional policy of the Republic or organisation or institution that is authorised for that purpose by the Republic. |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A31. | Transfer of personal data within the EU is free. For a transfer to a third country, a license must be obtained from the Commissioner of Protection of Personal Data.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A32. | The Data Protection Law applies here the same way as described above. The Banking Law 66(I)/1997 (as subsequently amended) allows a licensed credit institution to obtain information from their customers in order to open an account such as their identification i.e. name, identity number or passport number. All persons that work for the Central Bank and their representatives of the Central Bank auditors or experts are bound by the obligation of professional secrecy. The Central Bank may exchange information with the competent authorities of different Member States in accordance with this law and in accordance with other laws or instructions or regulation applicable to credit institutions by the EU like Article 31 and 35 of Regulation (EU) No 1093/2010.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Czech Republic

Key contact: Sirshar Qureshi
Email: sirshar.qureshi@cz.pwc.com
Tel: +420 2 5115 1235

Postal address: Hvězdova 1734/2c
140 00 Praha 4,
Czech Republic

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A1. | 1996 (amended 2004, 2006 and 2008 - Act No. 253/2008 Coll. effective as of 1 September 2008) and last amended in Oct 2015 ( http://www.mfcr.cz/cs/verejny-sektor/regulace/boj-proti-prani-penez-a-financovani-tero/legislativa-aml-cft ).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A3. | The key regulator for AML controls is: Ministry of Finance of the Czech Republic Financial Analytical Department ("FAU") (http://www.mfcr.cz/cs/verejny-sektor/regulace/boj-proti-prani-penez-a-financovani-tero/stanoviska-financniho-analytickeho-utvar). Controls are also further performed also by (refer to Section 35 of the Act 253/2008 Coll.): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Czech National Bank (www.cnb.cz) in accordance with Act No. 6/1993 Coll., on the Czech National Bank (http://www.cnb.cz/miranda2/export/sites/www.cnb.cz/en/legislation/acts/download/act_on_cnb.pdf). The Czech National Bank is a supervisory authority of the financial market in the Czech Republic; and</li> <li>b) Czech Trade Inspectorate (www.coi.cz/en/) administrative authorities supervising lotteries and other similar games, and holders of licences to operate betting games.</li> </ul> |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A4. | Yes, guidelines and methodical recommendations issued by the Ministry of Finance (http://www.mfcr.cz/cs/verejny-sektor/regulace/boj-proti-prani-penez-a-financovani-tero/stanoviska-financniho-analytickeho-utvar). Guidelines also issued by Czech National Bank (http://www.cnb.cz/cs/dohled_financni_trh/legislativni_zakladna/legalizace_vynosu/metodiky_vyklady.html).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A6. | Yes, the Czech National Bank stipulates in Decree No. 281/2008 Coll. (as amended by Decree No. 129/2014 (http://www.cnb.cz/miranda2/export/sites/www.cnb.cz/en/legislation/decrees/decrees_281_2008.pdf)), that financial and credit institutions should implement the risk based approach when assessing the risk of legitimisation of proceeds of crime and financing of terrorism. The institutions should take into consideration the best practices applied in this area. Furthermore, the Czech National Bank issued its official ruling on 26/05/2009 in which it specifies the respective AML standards: http://www.cnb.cz/miranda2/export/sites/www.cnb.cz/cs/legislative/vestnik/2009/download/v_2009_08_21109560.pdf |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A7. | MONEYVAL assessment Apr 2011: http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/Countries/Czech_en.asp                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A8. | Yes, any single transaction below EUR15,000 does not require any customer due diligence unless it is a: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a suspicious transaction;</li> <li>b) an agreement to enter into a business relationship;</li> <li>c) an agreement to establish an account, to make a deposit into a deposit passbook or a deposit certificate, or to make any other type of deposit;</li> <li>d) an agreement to use a safety deposit box or an agreement on custody;</li> <li>e) a transaction with a PEP; and</li> <li>f) as part of the business relationship.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A9.  | The following information is required: Individuals: Name, surname, birth identification number or date of birth, place of birth, sex, address and citizenship. These would normally be verified by an identity card or passport. Individuals who conduct business: In addition to the above, full name of the business, place of business and identification number needs to be noted. Legal entities: the full name, residency/seat, identification (or similar identification received from foreign offices) showing evidence of the company's existence (i.e. certificate of incorporation, trade register statement or other). The same principles for individuals apply for the identification of individuals in the company's statutory body. If the company's statutory body or the owner is another legal entity, identification documentation must also be collected for that entity.  |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A10. | These should be certified by an appropriate person e.g. a notary, local authorities etc. Specific rules apply to credit and financial institutions, where certain employees are authorised to verify these when opening account, concluding contract etc.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A11. | The shareholders of a legal entity (with more than 25% holding) must be ascertained. Identification requirements are the same as for the relevant legal entity.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A12. | Simplified due diligence is applicable for a transaction exceeding EUR1,000 unless it is a: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) suspicious transaction;</li> <li>b) an agreement to enter into a business relationship;</li> <li>c) an agreement to establish an account, to make a deposit into a deposit passbook or a deposit certificate, or to make any other type of deposit;</li> <li>d) an agreement to use a safety deposit box or an agreement on custody;</li> <li>e) a life insurance contract, should the customer have a right to pay extra premiums above the agreed limit of the one-off or regular premiums payments;</li> <li>f) a purchase or receipt of cultural heritage, items of cultural value, used goods or goods without a receipt of origin to further trade in such goods, or receipt of such items in pawn; or</li> <li>g) withdrawal of the final balance of a cancelled bearer passbook.</li> </ul> |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A13. | Enhanced customer due diligence is applicable for: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a remote financial services agreement under the Civil Code;</li> <li>b) a transaction and business relationship with a PEP; and</li> <li>c) a correspondent bank relationship with a foreign credit or similar institution ("Correspondent Institution").</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A14. | Legislation requires financial institutions to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) have sufficient procedures to determine whether the customer is a PEP who is a resident of another country;</li> <li>b) obtain approvals from senior management on a daily basis for establishing business relationships with such customers;</li> <li>c) take reasonable measures to gather information about the sources of income and funds that are involved in the business relationship or transaction; and</li> <li>d) continuously monitor the business relationship.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A15. | All transactions with PEPs are subject to due diligence including the provision of information and supporting documentation relating to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the purpose and intended nature of the transactions or business relationship;</li> <li>b) the beneficial owner, if the client is a legal entity;</li> <li>c) the information required for continuous monitoring of the business relationship; and</li> <li>d) a review of the income source.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A16. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A17. | In the case of a remote financial services agreement under the Civil Code, the entity shall review the customer as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the first payment under this agreement shall be made via an account kept in the customer's name held at a credit institution or a foreign credit institution operating in the European Union ("EU") or the European Economic Area ("EEA"); and</li> <li>b) the customer shall submit to the entity a copy of a document verifying the existence of this account together with copies of the relevant parts of his identity card and at least one more identification document to validate the customer's identification data of this card i.e. the type, serial number, issuing country or institution and validity.</li> </ul> |

Reporting

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A18. | Ministry of Finance of the Czech Republic Financial analytical department ("FAU") (Guidance how SAR must be made: http://www.mfcr.cz/cs/verejny-sektor/regulace/boj-proti-prani-penez-a-financovani-tero/oznameni-podezreleho-obchodu ). |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                         |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 3,192 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 – USD205,269.7m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD64.3m of GDP.     |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                      |
| A20. | Suspicious transactions are identified based on criteria such as unusual transactions, international wire transfers etc. However, no special report is required.                                                                                   |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                           |
| A21. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                           |
| A22. | Yes, penalties are described in detail in Section 43 to 53 of the Act No. 253/2008 Coll.                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                    |
| A23. | No, however, transaction monitoring should be performed by using adequate means which assumes use of some automated technology.                                                                                                                    |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                         |
| A24. | Yes, in general a transaction that is identified/reported as suspicious can be continued after 24 hours from the time when it has to be notified and received by the Ministry of Finance, unless the Ministry of Finance postpone the transaction. |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No.                                                                                     |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A26. | No. However, if the external auditor during performance of the regular audit procedures finds out facts which indicate suspicion of committing economic crime, crime against property or crime of corruption, he is obliged to inform the FAU, statutory representatives and control body of the given bank thereof. The central bank is however authorised to ask the bank to appoint the auditor for review of their internal control system which might also include a review of the AML function if requested by the central bank. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>                                                                    |
| A27. | If such a request is made by the central bank, it covers a selected year of operations and the report is due by the end of Feb of the next year. The auditor provides this report to the bank and the bank delivers the report to the central bank. This review is done independent to the financial statement audit and may even be done by a different auditor. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | Such report is focused primarily on internal controls as defined by the Basel Committee on Banking Supervision best practice, however it would also include a compliance review with the key legal requirements. No sample testing or risk assessment examination is required.                            |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A29. | Yes. Czech Act No. 101/2000 Coll. on Data Protection ("Data Protection Act") (https://www.uoou.cz/en/vismo/zobraz_dok.asp?id_ktg=1107&amp;p1=1107) governs the area of personal data protection: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) corporate data, i.e. data that relate to legal entities, not the natural persons do not fall under the category "personal data" protected under the Data Protection Act;</li> <li>c) yes, the Data Protection Act stipulates a separately protected category of personal data. It is forbidden to process personal data on racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, membership in political parties or political movements, trade union membership and data concerning health or sex life.</li> </ul>                                                               |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A30. | Generally, the consent regarding the transfer of data must comply with requirements in the Article 4 letter n) and Article 5 par. 4 of the Data Protection Act. Furthermore, the criminal records and medical data are also considered as the sensitive data according to the Article 4 letter b) of the Data Protection Act. The sensitive data may be transferred only with the consent or instruction of the subject of the data together with other requirements of the Article 9 letter a) of the Data Protection Act. For further details please see the above mentioned provisions of the Data Protection Act (https://www.uoou.cz/en/vismo/zobraz_dok.asp?id_ktg=1107&amp;p1=1107).                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A31. | Transfers of personal data outside EEA and EU have been recently affected by the decision of No. C-362/14 Maximilian Schrems v. Data Protection Commissioner from 06 Oct 2015 of the Court of Justice of the European Union cancelling the Safe Harbor Regime. As a result, the Czech Office for Personal Data Protection recommends to use standard contractual clauses according to the Commission decision No. 2010/87/EU from 05 Feb 2010 (http://eur-lex.europa.eu/LexUriServ/LexUriServ.do?uri=OJ:L:2010:039:0005:0018:EN:PDF) and/or Binding Corporate Rules (http://ec.europa.eu/justice/data-protection/international-transfers/binding-corporate-rules/index_en.htm) to govern the transfer of information to the US. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A32. | Yes, the general business secrecy is stipulated in the Act No. 89/2012 Coll., the Civil Code, and specific bank secrecy is stipulated in the Act No. 21/1992 Coll., on banks. Bank secrecy means keeping confidential all the information and documents on matters relating to the client of the bank that is not publicly accessible. In particular, information on transactions, account balances and deposit balances. The bank is obliged to keep this information confidential and protected from disclosure, misuse, damage, destruction, loss or theft. Information and documents on matters that are protected by bank secrecy cannot be disclosed to third parties without the prior written consent of the client. There are also other types of confidentiality prescribed by the relevant laws, such as attorney-client confidentiality, medical confidentiality, auditor confidentiality. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Denmark

Key contact: Sofus Emil Tengvad
Email: ste@pwc.dk
Tel: +45 3945 3619

Postal address: Strandvejen 44,
DK 2900 Hellerup,
Denmark

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A1. | 1993 (significant amendments in 2006, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2012 and 2013).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A3. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) The Danish FSA (http://www.finanstilsynet.dk);</li> <li>b) The Danish FSA (http://www.finanstilsynet.dk); and</li> <li>c) Business Registry Authority (http://www.erst.dk/), Lawyer: The Danish Bar and Law Society (http://www.advokatsamfundet.dk).</li> </ul> |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A4. | A Danish general guidance is issued by the Danish FSA (http://www.finanstilsynet.dk/da/Temaer/Hvidvask/Regler.aspx). Furthermore, the Danish Business Authority has issued guidance for specific sectors e.g. accountancy sector (https://www.retsinformation.dk/Forms/R0710.aspx?id=146481).                   |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A5. | Yes, all customers need to be verified according to the regulation, new customers as well as old customers.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A6. | A risk based approach is allowed in accordance with law. However, the actual approach has to be approved as being consistent with the AML regulations.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                            |
| A7. | The latest report of this nature is the follow up report to the Mutual Evaluation of Denmark dated Oct 2010 ( http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/d-i/denmark/documents/follow-up-report-to-the-mutual-evaluation-of-denmark.html ). |

Customer due diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A8. | As the main principle customer due diligence always applies. However, transactions below EUR6,700 may be exempted from part of the due diligence requirements pursuant to the current regulation and guidelines. A potential exemption from the customer due diligence requirement must be based upon a risk assessment and must comply with all statutory requirements. |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A9. | Individuals: name, address and social security number. Accepted evidence includes: passport, driving license, birth certificate, tax returns and tax code (including social security number). In addition electronic public keys (NEM-ID) can function as a supporting document if it is presented together with one or more of the primary documents.Corporates: name, address and company number. Accepted evidence includes: registered information from the Danish Commerce and Companies Agency and Articles of Association. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                               |
| A10. | There are no mandatory requirements in the law, but it is stated in local guidance that copies of identification documentation are accepted. Copies of documentation can be certified by financial institutions according to the law. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                               |
| A11. | The beneficial owners must be identified by identification information (primary documents for identification is accepted, ref. A.9). The group structure or ownership of a group has to be identified as well as shareholders who own more than 25% of a company. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A12. | Customer due diligence is reduced in three main areas: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) payments for life insurance or under pension agreements under specific circumstances e.g. payments of EUR1,000 or less for recurring fees and a one-time fee of EUR2,500 or less;</li> <li>b) electronic money - if the device cannot be recharged and the maximum amount stored in the device is no more than EUR250, or where, if the device can be recharged, a limit of EUR2,500 is imposed on the total amount transacted in a calendar year, except when an amount of EUR1,000 or more is redeemed in that same calendar year; and</li> <li>c) specific transactions and products as described by the Danish Financial Services Agency ("FSA") in order no. 712 of 2008.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A13. | Local guidance states four cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) customers who do not physically present themselves for identification purposes;</li> <li>b) cross-border correspondent banks;</li> <li>c) PEPs; and</li> <li>d) shell companies.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A14. | Legislation requires financial institutions to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) have sufficient procedures to determine whether the customer is a PEP who is a resident of another country;</li> <li>b) obtain approvals from senior management on a daily basis for establishing business relationships with such customers;</li> <li>c) take reasonable measures to gather information about the sources of income and funds that are involved in the business relationship or transaction; and</li> <li>d) continuously monitor the business relationship.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A15. | In cases of money transfers to or from a bank outside the European Union ('EU') where there is no official agreement of financial services with the EU, further proceedings have to be considered as stated in the local guidance. Before establishing new correspondent banking relationships, firms will be required to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) gather sufficient information about a respondent institution to understand fully the nature of the respondent's business and to determine, from publicly available information, the reputation of the institution and the quality of supervision;</li> <li>b) assess the counterparty's AML and anti-terrorist-financing controls; and</li> <li>c) obtain daily approval from senior management.</li> </ul> |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A16. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A17. | In the case of a customer who has not been physically present for identification purposes, legislation requires the taking of 'further measures to ascertain the customer's identity'. It sets out an illustrative list of measures that can be taken to ascertain the customer's identity in these situations, such as: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) ensuring that the customer's identity is established by additional documentation;</li> <li>b) checking or verifying the documents supplied, or requiring a confirmatory certification by another financial institution; and</li> <li>c) requiring that the first payment in connection with the transactions is carried out through an account opened in the customer's name with a bank.</li> </ul>          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

| Reporting   |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A18. | The Danish Money Laundering Secretariat hosted by the State Prosecutor for Serious Economic Crime ( http://www.anklagemyndigheden.dk/Sider/hvidvask.aspx ).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 7,250 SARs GDP (in current prices):2014 – USD342.0m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD47.2m of GDP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A20. | Any suspicion (that has not been disproved) of a potential violation of the regulation on money laundering and terrorist financing, has to be reported immediately to the relevant authorities.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A21. | The de-minimis threshold for reporting is set to situations where suspicion relates to offenses punishable by imprisonment of less than a one year. The threshold referred to is not the possible sentencing in the particular case, but the maximum penalty for the accused criminal offense. In practice, the de-minimis threshold is of minor importance, and rarely applies (all suspicions related to offenses punishable by imprisonment of more than one year have to be reported). |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A22. | Any penalties will be handled by the State Prosecutor for Serious Economic Crime. In certain cases this can be up to six months imprisonment.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A23. | Companies must have administrative procedures in place. Financial companies are considered to be operating in a high risk sector and therefore automatic monitoring of transactions is required by the Danish FSA.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                           |
| A24. | No. In certain situations however, the authorities can issue a temporary order to freeze transactions from being executed. In addition, the EU regulations applies to transactions involving sanctioned individuals. |

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No.                                                                                     |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls? |
| A26. | No.                                                                                                                                      |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A29. | Yes:a) yes, the definition of "personal data" will likely cover material held for KYC purposes (please see link below);b) the act on processing of personal data does not apply to corporate data (please see link below); andc) there are no specific definitions of "sensitive data" in the Danish act on processing of personal data. However, sections 6-8 defines three different categories of information: normal personal information (6), sensitive personal information on private matters (7) and other types of information on private matters (8) (please see link below).http://www.datatilsynet.dk/english/the-act-on-processing-of-personal-data/read-the-act-on-processing-of-personal-data/compiled-version-of-the-act-on-processing-of-personal-data/ |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A30. | Yes, the information contained in such reports are subject to the protection of information in the Danish act on processing of personal data.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A31. | This would have to be evaluated by a lawyer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A32. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Estonia

Key contact: Viljar Kähari
Email: viljar.kahari@ee.pwclegal.com
Tel: +372 614 1858

Postal address: Advokaadibüroo
PricewaterhouseCoopers Legal OÜ
Pärnu mnt 15. Tallinn EE10141 Estonia

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A1. | 2008 (initial legislation was adopted in 1999).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A3. | The Estonian Financial Intelligence Unit is the main supervision unit ( https://www.politsei.ee/en/organisatsioon/rahapesu-andmeburoo/ ). The Estonian Financial Supervision Authority also regulates banks, management companies etc.                                                          |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A4. | The Estonian Financial Intelligence Unit: https://www.politsei.ee/en/organisatsioon/rahapesu-andmeburoo/fius-advisory-guidelines/The Estonian Financial Supervision Authority: http://www.fi.ee/index.php?id=3375 |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A5. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A7. | Yes, EC Moneyval expert committee 4th cycle of assessment, in which important FATF Recommendations have been re-assessed (not a full assessment against the FATF 40 Recommendations and 9 Special Recommendations but an update on major issues in the AML/CFT system). The evaluation report was published in November 2014: http://www.coe.int/t/dghl/monitoring/moneyval/ |

Customer Due Diligence

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A8. | Due diligence measures are always required upon establishment of a business relationship and upon suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing (regardless of any limits provided by law).Otherwise, there is a EUR15,000 threshold for transactions (regardless of whether one or several related payments); EUR6,400 upon provision of currency exchange services; EUR2,000 for organisers of games of chance, regarding all persons who pay or receive more than that in a single transaction or several related transactions. |

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A9. | An obligated person shall identify a natural person (face-to-face) and verify the person on the basis of an identity document. In addition to an identity document, the representative of a person participating in a transaction shall submit a document in the required format, certifying the right of representation.An obligated person shall identify a legal person and its passive legal capacity and verify the information obtained. Legal persons registered in Estonia and branches of foreign companies registered in Estonia shall be identified on the basis of an extract of a registry card of the relevant register. Foreign legal persons shall be identified on the basis of an extract of the relevant register or a transcript of the registration certificate or an equivalent document which has been issued by a competent authority or body not earlier than six months before submission thereof. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A10. | A copy shall be made of the page of an identity document submitted for identification which contains the personal data and a photograph.In addition, upon identification and verification the following personal data shall be registered: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the name and the representative's name;</li> <li>b) the personal identification code or, upon absence of a personal identification code, the date and place of birth;</li> <li>c) the name and number of the document used upon identification and verification of persons, and its date of issue and the name of the agency which issued the document; and</li> <li>d) the name of the document used upon identification and verification of the right of representation, and its date of issue and the name of the issuer.</li> </ul>In certain cases the address of the place of residence and the profession or area of activity of the person shall be registered.A representative of a legal person of a foreign country shall, at the request of an obligated person, submit a document certifying his or her powers, which has been notarised or authenticated pursuant to an equal procedure and legalised or authenticated by a certificate substituting for legalisation (apostille), unless otherwise prescribed by an international agreement. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A11. | Identification of the beneficial owner is a part of due diligence measures, it includes gathering information about the ownership and control structure of a legal person, trust, civil law partnership or other contractual legal arrangement on the basis of information provided in pre-contractual negotiations or obtained from another reliable and independent source.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A12. | Simplified due diligence measures can be undertaken if a person participating in a transaction entered into it in economic or professional activities or a person using a professional service or a customer is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a legal person governed by public law founded in Estonia;</li> <li>b) a governmental authority or another authority performing public functions in Estonia or a contracting state of the EEA;</li> <li>c) an authority of the European Community;</li> <li>d) a company of a contracting state of the EEA or a third country, which is subject to requirements equal to those provided for in Estonian legislation and whose securities are traded in a regulated securities market in one or several contracting state of the EEA; and</li> <li>e) a credit institution or a financial institution, a credit institution or a financial institution located in a contracting state of the EEA or in a third country, which in the country of location is subject to requirements equal to those provided for in Estonian legislation and the performance of which is subject to state supervision.</li> </ul> An obligated person may apply the simplified due diligence measures with regard to the beneficial owners of an official account opened by a notary public or enforcement officer of a contracting state of the EEA or third country, provided that the official account is subject to due diligence measures which are in compliance with the international standards for prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing, state supervision is exercised over adherence to these requirements and the notary public or enforcement officer has and preserves information about the identity of the beneficial owner. An insurer or insurance broker may take simplified due diligence measures if: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a life assurance contract is made whereby the annual assurance premium does not exceed EUR1,000 or a single premium does not exceed EUR2,500;</li> <li>b) a pension insurance contract is made which does not provide for the right of withdrawal or cancellation and which cannot be used as loan collateral; and</li> <li>c) a transaction is entered into in the framework of a superannuated pension scheme or another scheme allowing for such pension benefits whereby insurance premium is debited from wages and the terms and conditions of the pension scheme do not allow for assignment of the rights of a participant in the scheme.</li> </ul> An electronic money institution may take simplified due diligence measures if an electronic money device does not allow for reloading and the amount saved in one electronic money device does not exceed EUR250. Credit and financial institutions supervised by Estonian Financial Supervision Authority may identify the client via electronic Estonian Identification Card if the value of the transaction(s) do not exceed EUR2,000 on a monthly basis. Simplified due diligence measures may also be applied in a transaction if all of the following conditions have been fulfilled: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a written contract has been entered into with a customer for an indefinite period;</li> <li>b) a payment is made through the account of a customer or a person participating in a transaction, which has been opened in a credit institution or a branch of a foreign credit institution registered in the Estonian commercial register or in a credit institution which has been registered or has its place of business in a contracting state of the EEA or in a country where requirements equal to those provided for in Estonian legislation are in force;</li> <li>c) the obligated person has established by rules of internal procedure beforehand that the annual total value of performance of financial obligations arising from transactions of such type does not exceed the maximum limit of EUR15,000; and</li> <li>d) the obligated person registers at least the data specified in A10 with regard to a customer.</li> </ul> Certain other criteria exist for applying simplified due diligence measures for public/state institutions (both local and foreign). |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A13. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) if the nature of a situation involves a high risk of money laundering or terrorist financing;</li> <li>b) if a person participating in a transaction, in a professional operation, or using a professional service; or a customer has been identified and verified without being present at the same place as the person or customer;</li> <li>c) if upon identification or verification of a person suspicion arises regarding the truthfulness of the data or authenticity of the documents submitted or regarding the identification of the beneficial owner or beneficial owners; and</li> <li>d) if a subject is a politically exposed person of a contracting state of the European Economic Area or a third country or their family member or close associate.</li> </ul> |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons (‘PEPs’)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A14. | Upon establishment of a business relationship with or entry into a transaction with or performance of a professional operation for or provision of professional services.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A15. | The regular due diligence measures shall be applied more frequently than usually. Additionally, the following requirements must be implemented: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>appropriate risk-based internal procedures for making a decision on establishment of a business relationship or entry into a transaction applied;</li> <li>the management board or a person or persons authorised by the management board shall decide on establishment of business relationships; and</li> <li>upon establishment of a business relationship and entry into a transaction, appropriate measures taken for identification of the origin of the money or other property used.</li> </ol> Also at least one of the following enhanced due diligence measures shall be undertaken: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>identification and verification of a person on the basis of additional documents, data or information, which originates from a reliable and independent source or from a credit institution or a branch of a credit institution registered in the Estonian commercial register or from a credit institution which has been registered or has its place of business in a contracting state of the EEA or in a country where requirements equal to the Estonian legislation are in force, and if in such credit institution the person has been identified while being present at the same place as the person;</li> <li>application of additional measures for the purpose of verifying the authenticity of documents and the data contained therein, among other things, demanding that they be notarised or officially authenticated or confirmation of the correctness of the data by the credit institution which issued the document; and</li> <li>making the first payment relating to a transaction through an account opened in the name of a person or customer participating in the transaction in a credit institution which has its place of business in a contracting state of the EEA or in a country where requirements equal to those provided for in Estonian legislation are in force.</li> </ol> Also enhanced due diligence measures shall be undertaken upon opening a correspondent account with a credit institution of a third country and during the period of validity of the respective contract, thereby regularly assessing the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>based on public information, the nature of the economic activities and the trustworthiness and reputation of the credit institution of the third country and the effectiveness of supervision exercised over the credit institution; and</li> <li>the control systems of the credit institution of the third country for prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing.</li> </ol> The contract serving as the basis for opening a correspondent account or the rules of procedure of the credit institution shall contain the obligations of the parties: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>upon application of due diligence measures for prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing, including with regard to a customer having access to a payable-through account or another similar account;</li> <li>upon submission, on the basis of a query, of data gathered in the course of identification of customers and verification of submitted information; and</li> <li>upon preservation of data and upon performance of the notification obligation and application of other measures for prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing.</li> </ol> Prior consent of the management board of the credit institution or financial institution or the person authorised by the management board is required for opening a correspondent account for a credit institution or a financial institution of a third country or for opening a correspondent account in a third country credit institution or financial institution or for signing the corresponding contract. Credit institutions and financial institutions are prohibited to open or hold a correspondent account in a credit institution, which meets at least one of the following conditions: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>the actual place of management or business of the credit institution is located outside its country of location and the credit institution is not part of the consolidation group or group of undertakings of a credit institution or financial institution that is subject to sufficient supervision;</li> <li>an account for a credit institution corresponding to the characteristics specified in clause 1) has been opened in the credit institution; and/or</li> <li>according to international standards or the circumstances provided for in this section, which are to be used as a basis for assessment, deficiencies become evident in the trustworthiness of the executives of the credit institution and in assessment of measures for prevention of money laundering and terrorist financing.</li> </ol> |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A16. | No, Estonian law does not regulate such situations. However, every person must take all necessary steps to avoid money-laundering activities taking place.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A17. | Always, in the case of a person participating in a transaction, in a professional operation, or using a professional service; or a customer has been identified and verified without being present at the same place as the person or customer.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A18. | To the Estonian Financial Intelligence Unit: https://www.politsei.ee/en/organisatsioon/rahapesu-andmebuuro/                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 11,204 SARs (from which 252 cases were forwarded for further investigation and 20 criminal proceedings initiated) (Source: https://www.politsei.ee/dotAsset/448124.pdf) GDP (in current prices):2014 - USD26,485m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD2.3m of GDP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A20. | An obligated person, except a credit institution, shall immediately, but no later than within two working days of executing the transaction, notify the Financial Intelligence Unit of any transaction where a financial obligation exceeding EUR32,000 is performed in cash, regardless of whether the transaction made is a single payment or several related payments. A credit institution shall immediately, but no later than within two working days of executing the transaction, notify the Financial Intelligence Unit of any currency exchange transaction exceeding EUR32,000 in cash, unless the credit institution has a business relationship with the person participating in the transaction. |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A21. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A22. | Both failure to report suspicion of money laundering or terrorist financing and submission of incorrect information as well as unlawful notification of information submitted to the Financial Intelligence Unit are offences punishable by a fine up to EUR1,200 or detention (for individuals) or up to EUR32,000 (for legal persons).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                 |
| A24. | The obligated person has the right to refuse to enter into such a transaction, and they shall immediately, but no later than within two working days from identifying the act or circumstances, or from the rise of the suspicion, notify the Financial Intelligence Unit. |

|      |                                                                                         |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No.                                                                                     |

AML Audits

|      |                                                                                                                                                              |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls?                     |
| A26. | Yes. External auditors must inform the Estonian Financial Supervision Authority if they find out that a credit institution materially violates Estonian law. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A29. | Yes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) corporate data is not protected under the data protection laws; and</li> <li>c) yes, sensitive personal data is: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. data revealing political opinions or religious or philosophical beliefs, except data relating to being a member of a legal person in private law registered pursuant to the procedure provided by law;</li> <li>b. data revealing ethnic or racial origin;</li> <li>c. data on the state of health or disability;</li> <li>d. data on genetic information;</li> <li>e. biometric data (above all fingerprints, palm prints, eye iris images and genetic data);</li> <li>f. information on sex life;</li> <li>g. information on trade union membership; and</li> <li>h. information concerning commission of an offence or falling victim to an offence before a public court hearing, or making of a decision in the matter of the offence or termination of the court proceeding in the matter.</li> </ul> </li> </ul> Additional protections for sensitive personal data ("SPD"): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) written explicit consent has to be obtained from data subject;</li> <li>b) a person responsible for protection of personal data needs to be appointed or the processing of sensitive personal data registered with the Data Protection Inspectorate; and</li> <li>c) processing SPD for communication to third persons for assessing the creditworthiness or other such purpose is not permitted.</li> </ul> |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the (a) transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), (b) criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and (c) medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A30. | There is a general principle that the processing of personal data is permitted only with the consent of the data subject unless otherwise provided by law. The consent shall clearly determine the data for the processing of which permission is given, the purpose of the processing of the data and the persons to whom communication of the data is permitted, the conditions for communicating the data to third persons and the rights of the data subject concerning further processing of his or her personal data. Silence or inactivity shall not be deemed to be consent. Consent may be partial and conditional: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) in such case the person communicating personal data has to establish the legitimate interest of the third person, verify the accuracy of the data to be communicated and register the data transmission;</li> <li>b) written consent of the data subject needs to be obtained; and</li> <li>c) written consent of the data subject needs to be obtained.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A31. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A32. | Yes, under Article 88 of the Credit Institution Act generally all data and assessments which are known to a credit institution concerning the clients of the credit institution or other credit institutions are deemed to be information subject to banking secrecy. However, the following data are not deemed to be information subject to banking secrecy: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) data which are public or available from other sources to persons with a legitimate interest;</li> <li>b) consolidated data on the basis of which data relating to a single client or the identities of persons included in the set of persons referred to in the consolidated data cannot be ascertained;</li> <li>c) a list of the founders and shareholders or members of a credit institution and data relating to the sizes of their holdings in the share capital of the credit institution, regardless of whether or not they are clients of the credit institution; and</li> <li>d) information relating to the correctness of the performance of a client's obligations to a credit institution.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Finland

Key contact: Ake Turunen
Email: ake.turunen@fi.pwc.com
Tel: +358 40 515 0804

Postal address: Itamerentori 2,
FIN-00180 Helsinki,
Finland

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A1. | 2008 Act on Detecting and Preventing Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing (503/2008) - last amended Jan 2016 (Original 1998, amended 2003).2013 Act on Freezing of Assets to Combat Terrorism (325/2013).1889 Criminal Code (39/1889) - last amended in 2015 on the part of Terrorist Financing. |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A2. | In general, previous AML laws followed previous European Union ("EU") directives.                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                       |
| A3. | a) Financial Supervisory Authority ( http://www.fin-fsa.fi );b) Financial Supervisory Authority ( http://www.fin-fsa.fi ); andc) Ministry of the Interior and Regional State Administrative agencies.                        |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                  |
| A4. | Yes. Guidance is provided by the Money Laundering Clearing House of Finland which operates within the National Bureau of Investigation ("NBI") ( https://www.poliisi.fi/en/national_bureau_of_investigation ).                      |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A5. | Yes, following a risk-based assessment.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A7. | The latest Mutual Evaluation report was in 2007. Please see link: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/topics/mutualevaluations/documents/mutualevaluationoffinland.html The latest follow-up report was in 2013. Please see link: http://www.fatf-gafi.org/countries/d-i/finland/documents/finland-fur-2013.html |

Customer Due Diligence

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8.  | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A8.  | There is no minimum Euro threshold for taking customer due diligence measures. Customer due diligence must be followed when transactions are unusual. Due diligence must take place if one of the following is true: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) if the reporting entity is planning to engage in a permanent business relationship with a customer;</li> <li>b) if the transaction or transactions related to the same business amounts to EUR15,000 or more and the relationship between the reporting entity and a customer is occasional;</li> <li>c) if the customer is a gambling service provider;</li> <li>d) if the transaction is suspicious or the reporting entity is suspecting that the money related to the transaction is used to finance terrorism; or</li> <li>e) if the reporting entity is questioning the reliability of the information previously used to identify the customer.</li> </ul> |
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A9.  | Individuals: Full name, date of birth, identification number (for foreign citizens: citizenship and passport number). Required documents for individuals: passport, driving licence or official identity card. Legal entities: Name, business identification number, date of registration (and name of registration authority), field of activity as well as full name, date of birth and citizenship of members of the statutory bodies and the person(s) representing the legal entity. Required documents for legal entities: trade register extract or equivalent official extract from a relevant public register and relevant documents for the individuals previously mentioned.                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A10. | A certified copy signed by two qualified individuals is required. The qualified individual does not have to be a notary, lawyer or accountant.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A11. | The name, date of birth and identification number of the beneficial owner(s) (for foreign citizens, citizenship and passport number) must be verified.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A12. | Reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements are available if the risk of money laundering or the financing of terrorism connected to the customer, product, service or field of activity is low. For example, simplified due diligence arrangements are available to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Finnish authorities;</li> <li>b) public companies listed on the Finnish or any other European Economic Area (“EEA”) country exchange;</li> <li>c) credit institutions;</li> <li>d) financial institutions;</li> <li>e) investment firms;</li> <li>f) management companies/custodians; and</li> <li>g) insurance companies with concession in Finland or another EEA country.</li> </ul> |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A13. | Enhanced due diligence measures are required if there is a high risk of money laundering or the financing of terrorism in connection to the customer, product, service or field of activity. Enhanced due diligence is also required if the transaction is connected to a state in which systems for preventing and clearing money laundering does not meet international standards.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons (‘PEPs’)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A14. | Additional due diligence is required if the customer himself is a PEP or is related to a PEP, or is an individual who is known to be the business partner of a PEP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A15. | Firstly, the management of the credit institution has to approve the correspondent banking relationship. Should it be approved, the credit institution has to collect sufficient information about the correspondent bank which includes evaluating the bank's reputation, the quality of its supervision and the correspondent bank's measures to prevent money laundering and the financing of terrorism.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A16. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A17. | Additional due diligence is always required if the customer is not physically present for identification.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Reporting

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A18. | Money Laundering Clearing House of Finland, which operates within the NBI ( https://www.poliisi.fi/en/national_bureau_of_investigation ).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 - 23,062 SARs (which included 558,699 transactions) GDP (in current prices):2014 - USD272,216.6m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD11.8m of GDP.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A20. | If customers do not provide the information required for performing customer due diligence or if parties subject to the reporting obligation consider that the information provided is not reliable, the parties must make a suspicious transaction report. A suspicious transaction report must also be made if legal persons cannot be identified or their beneficiaries cannot be established in a reliable way, or if enhanced identification of the person for whom a customer is acting is not possible.            |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A21. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A22. | Yes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) violation of customer due diligence: fine, unless a more severe punishment for the act is provided elsewhere in the law;</li> <li>b) registration violation: fine, unless a more severe punishment for the act is provided elsewhere in the law;</li> <li>c) violation of the obligation to report money laundering: fine; or</li> <li>d) payment service violation: fine, unless a more severe punishment for the act is provided elsewhere in the law.</li> </ul> |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology? |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                             |

|             |                                                                                                                            |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious? |
| A24. | No.                                                                                                                        |

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | No.                                                                                     |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls? |
| A26. | No.                                                                                                                                      |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul> |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A29. | a) yes, the definition of personal data covers any information on a private individual and any information on his/her personal characteristics or personal circumstances, where these are identifiable as concerning him/her or the members of his/her family or household;b) the definition of personal data also covers personal information in the corporate context; andc) yes, "sensitive data" is defined as personal data related to or intended to be related to for example race or ethnic origin, the social, political or religious affiliation or trade-union membership of a person, a criminal act, punishment or other criminal sanction, the state of health, illness or handicap of a person or the treatment or other comparable measures directed at a person, the sexual preferences or sex life of a person or the social welfare needs of a person or the benefits, support or other social welfare assistance received by the person. As a main rule, the processing of sensitive data is prohibited but Finnish law provides certain detailed derogations from the prohibition. |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A30. | Yes, there are prohibitions on the transfer of such personal data.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A31. | Yes, EU Data Protection Directive 95/46/EC and legislation based on the implementation of the said Directive apply when personal data is transferred from another EU country. If the information is transferred from outside of the EU, local legislation may be applicable. Personal Data Act (523/1999) is applicable on personal data and as special legislation may be applicable, for example Act on the Protection of Privacy in Working Life (759/2004), Employment Contracts Act (55/2001), Act on Cooperation within Undertakings (725/1978), Occupational Safety and Health Act (738/2002) Credit Data Act (527/2007) and other legislation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A32. | Yes, under the Credit Institutions Act. Bank secrecy protects private individuals, undertakings and other corporations and it applies to information that can be used for identifying a bank's customer. For example, information related to a customer's economic status or an individual's personal circumstances concerning information such as family relations. Business or professional secrets are also subject to regulation.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

France

Key contact: Nicolas Montillot / Sébastien d'Aligny /
Ludivine Gimet
Email: nicolas.montillot@fr.pwc.com /
sebastien.daligny@fr.pwc.com / ludivine.gimet@fr.pwc.com
Tel: +33 (0) 1 56 57 75 65

Postal address: Crystal Park; 63 rue de Villiers;
92208 Neuilly-sur-Seine Cedex;
France

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A1. | Fully revised with the transposition of the third AML Directive dated 30 Jan 2009 (The 4 th Directive was in Jun 2015 and will be transposed into French law).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A3. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Autorité de Contrôle Prudentiel et de Résolution ("ACPR") (http://acpr.banque-france.fr/en/acpr.html);</li> <li>b) Autorité des Marchés Financiers ("AMF") (and ACPR if the subsidiary of a bank) (http://www.amf-france.org/en_US/?langSwitch=true); and</li> <li>c) Autorité de Régulation des Jeux en ligne ("ARJEL") (http://www.arjel.fr/) for online games, casinos etc. and DGCCRF: Direction générale de la concurrence, de la consommation for real estate agents.</li> </ul> |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A4. | Yes, guidelines have been provided by ACPR on various topics: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) business relationships and occasional customers;</li> <li>b) beneficial ownership;</li> <li>c) third party introduction;</li> <li>d) exchange of information within a group and non-group;</li> <li>e) reporting suspicious activity;</li> <li>f) politically exposed persons;</li> <li>g) wealth management;</li> <li>h) equivalent third countries; and</li> <li>i) suspicious reports to FIU.</li> </ul> Application principles have been published on the ACPR website relating to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) collective investment schemes;</li> <li>b) correspondent banking;</li> <li>c) transfer of funds;</li> <li>d) insurance sector; and</li> <li>e) insurance third party introduction.</li> </ul> Guidelines have been provided by AMF for entities subject to its control (asset management companies and management companies, financial investment advisers, central security depositaries): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) obligation of vigilance in a risk based approach and conditions for implementation of obligation to report to Tracfin;</li> <li>b) Politically Exposed Persons ("PEPs");</li> <li>c) conditions for implementing specific legislative and regulatory provisions;</li> <li>d) beneficial ownership; and</li> <li>e) third party introduction.</li> </ul> Sources of practical guidance includes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) (http://acpr.banque-france.fr/en/prudential-supervision/amlcft-anti-money-laundering-and-counter-terrorist-financing.html);</li> <li>b) (http://www.amf-france.org/en_US/Reglementation/Doctrine/Doctrine-list/Doctrine.html?category=III+-+Providers&amp;docId=workspace%3A%2F%2FSpacesStore%2Fc59ace50-a95b-4f9e-990f-6433f6405808&amp;docVersion=1.3&amp;langSwitch=true);</li> <li>c) (http://www.economie.gouv.fr/tracfin);</li> <li>d) (http://www.fbf.fr/fr/environnement-europeen-et-international/lutte-anti-blanchiment/_875GT2&amp;Count=8); and</li> <li>e) (http://www.arjel.fr/-Textes-de-reference-.html).</li> </ul> |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A5. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A6. | No. Each institution must implement a risk-based approach which defines the required due diligence depending on the money-laundering risks. Regulation provides examples of low and high risk customers, products, transactions and means of distribution but these lists are not exhaustive. Each institution must define its own risk mapping of customers, products, transactions and means of distribution and the associated due diligence required. This risk-based approach is not approved by the local regulator(s) but periodically examined during on site reviews.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A7. | The anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism (AML/CFT) measures in place in France were evaluated by the FATF in 2010. This was updated in Oct 2012:http://www.fatf-gafi.org/topics/mutualevaluations/documents/mutualevaluationoffrance.html |

Customer Due Diligence

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8.  | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A8.  | Yes. The identification of occasional customers and beneficial owners is not required for transactions under EUR15,000 (and EUR1,000 for remitter) if the transaction is not deemed suspicious. However, this threshold is not applicable for money transfers, custody services when the client is not physically present.The decree of 28 Feb 2013 provides that under certain conditions, the identification of customers and beneficial owners may not be checked for online operations under EUR250 or for a total of EUR2,500 in one year.The decree of 07 May 2013 provides that for money transfers, information concerning the customer and the beneficial owner must be reported to Tracfin (see A18) for transactions over EUR1,000 or which cumulate over EUR2,000 on a calendar month. |
| Q9.  | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| A9.  | Individuals: a government-issued document with a photograph (such as a valid passport or a valid photocard driving licence), supporting documents of home address at the date when the documents are collected, occupation, revenues or any other relevant documents which enable the client's resources and his personal assets to be assessedLegal entities: original or certified copy of any deed or extract of an official register stating the company name, address, legal status and identity of the executives, annual reports of the last 3 years and auditors' reports.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A10. | Individuals: Original identification documentation must be provided. A bank's employee is required to make a copy of the original documentation and certify it true to the original.Legal entities: Except in the specific case of the presentation of a certified copy of a deed or extract of an official register stating the name, legal form and registered office, original documentation should be provided and a copy shall be made and certified by the bank's employee.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A11. | The institution shall identify the effective beneficiary of the business relationship through any means it considers adequate and necessary. It should verify that this identity is based on the documents collected, according to the assessed level of money laundering risk and the documentation shall be kept on record: ( https://acpr.banque-france.fr/en/acpr.html )                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A12. | Due diligence may be reduced when the money laundering risks associated with a given customer and/or business relationship are considered as low. Low risk customers include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) financial institutions subject to equivalent AML regulation;</li> <li>b) large corporates whose shares are listed on a regulated stock-exchange incorporated in an EU-country or an equivalent third-party country; and</li> <li>c) public administrative bodies or authorities of an EU country.</li> </ul> Low risk products include life insurance contracts with an annual premium under EUR1,000 or with a unique premium under EUR2,500. Furthermore, the decree of 28 Feb 2013 provides that under certain conditions, the identification of customers and beneficial owners may not be checked for online operations under EUR250.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A13. | Enhanced customer due diligence measures are required in the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) when the client or his representative is not physically present for the account opening;</li> <li>b) when the client is a Politically Exposed Person;</li> <li>c) when the transaction or the financial instrument facilitates the anonymity of the client;</li> <li>d) when the transaction is carried out by individuals who live or corporates which are incorporated in non-cooperative countries; and</li> <li>e) when the transaction is complex, of an unusual amount or without obvious justification.</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A14. | Enhanced due diligence is systematically required for non-resident PEPs (with the fourth directive resident PEP will be concerned)                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A15. | Institutions must: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) collect sufficient information on its correspondent banking relationships' activities and assess, based on publicly available information, its reputation;</li> <li>b) assess its anti-money laundering arrangements;</li> <li>c) ensure that the decision of establishing this relationship has been approved by an executive of the institution;</li> <li>d) include in the correspondent-banking agreement the requirements to provide the institution with information on demand; and</li> <li>e) ensure that the correspondent-banking counterparty has checked the identity of its clients when the institution has opened accounts which are directly used by the correspondent-banking clients for their own transactions.</li> </ul> Guidelines have been provided by the ACPR on the requirements around correspondent banking relationships: http://acpr.banque-france.fr/fileadmin/user_upload/acp/publications/registre-officiel/201303-ACP-Principes-d-application-sectoriels-sur-la-correspondance-bancaire.pdf |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                        |
| A17. | Regulation requires institutions to systematically conduct enhanced due diligence for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                               |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                  |
| A18. | Tracfin (Traitement du renseignement et action contre les circuits financiers clandestins): http://www.tracfin.bercy.gouv.fr/ |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 - 38,419 SARs (34,268 in the Financial Sector and 2,447 in the Non-Financial Sector) (Source: Tracfin annual report) GDP (in current prices):2013 – USD2,829,192m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD73.6m of GDP. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A20. | Yes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) operations which are particularly complex, an amount which appears to be unusually high or does not appear to have any economic justification, where the bank is unable to establish the identity of the beneficiary or obtain sufficient information regarding the origin and destination fund, the commercial background or the legality of a transaction;</li> <li>b) transactions for which the identity of the originator or the beneficiary could not be established; and</li> <li>c) for money transfers, transactions over EUR1,000 operations or which cumulate EUR2,000 on a calendar month.</li> </ul> |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                          |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported? |
| A21. | No.                                                                                      |

|      |                                                                                          |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off? |
| A22. | Yes.                                                                                     |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A23. | There is no explicit legal or regulatory requirement to use automated ST monitoring technology. Regulation only sets out that the bank shall implement the processes and the tools which it considers necessary to proceed with the AML/CFT surveillance, considering its size, organisation, customers and transactions. |

|      |                                                                                                                            |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious? |
| A24. | Yes, the transaction is on "hold" until Tracfin approval is received.                                                      |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                              |
| A25. | Yes. If it concerns a country of the European Union or a country which imposes equivalent rules to France with regard to the fight against Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing. |

AML Audits

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                    |
| A26. | No, but regulation relating to internal control provides that the AML policy should be described and communicated to the audit committee. In addition, a questionnaire is completed on an annual basis concerning AML internal control set up for the ACPR. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit? |
| A27. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ul>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A29. | In France, personal data is protected by the law on data processing, data files and individual liberties dated 01 Jan 1978: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) yes;</li> <li>b) corporate data include personal data concerning individuals representing legal entities. The collection and processing of these data are provided in the French law. These data can be collected and transferred for AML purposes (e.g. power of attorney, delegation of authority, identity of directors, officers and shareholders); and</li> <li>c) under French law, sensitive data is any personal data that reveals directly or indirectly racial or ethnic origins, political, philosophical or religious opinions, trade union membership or data related to individual health or sexual life. The collection of sensitive data is prohibited. By exception, sensitive data can be collected with the explicit consent of the person concerned or if the treatment of such data is required for public interest purposes.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A30. | Credit reports are protected by banking secrecy rules under French law. Credit reports may be transferred in the following circumstances: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) tax fraud;</li> <li>b) AML/CFT;</li> <li>c) transmission of information to the French authorities (e.g. French financial market authority, Banque de France); and</li> <li>d) exchange of information between regulated entities belonging to the same group.</li> </ul> Criminal records are protected under French law and cannot be transferred. By exception, criminal records can be transferred to certain authorities listed by the French criminal Code (ministry of justice, military authorities etc.). Medical data is protected under French law and can be transferred only in particular circumstances provided by the law, for the interest of the patient or for public health purposes. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A31. | Under French law, the transfer of information is governed by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) the law on data processing, data files and individual liberties dated 06 Jan 1978; and</li> <li>b) the rules related to banking and professional secrecy.</li> </ul> These rules aim at protecting the transfer of information and limit it to specific cases. |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation?) If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | There is a bank secrecy law in France. This law does not precisely list the data covered by banking secrecy.                                                                                                                                    |

At PwC United Kingdom, our purpose is to build trust in society and solve important problems. We're a network of firms in 157 countries with more than 208,000 people who are committed to delivering quality in assurance, advisory and tax services. Find out more and tell us what matters to you by visiting us at www.pwc.com/UK.

This publication has been prepared for general guidance on matters of interest only, and does not constitute professional advice. You should not act upon the information contained in this publication without obtaining specific professional advice. No representation or warranty (express or implied) is given as to the accuracy or completeness of the information contained in this publication, and, to the extent permitted by law, PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, its members, employees and agents do not accept or assume any liability, responsibility or duty of care for any consequences of you or anyone else acting, or refraining to act, in reliance on the information contained in this publication or for any decision based on it.

© 2016 PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP. All rights reserved. In this document, "PwC" refers to the UK member firm, and may sometimes refer to the PwC network. Each member firm is a separate legal entity. Please see www.pwc.com/structure for further details.

151103-144408-LA-OS

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Germany

Key contacts

Lars-Heiko Kruse / Oliver Eis

Email: lars-heiko.kruse@de.pwc.com /

oliver.eis@de.pwc.com

Tel: +49 30/2636-2006/ +49 69/9585-3935

Postal address: Kapelle-Ufer 4

D-10117 Berlin; Germany

Friedrich-Ebert-Anlage 35-37

60327 Frankfurt/Main

Last updated:

January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|            |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A1. | 1993 (amended 2003, 2008, 2011, 2014, 2015).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A3. | According to section. 16 of the German Anti Money Laundering Act: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) Federal Financial Supervisory Authority (Bundesanstalt für Finanzdienstleistungsaufsicht, BaFin) (www.bafin.de);</li> <li>b) BaFin, Federal Ministry of Finance ("BMF") (http://www.bundesfinanzministerium.de); and</li> <li>c) Decentralised regulation, communal supervision in each of the sixteen states of Germany e.g. Hessen (http://www.hessen.de/irj/RPDA_Internet?cid=bed0fee03852d9e5286ceb90870b2356).</li> </ul>             |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A4. | Guidance for the non-financial services sector on federal state level, for example Hessen (http://www.hessen.de/irj/RPDA_Internet?cid=bed0fee03852d9e5286ceb90870b2356). Guidance for the banking and financial services industry (federal level) (http://www.die-deutsche-kreditwirtschaft.de/die-deutsche-kreditwirtschaft/kontofuehrung/geldwaescheverhinderung.html). This guidance is recognised by BaFin as a regulatory requirement for the banking and financial services industry. |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A5. | In accordance with Section 3 paragraph 1 number 4 of the German Anti Money Laundering Act, all client files need to be reviewed and updated on the basis of a risk based approach in appropriate intervals. The files of high risk clients should be reviewed every year, medium risk clients at least every seven years and low risk clients at least every ten years. Alternatively, institutions can also choose to continuously update their files based on trigger events (e.g. undelivered mail, changes of client contact details, missing KYC data).                                                                                                                                                                           |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A6. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A7. | The most recent report was undertaken in 2010 (http://www.fatf-gafi.org/topics/mutualevaluations/documents/mutualevaluationofgermany.html). The last follow-up report on this Mutual Evaluation was undertaken in 2014 (http://www.fatf-gafi.org/publications/mutualevaluations/documents/follow-up-report-germany-2014.html). |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A8. | Yes, one-off transactions below EUR15,000 (in total, German Anti-Money Laundering Act), foreign currency cash transactions below EUR2,500 (in total, German Banking Act) and transfer of funds below EUR1,000 (Regulation (EC) 1781/2006).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A9. | Individuals: Evidence of identity has to be provided by documentary evidence. The physical or electronic record of the individual should contain the full name, address, place and date of birth and nationality. Documentary evidence can be a valid national identity card (ID Card) or a passport, diplomatic passport, passport replacement papers or a resident permit. Exceptions for minors (birth certificate) and elderly/disabled persons (expired documents permitted). Corporates listed in a public register: The physical or electronic record of the institution should contain company, trading name, legal form, commercial register number, the address of its registered office or head office and the names of the members of its representative body or of its legal representative. If a member of its representative body or the legal representative is a legal person, information shall be collected on that legal person's company, partnership or trading name, legal form, commercial register number if available and the address of its registered office or head office. Evidence of identity has to be provided by a certificate of public registration, e.g. commercial register. Corporates not listed in a public register (partnership): The physical or electronic record of the institution should contain company, partnership name, legal form, commercial register number if available, the address of its registered office or head office and the names of the members of its representative body or of its legal representative. If a member of its representative body or the legal representative is a legal person, information shall be collected on that legal person's company, partnership or trading name, legal form, commercial register number if available, and the address of its registered office or head office. Evidence of identity has to be provided by a partnership agreement. In addition, the partners have to be identified like individuals (ID Card, passport). |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A10. | Individuals and Corporates: In general, the physical presence of the individual (identification document: ID Card/ passport including a photograph of the individual) or an authorised representative of the corporate (identification document: copy of the register) is required. The identity of the individual is then verified by the employee of the bank. Verification for corporates is also done by the bank's employees via accessing commercial registers and similar data bases. The institution may engage third parties in order to fulfil the due diligence requirements, but shall remain ultimately responsible for fulfilling the due diligence requirements. The mentioned third parties include other credit institutions, financial services institutions, lawyers, notaries, auditors and tax advisers, insurance companies and also the German Mail ("Post Ident Verfahren"). They are permitted to carry out the customer identification. Further, the institution can also delegate customer identification process to another person on the basis of a contractual arrangement.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| A11. | A "beneficial owner" is any natural person who ultimately owns or controls the contracting party, or the natural person on whose behalf a transaction is ultimately carried out or a business relationship is ultimately established. The term "beneficial owner" includes, in particular: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) in the case of corporate entities that are not listed on an organised market and are not subject to transparency requirements with regard to voting rights consistent with Community laws, or are not subject to equivalent international standards, any natural person who directly or indirectly holds more than 25% of the capital stock or controls more than 25% of the voting rights;</li> <li>b) in the case of foundations with legal capacity and legal arrangements used to manage or distribute assets or property on "Treuhand", or through which third parties are instructed with the management or distribution of assets or property, or similar legal constructs: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a. any natural person acting as settlor or who otherwise exercises control over 25% or more of the assets or property;</li> <li>b. any natural person who has been designated as the beneficiary of 25% or more of the managed assets or property;</li> <li>c. where the natural person intended to be the beneficiary of the managed assets or property is yet to be designated, the group of natural persons for whose benefit the assets or property are primarily intended to be managed or distributed; and</li> <li>d. any natural person who otherwise directly or indirectly exercises a controlling influence on the management of assets or property or the distribution of income; and</li> </ul> </li> <li>c) in the case of a party acting on behalf of another, the other person. Where contracting parties act as "Treuhänder", they are deemed to be acting on behalf of another.</li> </ul> Documentary evidence has to be provided for the identification of a beneficial owner on the basis of a risk-based approach. At a minimum, the name of the beneficial owner must be recorded and further identification is to be gathered depending on the level of risk of money laundering or terrorist financing in the individual case. Verification of the beneficial owner is risk-based. The guidance of the German Banking industry ("DK – Hinweise") contains examples on how to determine the beneficial owner for different types of entities. |
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A12. | Reduced/ simplified due diligence arrangements are possible in case of a identified low money laundering or terrorist financing risk. This applies to transactions by or for the benefit of and upon establishing business relationships with credit or financial institutions or listed companies in the European Union ("EU") or in an equivalent third country and domestic and foreign ("EU") authorities. Simplified due diligence measures include identification/ verification, and in the case of business relationships, continuously monitoring the business relationship. The scope of measures to verify identity and to monitor may be reduced as appropriate. Also, establishing the identity of the beneficial owner in the case of escrow accounts of lawyers, notaries or other independent legal professionals in Germany, the EU and equivalent third countries can be waived, provided that the institution where the account is held can obtain, on request, information on the identity of the beneficial owner from the holder of the escrow account. The German Banking Act also contains a list of products that are considered low risk (life insurance, leasing).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A13. | Enhanced customer due diligence ("EDD") is required where there is a high risk of money laundering or terrorist financing. This generally applies to transactions/ business relationships with PEPs (customer or beneficial owner) and non-face-to-face customers/ transactions. Non face to face customers (individuals only): Where the contracting party is a natural person and is not physically present for identification purposes, the Institution shall verify the contracting party's identity by means of a copy of the identification document certified by a notary public or public administrator and using the electronic identification function of the national ID Card or a qualified digital signature. The Institution then must also ensure that the first transaction into the account is carried out directly from a payment account held in the name of the contracting party with an institution within the European Economic Area ("EEA") or with a credit institution domiciled in an equivalent third country. Where factual circumstances or ratings given by national or international agencies justify the assumption that a higher risk exists in other cases, particularly in connection with a certain country, the competent authority ("BaFin") issues circulars requiring institutions to enhance their monitoring of a transaction or business relationship, particularly the origin of the assets or property contributed by a client who resides in such a country and used in the business relationship or transaction, and to fulfil additional risk-adequate due diligence and organisational requirements. The latest circular is Circular 8/2014 (Nov 2014). Also, transactions and client relationships assessed by the institution to bear a higher money laundering / terrorist financing risk, or where the company is engaged in activities that generally bear a higher money laundering risk, these will require further verification and/or monitoring, e.g. clients conducting complex transactions, cash intensive businesses or clients in less transparent jurisdictions. |
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A14. | For PEPs, EDD is as follows: the establishment of a business relationship is subject to the approval of a superior, adequate measures shall be adopted to determine the origin of the assets or property to be used in the business relationship or transaction and the business relationship shall be subject to enhanced continuous monitoring.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A15. | In the case of correspondent banks based in EU member states or member states of the Basel committee, it should be ensured that a banking license exists. For banks in third countries, EDD is required. The Institution should: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>obtain sufficient publicly available information about the correspondent institution and its business and management structure in order to be able to understand fully, both before and during such a business relationship, the nature of the business operations conducted by the correspondent institution and assess its reputation and controls for combating money laundering and terrorist financing as well as the quality of its supervision;</li> <li>lay down and document the respective responsibilities of both institutions with regard to compliance with the due diligence standards before establishing such a business relationship;</li> <li>ensure that, before such a business relationship is established, the employee in charge obtains the approval of his/her immediate superior or the next highest management level;</li> <li>take measures to ensure that the correspondent institution does not establish or maintain a business relationship with a credit institution of which it is known that its accounts are used by a shell bank; and</li> <li>take measures to ensure that the correspondent institution does not permit transactions via payable through accounts.</li> </ol>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A16. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A17. | Non face-to-face customers (individuals only): In case the contracting party is a natural person and is not physically present for identification purposes, the Institution shall verify the contracting party's identity by means of a copy of the identification document certified by a notary public or public administrator and use the electronic identification function of the national ID Card or a qualified digital signature. The Institution then must also ensure that the first transaction into the account is carried out directly from a payment account held in the name of the contracting party with an institution within the EEA or with a credit institution domiciled in an equivalent third country. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A18. | According to Section 10 and 11 of the German Anti Money Laundering Act, SARS must be made to the local prosecution unit of the relevant state and to the Financial Intelligence Unit ("FIU") of the Federal Criminal Police Office as the central agency. Link to FIU: http://www.bka.de/sid_26E5CB6B4BF97CA6CE5E70B53C60ECD1/DE/ThemenABisZ/Deliktsbereiche/GeldwaescheFIU/geldwaesche_node.html?_nnn=true Guidance on how to make a SAR can be found in BaFin Circular 1/2014: http://www.bafin.de/SharedDocs/Veroeffentlichungen/DE/Rundschreiben/rs_1401_gw_verwaltungspraxis_vm.html |
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| A19. | Volume of SARs:2014 – 24,054 SARs (FIU Annual Report 2014) GDP (in current prices):2014 - USD3,852,556.2m (Source: data.worldbank.org*) This results in a ratio of 1 SAR for every USD160.2m.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A20. | Institutions must report suspicious activities, whenever factual circumstances exist that indicate that the assets or property connected with a transaction or business relationship are the product of money laundering or are related to terrorist financing. They must promptly report such transactions, irrespective of the amount involved, or such business relationships to the Financial Intelligence Unit of the Federal Criminal Police Office and the competent prosecution authorities orally, by telephone, fax or via electronic data transmission. The reporting obligation exists as well where factual circumstances indicate that the contracting party failed to comply with their duty of disclosure as to whether or not they are acting on behalf of a beneficial owner.                                                                                          |

* GDP at purchaser's prices is the sum of gross value added by all resident producers in the economy plus any product taxes and minus any subsidies not included in the value of the products. It is calculated without making deductions for depreciation of fabricated assets or for depletion and degradation of natural resources. Data are in current U.S. dollars. Dollar figures for GDP are converted from domestic currencies using single year official exchange rates. For a few countries where the official exchange rate does not reflect the rate effectively applied to actual foreign exchange transactions, an alternative conversion factor is used.

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                           |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimise thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported? |
| A21. | No.                                                                                       |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non-compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A22. | Yes, section. 17 I no.14/15 of the German Anti Money Laundering Act outlines the fines for failing to file a report correctly, completely, in due time or at all or disclosing information on a SAR to the instructing party or any third party. Those administrative offences may be punishable by a fine of up to EUR100,000. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                                           |
| A23. | Yes, according to sec. 25 h II of the German Banking Act ("KWG"). The Guidance of the German banking industry specifies the requirements for monitoring systems (adequacy, rules, administration rights, database, etc.). |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| A24. | Yes, according to sec.11 of the German Anti Money Laundering Act. A requested suspicious transaction may not be executed before the public prosecutor's office has informed the institution of its consent to proceed, or before the expiry of the second working day following the transmission date of the SAR unless the transaction's execution was prohibited by the public prosecutor's office. In this respect Saturday shall not be considered a working day. If it is impossible to postpone the transaction, or if doing so could frustrate efforts to pursue the beneficiaries of a suspected criminal offence, the execution of the transaction shall be permitted and the suspicious transaction report must be filed subsequently without undue delay. |

|             |                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction? |
| A25. | Yes.                                                                                    |

AML Audits

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26. | Is there a legal requirement for a bank's external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank's AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| A26. | Yes, see sec. 29 II German Banking Act and sec. 26 and 27 PrüfbV (German Audit Regulation) for details. The AML system of banks and financial institutions is part of the annual audit and the report contains information on the MLRO, monitoring systems, risk assessments, SARs and customer due diligence / simplified due diligence / enhanced due diligence. An additional questionnaire provided by BaFin must be answered (giving "grades" to the different elements of the AML system) and submitted along with the report. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q27. | If an external report on the bank's AML systems and controls is required:a) how frequently must the report be provided?b) to whom should the report be submitted?c) is it part of the financial statement audit?            |
| A27. | a) annually or bi-annual (depending on balance sheet total); for institutions within the 2 year audit cycle, the AML questionnaire must be submitted annually;b) the regulator ("BaFin"); andc) yes.                            |
| Q28. | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank's AML systems and controls? Does it require:a) sample testing of KYC files?b) sample testing of SAR reports?c) examination of risk assessments? |
| A28. | a) yes;b) yes; andc) yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

Data Privacy

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so:a) does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?b) how do the laws apply to corporate data?c) does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?                                                                                                                     |
| A29. | a) yes;b) the focus of the German Data Protection Act is mainly on individuals (natural persons); however in the German Telecommunication Act, certain information about certain legal persons (e.g. PLCs) is protected; andc) all personal data is considered sensitive data. Additionally sensitive data is considered data about ethnic and racial origins, political opinion, religious or philosophical views, union affiliations, health and sex life. |
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| A30. | No, explicit prohibitions exist, as AML has precedence, however all transferred information must be in line with the Data Protection Act. For example, criminal records will only be requested from a person applying for a job if that job is senior management or requires a special level of reliability as there needs to be a valid reason to request that sensitive information.                                                                               |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
| A31. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation?                                                                                      |
| A32. | No express Banking Secrecy Act exists, but case law acknowledges the existence of banking secrecy and thus banks are only required to disclose information about their customers if not doing such would itself break the law. Obligations to confidentiality extend to other professions as well (e.g. lawyers or a notary public). |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Gibraltar

Key contact: Isabel Tellez
Email: Isabel.tellez@gi.pwc.com
Tel: +350 20066842 Ext 108

Postal address: International Commercial Centre,
Casemates Square,
Gibraltar

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                             |
|-----|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                    |
| A1. | 1996 (amended in 2005 and 2007).                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                             |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.      |
| A3. | The Gibraltar Financial Services Commission ("FSC"): http://www.fsc.gi                                                                                                      |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available. |
| A4. | Yes, the Anti-Money Laundering and Terrorist Financing Guidance Notes: http://www.fsc.gi/amlgn/                                                                      |
| Q5. | Is there a requirement to retrospectively verify the identity of customers before the date the new AML regime was introduced?                                                                               |
| A5. | Yes, only for clients of Banks and Fiduciary service providers licensed by the FSC.                                                                                                                         |
| Q6. | Is a risk based approach approved by the local regulator(s)?                                                                                                                                                |
| A6. | Yes, amendments introduced and applicable from 15 Dec 2007.                                                                                                                                                 |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
|-----|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q7. | Has the country been the subject of a FATF (or FATF-style) Mutual Evaluation or IMF assessment exercise in the last three years? If yes, please find a link to a relevant report (if publicly available). |
| A7. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                       |

Customer Due Diligence

|     |                                                                                                                                                    |
|-----|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q8. | Are there minimum transaction thresholds, under which customer due diligence is not required?If Yes, what are the various thresholds in place? |
| A8. | Yes, one-off transactions below EUR15,000.                                                                                                         |

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|-----|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q9. | What are the high level requirements for verification of customer identification information (individuals and legal entities)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A9. | Individuals: Physical identity (e.g. name, date of birth, registration number), address and the source of their income/wealth. Passports or identity cards should be used for verification of physical identity and utility bills or alternatives, such as checking the electoral register/telephone directory, should be used for verification of address. Companies: Copy of the latest report and accounts, board resolution to open the relationship and the empowering authority for those who will operate any account and certificate of incorporation/certificate of trade or equivalent. Also required are authorised signatories for the account/transaction, holders of powers of attorney to operate the account/transaction as well as ultimate beneficial owners ("UBOs") and shareholders if different from the UBOs. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q10. | Where copies of identification documentation are provided, what are the requirements around independent verification or authentication?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| A10. | Where verification of identity is required, the documents should be independently verified by the institution itself. High risk customers should have their identification, address and source of income/wealth verified using at least two independent sources other than the document in question. Certified documents must be signed and dated by an external third party, such as a notary, lawyer, accountant etc. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q11. | What are the high level requirements around beneficial ownership (identification and verification)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A11. | It is considered appropriate to verify the identity of beneficial owners holding 25% or more. Where a principal owner is another corporate entity or trust, the firm should take measures to look behind that entity and establish the identities of its beneficial owners or trustees, unless that company is publicly quoted. The firm will then judge which of the beneficial owners exercise effective control, and whose identities should therefore be verified. |

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q12. | In what circumstances are reduced/simplified due diligence arrangements available?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A12. | The level of documentation required should be adapted according to the risk profile of the customer, the level and nature of the business, the risk tolerance of the institution and any existing relationships with that customer. Local guidance requires that institutions have a methodology which classifies the different types of customers into risk categories and processes that adequately mitigate the risks posed by these. |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q13. | In what circumstances are enhanced customer due diligence measures required?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A13. | Where an entity is known to be linked to a Politically Exposed Person, or to a jurisdiction assessed as carrying a higher money laundering / terrorist financing risk, or where the company is engaged in activities that are assessed to carry a higher money laundering risk, further verification and/or monitoring may be required. |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |
|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q14. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for Politically Exposed Persons ('PEPs')?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| A14. | The systems of control that firms must adopt to reduce the risks associated with establishing and maintaining business relationships with PEPs include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) establishing and documenting a clear policy and internal guidelines, procedures and controls regarding such business relationships;</li> <li>b) maintaining an appropriate risk management system to determine whether a potential customer or an existing customer is a PEP;</li> <li>c) ensuring that decisions to enter into business relationships with PEPs are only taken by senior management; and</li> <li>d) ensuring that business relationships which are known to be related to PEPs must be subject to proactive monitoring of the activity on such accounts.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|-------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q15. | What enhanced due diligence must be performed for correspondent banking relationships (cross-border banking and similar relationships)?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      |
| A15. | The following controls amongst others need to be implemented for correspondent banking relationships: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) a firm must gather sufficient information about a respondent institution to fully understand the nature of their business;</li> <li>b) senior management approval must be obtained prior to establishing new correspondent relationships; and</li> <li>c) the firm must assess the respondent institution's AML and terrorist financing controls.</li> </ul> |

|             |                                                             |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q16. | Are relationships with shell banks specifically prohibited? |
| A16. | Yes.                                                        |

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q17. | In what circumstances is additional due diligence required for non face-to-face transactions and/or relationships?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
| A17. | The additional controls required in respect of non face-to-face customers are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) ensuring that the customer's identity is established by additional documents, data or information;</li> <li>b) supplementary measures to verify the documents supplied, or requiring an eligible introducer to certify the customer identification documents; and</li> <li>c) ensuring that the first payment of the operation is carried out through an account in the customer's name at a credit institution.</li> </ul> A common mechanism adopted by many firms is to permit the use of certified customer identification documents provided in lieu of having had sight of the originals. |

Reporting

|             |                                                                                              |
|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q18. | To whom are Suspicious Activity Reports (SARs) made? Please include a link to their website. |
| A18. | Gibraltar Financial Intelligence Unit, which is a member of the Egmont Group.                |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q19. | What was the volume of SARs made to the authorities in the most recent year? Please state the GDP for the equivalent year.                                                                                    |
| A19. | Information on the volume of SARs is not publicly available.                                                                                                                                                  |
| Q20. | Are there any obligations to report anything more than suspicious transactions e.g. unusual transactions, cash transactions above a certain threshold, international wire transfers, other transactions etc.? |
| A20. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q21. | Are there any de-minimis thresholds below which transactions do not need to be reported?                                                                                                                      |
| A21. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q22. | Are there any penalties for non compliance with reporting requirements e.g. tipping off?                                                                                                                      |
| A22. | There are three offences that could be committed by an individual: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) assistance;</li> <li>b) tipping off; and</li> <li>c) failure to file a SAR.</li> </ul>           |
| Q23. | Are there any requirements (legal or regulatory) to use automated Suspicious Transaction monitoring technology?                                                                                               |
| A23. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |
| Q24. | Is there a requirement to obtain authority to proceed with a current/ongoing transaction that is identified as suspicious?                                                                                    |
| A24. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| Q25. | Does the local legislation allow transactions to be monitored outside the jurisdiction?                                                                                                                       |
| A25. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                           |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

| AML Audits |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q26.       | Is there a legal requirement for a bank’s external auditor/other external organisation to report on the bank’s AML systems and controls?                                                                                                                                                           |
| A26.       | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q27.       | If an external report on the bank’s AML systems and controls is required: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) how frequently must the report be provided?</li> <li>b) to whom should the report be submitted?</li> <li>c) is it part of the financial statement audit?</li> </ul>            |
| A27.       | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Q28.       | What are the requirements for the content of this external report on a bank’s AML systems and controls? Does it require: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) sample testing of KYC files?</li> <li>b) sample testing of SAR reports?</li> <li>c) examination of risk assessments?</li> </ul> |
| A28.       | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Data Privacy

|      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q29. | Does the country have established data protection laws? If so: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>does the definition of "personal data" cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes?</li> <li>how do the laws apply to corporate data?</li> <li>does this country have a separate definition of "sensitive data"? How is it defined and what are the additional protections?</li> </ol>                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| A29. | <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Yes the relevant legislation is the Data Protection Act 2004 ("DPA");</li> <li>The definition of personal data as defined by the DPA is "any information relating to a data subject" and so it does cover material likely to be held for KYC purposes. It does not however, apply to corporate data which is not personal data (e.g. financial data about a company); and</li> <li>Yes, Section 8(1) of the Act defines "Sensitive data" as: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>data revealing racial or ethnic origin;</li> <li>data revealing political opinions;</li> <li>data revealing religious or philosophical beliefs;</li> <li>data revealing trade-union membership;</li> <li>data concerning health or sex life;</li> <li>data concerning the commission or alleged commission of any offence by the data subject;</li> <li>data concerning any proceedings for any offence committed; or</li> <li>alleged to have been committed by the data subject, the disposal of such proceedings or the sentence of any court in such proceedings.</li> </ol> The additional protection for the processing of sensitive personal is that processing sensitive personal data is prohibited save where sections 6 and 11 on data quality and data security are satisfied and at least one of the conditions in section 7(1) (criteria for making data processing legitimate) is met, and at least one of the following conditions is met: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>the data subject has explicitly consented to the processing of the sensitive personal data;</li> <li>the processing is necessary for the purposes of carrying out any legal obligation or right which is conferred or imposed by law on the data controller in connection with employment and the right of data subjects to privacy is safeguarded;</li> <li>the processing is necessary to prevent injury or other damage to the health of the data subject or another person or serious loss in respect of, or damage to, property or otherwise to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another person in a case where consent to the processing cannot be given by or on behalf of the data subject; or the data controller cannot reasonably be expected to obtain such consent, or the processing is necessary to prevent injury to, or damage to the health of, another person, or serious loss in respect of or damage to, the property of another person, in a case where such consent has been unreasonably withheld;</li> <li>processing is carried out in the course of the data controller's legitimate activities, in accordance with appropriate safeguards for the rights and freedoms of data subjects, and subject to such requirements as may be prescribed, by a non-profit-seeking body with a political, philosophical, religious or trade-union aim on condition that (i) the processing relates solely to the members of the body or to persons who have regular contact with it in connection with its purposes, and (ii) the sensitive data is not disclosed to third parties without consent of the data subject;</li> <li>the information contained in the data has been made public as a result of steps deliberately taken by the data subject;</li> <li>the processing is necessary (i) for the administration of justice, (ii) for the performance of a function conferred on a person by or under an enactment, or (iii) for the performance of a function of the Government or a Minister of the Government;</li> <li>the processing (i) is required for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or for the purposes of, or in connection with, legal proceedings or prospective legal proceedings, or (ii) is otherwise necessary for the purposes of establishing, exercising or defending legal rights;</li> <li>the processing of the sensitive data is required for the purposes of preventive medicine, medical diagnosis, the provision of medical care or treatment, medical research or the management of health-care services, and the sensitive personal data are processed by a person registered under the Medical and Health Act 1989, who is under an enforceable obligation of professional secrecy, or by another person who, in the circumstances, owes a duty of confidentiality to the data subject;</li> <li>the processing is necessary in order to obtain information for use, subject to and in accordance with the Statistics Act, only for statistical, compilations and analysis purposes;</li> <li>the processing is carried out by political parties, candidates for election to, or holders of, elective political office in the course of electoral activities for the purpose of compiling data on political opinion on condition that the sensitive data is not disclosed to third parties, in a form which permits identification of the data subject, without consent of the data subject;</li> <li>the processing is necessary for the purpose of the assessment, collection or payment of any tax, duty, levy or other moneys owed or payable to the Crown and the data has been provided by the data subject solely for that purpose;</li> <li>the processing is necessary for the purposes of determining entitlement to or control of, or any other purpose connected with the administration by the Crown of any benefit, pension, assistance, allowance, supplement or payment, or any non statutory social security scheme; or</li> <li>the processing is authorised by regulations that are made by the Minister and are made for reasons of substantial public interest.</li> </ol> </li> </ol> |

‘Know Your Customer’ quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

|             |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q30. | Are there any prohibitions on the transfer of credit reports (for KYC and credit risk analysis purposes), criminal records (for KYC and crime prevention purposes) and medical data (for KYC and pension benefits purposes)?                    |
| A30. | Yes.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| Q31. | Is there case law, other constitutional law or any other laws or regulations that may impact upon the transfer of information to this jurisdiction?                                                                                             |
| A31. | Yes, relevant UK case law provides legal precedent.                                                                                                                                                                                             |
| Q32. | Does this jurisdiction have bank secrecy laws or other obligations of confidentiality (other than those that may have been accepted expressly under contract e.g. in account opening documentation)? If so, what data is subject to regulation? |
| A32. | No.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

Country by country comparison of high level Know Your Customer and Anti-Money Laundering information

Greece

Key contact: Andreas Riris
Email: andreas.riris@gr.pwc.com
Tel: +30 210 6874 646

Postal address: 268 Kifissias Avenue,
GR-152 32 Athens,
Greece

Last updated:
January 2016

Regulatory Environment

|     |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
|-----|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Q1. | In what year did the relevant AML laws and regulations become effective?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          |
| A1. | 1995 (main amendments in 2005, 2006 and 2008).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |
| Q2. | If the AML laws and/or regulations became effective in the last 2 years, what were the requirements of the previous AML regime?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |
| A2. | N/A                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |
| Q3. | Who is the regulator for AML controls for: (a) Banking; (b) Other financial Services; (c) Non financial sector (e.g. casinos, high value goods etc.). Please include link to the regulator(s) website.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            |
| A3. | The Regulators for AML controls are the public authorities ("Competent Authorities") which supervise the compliance of obliged persons with the provisions of the Greek AML legislation. The Competent Authorities are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>a) The Bank of Greece for: credit institutions, leasing companies, factoring companies, bureaux de change, payment institutions, credit companies, electronic money institutions and postal companies, only to the extent that they act as intermediaries in funds transfers and in co-operation with the Ministry of Transport and Communications and the National Telecommunications and Post Commission, insurance companies, insurance intermediaries, undertakings other than credit institutions whose business is to acquire participations and carry out similar activities;</li> <li>b) The Hellenic Capital Market Commission for: portfolio investment companies in the form of a societe anonyme, management companies of mutual funds, management companies of mutual funds investing in real estate, management companies of mutual funds for venture capital, investment firms, investment intermediary firms, venture capital firms and companies providing business capital;</li> <li>c) The Accounting and Auditing Standards Oversight Board for chartered accountants and audit firms;</li> <li>d) The Ministry of Economy and Finance (General Directorate of Tax Audits) for: tax consultants, tax-accountants and related firms, independent accountants and private auditors; real estate agents and related firms; auction houses, dealers in high value goods, auctioneers, and pawnbrokers;</li> <li>e) The Gambling Control Commission of law 3229/2004, as in force, for: casino enterprises, casinos operating on ships flying the Greek flag, companies, organisations and other entities engaged in gambling activities, and betting outlets;</li> <li>f) The Ministry of Justice for notaries and lawyers;</li> <li>g) The Ministry of Development for the natural or legal persons providing services to companies and trusts (trust and companies service providers); and</li> <li>h) for branches in Greece of financial institutions which have their registered office abroad, the competent authority shall be the corresponding authority responsible for domestic financial institutions conducting activities similar to those of such foreign financial institutions.</li> </ul> |
| Q4. | Is there any practical guidance provided to firms by public authorities regarding AML requirements, beyond the FATF recommendations and local legislation? Please include link to website, where available.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| A4. | The Competent Authorities have issued Interpretative Circulars, Decisions and Regulatory Acts, each one giving instructions and interpretations of the AML provision to the obligated persons under their supervision. The Competent Authorities through such Decisions / Acts have the power to modify the obligations laid down in the Greek AML legislation for the Obligated Persons.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |

'Know Your Customer' quick reference guide

